RELIGIOUS REVIEW.

(See index for statistics of religious denominations.)

In spite of the continuation of the world war, religion made steady progress in the U. S. and throughout the world in 1917.

Contributions for missions by various denominations have been quite as large as in other years, notwithstanding the war. The canon on marriage and divorce in the Episcopal church remains the same—that the innocent party may be married by any clergyman. The church has indulged total abstinence for the individual and local option in N. Y. State. The chief question agitating the Methodist church is the union of Methodism, North and South. Decision rests with the General Conference in 1920. Roman Catholics were successful in obtaining abundant funds. A headquarters of the K. of C. in N. Y. City is under construction.

Benevolence to war sufferers, to Christian assns., the Salvation Army and other agencies have been large. The Jews raised funds for those of their race in war stricken lands. The literary output of the religious organizations has been markedly large. The printing of Bibles continued the largest in the history of the world. Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Methodists, Congregationalists, Hebrews, Roman Catholics, Y. M. C. A. and other religious bodies made large provision for the moral and religious care of soldiers and sailors in camp at home and abroad.

The Y. M. C. A. in Nov. raised a war fund of $50,000,000.

STATE DEFENSE COUNCIL.

The State Defense Council was authorized by Chapt. 369, Laws of 1917, which carried an appropriation of one million dollars to be expended under direction of the Council for the furtherance of all war preparedness measures. The Chapter also gave the Council all authority for subsequent expenditures by the Food Supply Commission and the Military Census and the Adjutant General expenditures.

The law provided that the Governor should be the Chairman of the Council and that he should appoint not more than 7 members. Governor Whitman appointed as Vice Ch., Gen. W. W. Wotherspoon, former Chief of Staff of U. S. Army and now Supt. of Public Works of N. Y. State, and following members: F. M. Williams, State Eng.; C. S. Wilson, Commr. of Agriculture, and Adj. Gen. C. H. Sherrill. The Council elected W. A. Orr, of N. Y. City, as its Sec., and J. H. Wilson, of Albany, Auditor.

Under the laws listed above, the Council became responsible for the expenditure of an appropriation aggregating $2,650,000.

All the members, and the Sec. of the Council, serve without compensation; and the Auditor, on whose certificates expenditures are made, is paid at the rate of $5,000 a year.

The Council was created for the duration of the war only.

WAR LIBRARY FUND.

A war library fund of $1,000,000 for books for U. S. soldiers and sailors was raised in 1917. The $1,000,000 includes $320,000 given by the Carnegie Foundation, to be used for building and equipment at the cantonments. Brooklyn raised $34,000, most of it in small donations, $26,000 in cash, and $8,000 in pledges. Total raised by N. Y. C., $140,000.

IMPORTS OF FOREIGN AND EXPORTS OF DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN MERCHANDISE, BY CUSTOMS DISTRICTS.

Owing to the reorganization of customs districts, effective July 1, 1913, comparative figures by districts cannot be shown for periods prior to that date. See previous vols. Eagle Almanac for detailed reports under old organization of districts.

INDUSTRIAL GROWTH OF THE UNITED STATES—Continued.

1850, outstanding principal of the public debt, Jan. 1. *Figures for the years 1800 to 1850 include total public debt. *1916. *Gold and silver can not be stated separately prior to 1876. From 1862 to 1875, inclusive, gold and silver were not in circulation except on the Pacific coast, where the average specie circulation was about $25,000,000, and this estimate is contained for the three following years under the head of gold. After that period gold was available for circulation. *As the result of special investigation by the Director of the Mint a reduction of $135,000,000 was made in the estimate of gold coin in circulation on July 1, 1907, as compared with the basis of previous years, and on Sept. 1, 1910, a reduction of $9,700,000 was made in the estimate of silver coin. *Figures include $347,695,000, Federal Reserved Gold Settlement fund, deposited with Treas. of United States. *Includes notes of Bank of United States, State bank notes, demand notes of 1862 and 1863; fractional currency of 1863 to 1878; Treasury notes of 1890, 1891 to date, and currency certificates, act of June 8, 1872, 1892 to 1900. *Includes all deposits—demand and time. *Includes value of buildings, $3,555,639,496. The twelfth census was the first to collect statistics of buildings on farms. *Includes value of buildings, $6,325,451,528. *Gross value of all farm products, 1909. The figures of the various censuses are not comparative, reasons for which will be found in census reports. *Estimate of the Department of Agriculture for wealth production on farms, 1916. *Exclusive of neighborhood industries and hand trades, included in years previous to 1900. Figures relate to previous year, except that those under head of 1917 relate to 1914. Ordinary receipts include receipts from customs, internal revenue, direct tax, public lands and "miscellaneous," but do not include receipts from loans, premiums, Treasury notes, or revenue of Post office Dept. *Includes corporation tax, $20,-951,781, in 1900 and corporation and individual income taxes, $360,006,142, in 1917. Ordinary expenses include disbursements for War, Navy, Indians, pensions, payments for interest and "Miscellaneous," but do not include payments for premiums, principal of public debt, or disbursements for postal service paid from revenues thereof. *Imports for consumption after 1850, except that the figures for 1917 are based on general imports. *1914. *Includes canal boats and barges prior to 1880. *First six months. *The figures relate to Western Union only and after 1900 do not include messages sent over leased wires or under railroad contracts. *Estimated 1912. *Figures from 1869 to 1908 from Rowell's Newspaper Directory; subsequently from Ayer's American Newspaper Annual. *Includes salaries for teachers only after 1900. *1850, total alien passengers arrived: 1820 and 1830, years ending Sept. 30; 1850, 15 months ending Dec. 31; after 1850, fiscal years ending June 30.

ARCTIC AND ANTARCTIC EXPLORATION.

(Prepared by the National Geographical Society.)

Attempts to exploit the coal resources of Spitsbergen were extended to Bear Island in 1917. Operations were begun in the summer of 1916 and a cargo of coal secured for shipment in the fall.

Sir Ernest H. Shackleton's fourth attempt, with Chilean aid, to rescue his Antarctic 1914 party, marooned on Elephant Island, having proved successful, he returned, via New York, in June, 1917, to London. The Australian Government earlier dispatched the Aurora for the relief of the Ross Sea party and appointed Capt. J. K. Davis to command. The Aurora left Port Chalmers on Dec. 20, 1916, reached Cape Evans on Jan. 10, where 7 of the 10 members left behind by the Aurora were found, and, returning, arrived within wireless range of Wellington, on Feb. 5, thus completing a remarkable voyage. In Oct., 1915, the whole party had started south to lay out the remoter supply depots on which Sir Ernest Shackleton's party would depend for existence. The return journey was a terrible experience during which one of the men died of scurvy. They had fulfilled their mission, laid all their depots, and travelled 1,500 miles over the Barrier. After the return to Hut Point, Capt. Mackintosh, the leader, and Hayward started to cross the young sea ice to Cape Evans, and were never heard from again. Their track ended at open water. The relief expedition made every search for traces of them, but nothing was found. As a transcontinental journey, the Shackleton expedition failed, but important new facts concerning the ice movements outward from the Antarctic Circle, meteorological observations on both sides of the Antarctic, and knowledge of new coast of the Weddell Sea were secured.

A dispatch from Dawson dated March 9, 1917, reported that Vilhjalmur Stefansson was wintering at Prince of Wales Strait with the Polar Bear. The explorer spent the summer exploring the new land he discovered north of Prince Patrick Island. He hoped, in the event of the ice breaking early in the spring, to accomplish the northwest passage and sail up the St. Lawrence to Montreal. A Northwest Mounted Police expedition brought news of Stefansson's safety.

The name Nicholas II. Land was officially given to the new territory discovered north of Siberia by Capt. Vilkitiski, and the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs announced late in 1916 that this region had been annexed to the empire.

On account of the ice conditions, Mr. Knud Rasmussen was unable to reach his station at Thule in time to carry out his plan of exploring the region between Peary Land and Greenland. He therefore took up his alternative plan of a thorough exploration of the coast of Melville Bay. He anticipated gaining valuable information on the Eskimo migrations. Since this country has remained uninhabited during the whole period of Danish colonization, it was hoped that houses of pure Eskimo form might be discovered. Great glaciers here offer another field for study.

The Danmark, which was sent in 1916 to the relief of the Crocker Land Expedition in North Greenland, failed to reach the marooned members. Another relief ship, the Neptune, sailed from Sydney, N. S., late in June, 1917, under the command of Capt. R. A. Bartlett. The relief of the party was affected and the Neptune returned to Sydney, Nova Scotia, late in Aug. D. B. Macmillan, who headed the expedition, reported the Crocker Land, which Admiral Peary believed he saw, to be a mirage. Other results of the expedition are the determination of the geographical position of new islands and uncharted parts of the coast, discovery of mineral deposits, and observations of raised shores, bearing on problems of currents and of glaciology. Five vessels were involved in the expedition and its rescue, and the cost amounted to $300,000.

An explorer commissioned by the Univ. of Norway and the Geological Survey of Canada, Christian Leden, returned late in 1916, after 3 years in the Arctic, occupied chiefly with studies of Eskimo life, language and music.

FEDERAL VOCATIONAL GRANTS.

Allotments totaling $423,532, the 1st Federal grants of money to the States under the Smith-Hughes Vocational Educational Act, were made on Oct. 25, 1917, by the Federal Board for Vocational Education to 7 States, which had complied with the law by submitting plans for the promotion of vocational education and agreeing to match every Federal dollar with money publicly raised by the State or local community.

The total available for use during fiscal year 1917-1918 is $1,800,000 and an equal amount must be raised by the States. 35 States up to Oct., 1917, submitted plans to the Federal Board for approval.

The States to which grants were made and the amounts follow:

Arizona—For teachers of agriculture, $5,000; for teachers of trade and industrial subjects, $5,000; for teacher-training courses, $5,000.

Ark.—Agriculture, $13,898; industrial, $5,000; training courses, $8,590.

Cal.—Agriculture, $9,197; industrial, $17,375; training courses, $12,972.

Maine—Agriculture, $5,000; industrial, $5,000; training courses, $5,000.

N. Y.—Agriculture, $19,535; industrial, $34,950; training courses, $49,724.

Penn.—Agriculture, $30,744; industrial, $54,745; training courses, $41,891.

Utah—Agriculture, $5,000; industrial, $5,000; training courses, $5,000.

Texas—Agriculture, $29,974.

Grants are made on a relative population basis; the law provides that the minimum shall be $5,000.

EARTH'S POPULATION, AREA, ETC.

(Revised by Natl. Geographic Soc., Washington, D. C., from latest available figures and est.)

The superficial area of the earth is 196,940,000 sq. miles—149,295,000 sq. miles of water and 56,255,000 sq. miles of land. The 3 great oceans comprise Atlantic, 41,321,000 sq. miles; Pacific, 68,634,000 sq. miles, and Indian, 29,430,000 sq. miles. There are about 1,000,000 sq. miles of lake and river surface on land, and 1,910,000 sq. miles of islands in the seas. The diameter of the earth at the equator is 7,926 miles, and through the poles, 7,899.6 miles. The average elevation of land above sea level is 2,300 ft. Average depth of ocean below sea level 12,600 ft. The deepest place in the ocean yet found is off Mindanao, Philippine Isl., 32,088 ft. Highest mountain is Mt. Everest, in the Himalayas, 29,002 ft. This gives a range of 61,090 ft. or more, 11½ miles, bet. bottom of the oceans and top of the land.

AREA AND POPULATION OF THE EARTH BY CONTINENTS.

Total area of land, given here, includes inland waters, and is the Sir John Murray est. In areas of several continents the Statistical Abstract and Statesman's Yearbook have been followed in the case of North and South America, Europe and Australasia. In Asia and Africa, where detailed surveys have never been made, planimetric measurements of shore lines are relied upon. The polar regions are an approximation. Population statistics are from Statistical Abstract and Statesman's Yearbook. Best est. of earth's area place fertile regions at 29,000,000 sq. miles; steppes at 14,000,000 sq. miles; deserts at 4,861,000 sq. miles, and polar regions at 6,970,000 sq. miles. The proportion of females to each 1,000 males in 1910 was: U. S., 934; England, 1,068; Germany, 1,026; France, (1901), 1,033.

FRENCH MONEY.

The French money unit is the franc. Before the World War it was worth a little over 19 cts., and since declined to a little over 17. The French coinage consists of paper, silver, copper-bronze and nickel. The French paper money, issued by the Bank of France and in general circulation, comprises following values:

BILLS.

Five Francs ("Cinq Francs") blue print on white paper, worth roughly $1, to be exact, 88 cts.

Ten Francs ("Dix Francs"), deeper blue print on white paper, worth roughly $2, or more exactly, $1.75.

Twenty Francs ("Vingt Francs"), blue and brown print on white paper, worth roughly $4, or exactly, $3.51.

Fifty Francs ("Cinquante Francs"), large bill, blue and reddish purple print on white paper, worth roughly $10, $8.77.

Hundred Francs ("Cent Francs"), yellow in color, smaller in size than the fifty-franc note, worth roughly $20, or $17.55.

Five Hundred Francs ("Cinq Cents Francs"), same color as fifty-franc note, larger than thousand-franc bill, worth roughly $100, more exactly, $87.70.

Thousand Francs ("Mille Francs"), same color as preceding, but smaller, worth roughly $200, really nearer $175.50.

COINS (ISSUED BY THE FRENCH MINT).

Five Centimes ("Cinq Centimes"), bronze-copper, worth 1 ct., called in common language "One Sou" or "Un Sou"; smallest French coin in circulation. One-centime pieces exist, but are used only by internal revenue service to give exact change.

Ten Centimes ("Dix Centimes"), bronze-copper, worth 2 cts., called "Deux Sols" or two sous, also "Gros Sou," the five-centime piece being the "Little Sou" or "Petit Sou."

Twenty-five Centimes ("Vingt-cinq Centimes"), nickel, worth 5 cts., or "Cinq Sols."

Fifty Centimes ("Cinquante Centimes"), small silver coin, worth 10 cts.; Swiss and Belgian coins also legal tender. Called "Dix Sols."

One Franc ("Un Franc"), silver coin, worth 20 cts. roughly. Those of Swiss and Belgian coinage accepted. Called "Vingt Sols."

Two Francs ("Deux Francs"), silver coin, worth roughly 40 cts. Called "Quarante Sols."

Five Francs ("Cinq Francs"), silver coin of various dates, some going back as far as Napoleon I. same size as silver dollar, worth roughly same amount, or exactly 88 cts. Called "Cent Sols" or "Hundred Cents." Belgian, Swiss, Italian and Greek coins of corresponding value are legal tender.

The French country population is apt to figure small amounts, up to two francs, in "sous." Thus "Trente Sols" or "Thirty Sols" means one franc and a half, or 30 cts.

LONG ISLAND RAILROAD WAR TAX ZONES.

The 30-mile war tax zone on the Oyster Bay Branch of the main line of the L. I. R. R. extends from Flatbush av. to Mill Neck, and from Penn. Terminal to Locust Valley. Commuters from Mill Neck, Locust Valley and points east pay the 8% tax. Those west of Mill Neck and Locust Valley do not.

On the Wading River Branch the zone extends from Flatbush av. to Cold Spring Harbor, and from Penn. Terminal to Syosset. Commuters from Cold Spring Harbor, Syosset and points east pay the tax. Those from points west of Cold Spring Harbor and Syosset do not.

On the main line the zone extends to Farmingdale from both terminals. The tax begins at Farmingdale and extends to all points east of that station.

On the Montauk Division the zone extends from Flatbush av. to Amityville and Seaford and extends to all points east of those stations.

ILLITERATE IMMIGRANTS.

Best educated immigrants come to the U. S. from the countries of northwestern Europe, according to the evidence of a comprehensive survey of the immigration into the U. S. completed by Dr. Winthrop Talbot as the basis for a bulletin for the Federal Census Bureau. Another of the facts revealed by his study is that China is one of the 11 countries whose additions to the population of the U. S. since 1899 have had a noticeably low percentage of illiteracy, 2.352 out of 23,221, or 8.04 per cent., being unable to read or write. Scandinavians had the lowest percentage, 0.6 or 4.112 out of 669,784.

The nations of northwestern Europe have less than 10 per cent. of illiteracy and have sent to the U. S. illiterate immigrants as follows: French, 7.0; German, 5.3; Dutch Flemish, 3.6; Irish, 2.5; Welsh, 1.8; Finnish, 1.7; Bohemian, 1.6; English, 1.1; Scotch, 0.7; Scandinavian, 0.6.

TABLE OF INCOME TAX RATES.

Following table shows rates of tax by the 1916
 Income Tax Law, which continue to apply; also the rates levied by the War Income Tax Law enacted in 1917. Income for the year 1917 is subject to the rates of tax levied by both statutes. The aggregate of these rates appears in the 5th column and applies to the corresponding range of taxable income as shown in the 1st and 2d columns. Each law levies both a normal tax and a graduated surtax, but for purposes of convenience in this table these rates have been combined. The individual taxpayer, in this table, is assumed to be entitled to $2,000 personal exemption. (See also index "Finance Review").

FOOD AND FUEL ADMINISTRATIONS.

The U. S. Food Administration was created under an act of Congress, approved by the President on Aug. 10, 1917, entitled: "An act to provide further for the national security and defense by encouraging production, conserving the supply and controlling the distribution of food products and fuel," and generally known as the Food Control or Lever Act.

The purpose is further set forth as follows:

"To secure an adequate supply and equitable distribution and to facilitate the movement of foods, feeds, fuel, including fuel oil and natural gas, and fertilizer and fertilizer ingredients, tools, utensils, implements, machinery and equipment required for the actual production of foods, feeds and fuel, hereafter in this Act called necessities; to prevent locally or generally, scarcity, monopolization, hoarding, injurious speculation, manipulations and private controls, affecting such supply, distribution and movement; and to establish and maintain governmental control of such necessities during the war."

Herbert C. Hoover was appointed Food Administrator on Aug. 10, 1917.

A series of 9 practical lectures and demonstrations was given in The Eagle Auditorium in Nov. and Dec., 1917, by Miss M. E. Pascoe, under combined auspices of the U. S. Food Administration and The Eagle. Keen interest was taken in the lectures, all of which were well attended.

Although the Food Control Act provided for the control of fuel as well as food, the Fuel Administration was established as a distinct organization on Aug. 23, 1917, and Dr. Harry A. Garfield was appointed Fuel Administrator.

VIRGIN ISLANDS.
(Danish West Indies.)

The Danish West Indies, comprising Islands of St. Thomas, St. John and St. Croix, were acquired by purchase from Denmark for sum of $25,000,000, in accordance with treaty ratified Jan. 17, 1917. They were formally taken over by the U. S. on March 31, 1917, and renamed "The Virgin Islands of the U. S." Their government is under direction of Navy Dept.

The President, in accordance with authority conferred upon him by act of Congress, March 3, 1917, to provide a temporary government for the islands, appointed Rear Adm. J. H. Oliver, Gov., and early in April Oliver assumed the duties of the office.

Half a century ago negotiations were begun looking to the acquisition of the islands, which were desired by the U. S. on account of their strategic position. But it was not until Aug. 4, 1916, that the convention arranging for the transfer was signed, this being ratified by the U. S. Senate on Sept. 7, 1916, and the final ratifications exchanged in Washington on Jan. 17, 1917. Congress, in addition to the $25,000,000 to be paid for the purchase of the islands, appropriated $100,000 for the expenses of the government.

GUAM.

The Island of Guam was ceded to the United States by Spain by the treaty of Paris, signed Dec. 10, 1898. It is 5,200 miles from San Francisco and 900 miles from Manila.

Administrative Officers.

FOOD PRICES.

Reports made to the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics from approximately 1,000 retail dealers in 45 cities in the 3d quarter of 1917 show that the retail price of food as a whole increased slightly more than 2% from July 15 to Aug. 15, and a like per cent. from Aug. 15 to Sept. 15. From July to Sept. the increase was approximately 4½%.

Beef, as a whole, showed little change in price from July 15 to Sept. 15, sirloin steak and rib roast advancing slightly and round steak and plate beef declining. Pork chops advanced 23%, while lard, bacon and ham showed smaller increases. Eggs, butter, cheese, milk, flour, corn meal, rice, sugar and tea all showed an increase in price in the period stated from 1% for flour to 25% for eggs and 39% for corn meal. Beans, onions and potatoes declined in price from July 15 to Sept. 15, the decrease for beans being 3%, for onions, 10%, and for potatoes, 30%.

AVERAGE WHOLESALE PRICES OF WHEAT AND FLOUR, AND AVERAGE RETAIL PRICES OF FLOUR AND BREAD AT MIDDLE OF EACH MONTH, MAY TO SEPT., 1917:

Wheat—Actual price per bushel: May, $3.079; June, $2.890; July, $2.294; Aug., $2.642; Sept., $2.132. Relative price: May, 100; June, 93.9; July, 74.5; Aug., 85.3; Sept., 69.2.
Wheat flour—Actual price per barrel, wholesale: May, $15.731; June, $13.441; July, $10.947; Aug., $11.203; Sept., $10.375. Relative price: May, 100; June, 85.4; July, 69.6; Aug., 71.2; Sept., 67.2.
Bread—Actual price per pound before baking, retail: May, $0.085; June, $0.088; July, $0.088; Aug., $0.091; Sept., $0.088. Relative price: May, 100; June, 103.5; July, 103.5; Aug., 107.1; Sept., 103.5.

UNITED STATES ARMY.

(See page 363 for "Draft for National Army" and index for "World War.")

After declaring that a state of war existed with Germany on April 6 Congress gave its attention to the preparation of legislation to increase the military establishment of the U. S. On May 18 an act was passed authorizing the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment and provided 3 sources from which the Army was to be created. The 3 sources were as follows:

1. The Regular Army, of which the actual strength on June 30, 1917, was 250,157 men and officers. The provisions of the act, however, contemplated an increase of the Regular Army to 18,033 officers and 470,185 enlisted men, the increase being effected by the immediate call of the increments provided in the Natl. Defence Act of 1916, and the raising of all branches of the service to war strength.

2. The Natl. Guard, reorganized under the Natl. Defence Act, and containing on June 30, 1917, approximately 3,803 officers and 107,320 enlisted men. The Natl. Guard however, by recruiting of its numbers and the raising of all arms to war strength, contemplated a total of 13,377 officers and 456,800 enlisted men.

3. In addition to this, the act provided for a Natl. Army, raised by the process of selective conscription or draft, of which the President was empowered to summon two units of 500,000 men each at such time as he should determine wise.

On July 3, 1917, the President by proclamation called into the Federal service and drafted the Natl. Guard of the several States and the Dist. of Columbia. And 16 divisional camps were established for their mobilization and training.

The principle of voluntary enlistment to fill up the ranks of the Regular Army and the Natl. Guard, and to raise them to war strength was preserved in the act of May 18, 1917, the maximum age for enlistment in both services being fixed at 40 years. Even before the passage of the act, however, very great recruiting activity was shown throughout the country, the total number of enlistments in the Regular Army for the fiscal year 1917 being 160,084.

Organization.

On Aug. 15, 1903, the system of military control in the Army was reorganized under the provisions of the General Staff Act, approved Feb. 14, 1903. This act abolished the separate office of General Commanding the Army, provided for a military Chief of Staff to the President, who, acting under the directions of the President, or of the Sec. of War representing him, should have supervision not only of all troops of the line, but of the special staff and supply departments which had theretofore reported directly to the Sec. of War; and it created for the assistance of the Chief of Staff a corps of officers, who were relieved from all other duties. The Natl. Defense Act, passed in June, 1916, increased the no. of officers composing this corps from 44 to 52.

DRAFT FOR NATIONAL ARMY.

Immediately after Congress had passed the resolution (Apr. 6, 1917) declaring a state of war to exist between the U. S. and Germany, the General Staff of the Army drew up a plan for raising an army by the draft process. The Military Affairs Committees of both the Senate and House began immediate consideration of the measure. It was not, however, until May 18 that such a measure became a law. The delay, for the most part, took place in the House Military Affairs Committee, where a majority of the members favored the old volunteer system. The House, however, adopted the draft idea, and it was soon concurred in by the Senate.

The bill, as it became a law, provided for the raising of an army in increments of 500,000, to be selected from men between the ages of 21 and 30, inclusive. The first step for the raising of what was designated as the National Army was an authorization giving the President the right to name a day on which every male between the ages specified should be registered. The only persons excepted by the law from the registration were those already in the military or naval service of the United States. The registration was accomplished by the Federal authorities, working in conjunction with the State and local authorities.

The bill also provided certain exemptions from the draft. In addition to the Vice President, the officers, legislative, judicial, of both the Federal and State governments, territories and the District of Columbia, ordained ministers and theological students were exempted from the draft. No other specific exemptions were provided, but power was given to the President to make other exemptions; for instance, men with dependent families, and industrial employees indispensable in their work.

Local Exemption Boards.

The first part of the mechanism for raising the selective army after the registration was the creation of local exemption boards throughout the country. The President was authorized to appoint one such board for every 30,000 population. The boards were composed of 3 members, none of whom was in any way connected with the military service, and chosen from among the local authorities in which the respective boards had jurisdiction.

These boards were given the power to hear and determine exemption claims based upon the President's proclamation fixing the classes of exemption. In addition to these boards, the President was authorized to establish additional boards, one in each Federal judicial district. These boards, known as appeals boards, were for the purpose of passing upon all appeals from the local exemption boards. The decision of these appeals boards were final, except that accordance with such rules and regulations as the President might prescribe, he should affirm, modify or reverse any decisions.

Any person between the draft ages who failed to present himself for registration on the day named by the President was liable, under the law, to imprisonment for one year in jail. The law also provided that the courts should give precedence to all such cases.

On June 6, 9,659,332 registered for the draft. There were 202,808 registrations in Brooklyn, 40,621 in Queens County, 9,000 in Suffolk County and 8,500 in Nassau County. Of the 590,670 who registered in N. Y. C., 270,783 claimed exemption, the same proportion holding good throughout the country.

Each man who registered was assigned a serial number by his Local Board. The numbers ran from 1 up to the highest number registered in the dist. The highest serial number in the U. S. was 10,500.

The actual work of drafting the men began on July 20, when the drawing of draft numbers took place at Washington. Numbers from 1 to 10,500 were placed in capsules and drawn one by one from a large glass bowl. The Master Key system was employed, with the result that each number picked out at Washington drafted the man holding the corresponding serial number in each of the 4,557 exemption dists. throughout the country.

Sec. of War Newton Baker drew out the 1st number—258. He was followed by other Government officials, all blindfolded. The procedure started at 9:49 a.m. on July 20 and was not finished until 2:18 a.m. on July 21, requiring more than 16 hours.

It was decided to draft 687,000 men on the 1st call. Of this number Brooklyn supplied 13,764; Queens, 3,035; Nassau, 1,079, and Suffolk, 811. Quotas were fixed according to population, but deductions were made for voluntary enlistments. The 1st drafted men reached camp on Sept. 5 in most dists., Brooklyn and Long Island men not going to Camp Upton until Sept. 10.

Under instructions from the Provost Genl., Local Boards summoned twice their quota for physical examinations. This number proved insufficient in most cases, many boards being compelled to examine 1,000 men to get a quota of 200.

District Appeals Board of New York.

The Dist. Appeals Board of N. Y. C. consisted of 30 members, whose duty it was to hear and pass on all appeals made by drafted men or dist. lawyers from the decisions of local boards. The chairman of this comm. was Charles Evans Hughes, Republican candidate for President at the 1916 election. This board had jurisdiction over cases from Kings, Queens, Bronx, Richmond and N. Y. counties. Headquarters were established in the Federal Bldg., N. Y.

Queens Co. was divided into 15 exemption districts, Nassau Co. into 4 and Suffolk Co. into 3. A Dist. Appeals Board of 5 members was named for Nassau and Suffolk counties, W. D. Guthrie of Locust Valley, L. I., Ch., headquarters, Mineola.

All members of draft boards served without pay, as did the examining physicians and board clerks.

The Dist. Appeals Board for N. Y. C. follows: Brooklyn—E. M. Cullen, Meier Steinbrink, W. N. Dykman, Rev. S. E. Young, Dr. E. B. Hicks, W. H. English, W. B. Davenport, Dr. James Waterman, E. L. Garvin, E. T. Horwill.

Queens—R. A. Inch, Dr. J. E. Shuttlesworth. Manhattan—C. E. Hughes, C. E. Agnew, W. I. Washburn, Dr. Sigmund Goldwater, Louis Marshall, J. A. Delehanty, I. T. Flatto, G. L. Ingraham, Dr. George Doty, R. E. Deyo, L. I. Delafield.

Bronx—E. M. Rosenquist, R. W. Lawrence, C. E. Sims, Edward Perfect.

Richmond—W. W. Mills, S. H. Evans.

Nassau and Suffolk counties—W. D. Guthrie, Ch.; Ralph Peters, E. H. L. Smith, Sylvester Pear-sall, Dr. Arthur Terry.

(Complete list of Local Board members for Brooklyn and Long Island was printed in The Eagle's War Supplement, Oct. 25, 1917.)

UNITED STATES NAVY.

(See also Dept. of Navy in U. S. Govt. chap.)

Since April 6, 1917, the U. S. Navy has been undergoing the test of war. Because of the war, details of naval operations since April 6 are not permissible. It may be stated, however, that the record is one of increasing power, of developing resourcefulness and of co-operative achievement.

The declaration of war found many naval dispositions already made in anticipation of possible developments. No ships had been sent abroad, but when we began to arm merchant ships, an officer, with a small staff, was on the other side of the Atlantic, available for consultation as to general operations and ready to take charge of any force to be sent.

The U. S. soon assumed its part in the anti-submarine operations being conducted in European waters. On April 16, 6 destroyers were directed to be prepared for prolonged distant service, and they sailed for European waters on the 24th. Since that date other vessels of various types have been dispatched from time to time and are rendering constant and useful service. How important and valuable that service is will be the subject of reports when victory is celebrated.

From a force of 4,500 officers and 68,000 enlisted men in Jan., 1917, the Navy has expanded to 15,000 officers and 254,000 enlisted men, including regulars, reserves and natl. naval volunteers.

The Navy had 130 stations of all kinds on Jan. 1, 1917. At the close of the year it had 363. The number of employees at regular navy yards in the U. S. has increased from about 35,000 to over 60,000. On shore and afloat, including civilians and sailors, the naval establishment embraces more than 300,000.

At the beginning of the fiscal year 1917 the monthly expenditures for all naval purposes were about $3,000,000; in Dec. they were $60,000,000. On Jan. 1, 1917, there were 300 naval vessels of all kinds in commission; in Dec. there were over 1,000.

Roll of Honor in Foreign Service.

Even before war was declared, a member of one of our naval guards, Boatswain's Mate J. I. Epolucci, met his death in the sinking of an American merchantman. Shortly afterwards the first U. S. officer lost in this war, Lieut. C. C. Thomas, and 4 members of his gun's crew, perished after the sinking of the Vacuum. The following men of the Navy have lost their lives in service against the enemy:

J. I. Epolucci, boatswain's mate, 1st class, lost in sinking of S.S. Aztec, April 1.
Lieut. C. C. Thomas, Alex. Donald, seaman, 2d class; C. J. Fischer, coxswain; C. F. Luckan, seaman; F. H. Lo Ree, seaman, members of armed guard on S.S. Vacuum, died in open boat after sinking of that steamship, April 28.

Sidney Horwig, seaman, 2d class; Andrew Lawrence, seaman, 2d class; Don Walton Barmore, seaman; J. F. Carlin, coxswain; J. A. Sokel, seaman, 2d class; William Whelan, seaman, 2d class; C. O. Torjussen, seaman, 2d class; A. H. Vogel, seaman, 2d class, lost in sinking of S.S. Motano, July 31.

F. E. Wagstaff, seaman, 2d class, lost in sinking of S.S. Platuria, Sept. 15.

Edw. Woodworth, seaman, 2d class, accidentally drowned from S.S. Cacique in Russian waters, July 25, 1917.

J. L. Squib, seaman, 2d class, washed from S.S. Chinchua, Aug. 14, 1917.

J. H. Bush, fireman, 3d class, drowned accidentally from U. S. destroyer in Aug.

O. K. Ingram, gunner's mate, 2d class, killed in action on U. S. destroyer, Oct. 16.

J. W. Hunt, seaman, 2d class; J. C. McKinley, seaman; H. F. Watson, electrician, 3d class (radio); C. L. Ausburn, electrician, 3d class (radio); lost in sinking of U. S. transport Antilles, Oct. 17.

G. H. Manley, landsman quartermaster (aviation), killed in France, Aug. 21, as result of airplane accident.

Louis Reinhardt, seaman, 2d class, drowned June 12; buried in France.

H. N. Halstead, landsman quartermaster (aviation), died in France, July 31.

T. W. Barrett, landsman quartermaster (aviation), killed in airplane accident in France, July 28; first aviator of any U. S. force killed in service in France.

J. E. McNeil, seaman, 2d class, lost in sinking of S.S. Lewis Luckenbach, Oct. 11.

J. W. Henry, seaman, 2d class; N. D. Head, seaman; Porter Hilton, seaman, 2d class, members of naval armed guard on U. S. transport Finland, lost when that vessel was torpedoed.

R. W. Riker, seaman, 2d class; M. A. Facciano, boiler maker; Robert McCray, seaman; E. Harrison, mess attendant, 1st class; V. E. Harrington, seaman, 2d class; F. W. Higgins, yeoman; A. T. Edwards, seaman, 2d class; W. F. Holler, seaman, 2d class; E. R. Gozzett, seaman, 2d class; C. F. Gaus, seaman, 2d class; F. W. Fingerling, fireman, 2d class; J. J. Cleary, seaman, 2d class; J. W. Brunkhardt, seaman, 2d class; W. W. Smock, seaman, 2d class; W. U. Surratt, seaman, 2d class; R. Wesche, seaman, 2d class; J. R. Daniel, seaman, 2d class; Luther O. Weaver, seaman; E. J. Towle, seaman, 2d class; John Winne, Jr., seaman, lost in sinking of U. S. S. Alcedo, Nov. 5, 1917.

In addition to foregoing the collision between the destroyer Chauncey and the English transport Rose on Nov. 19 resulted in the death of 21 officers and men, whose names are added to those in the Navy, who, in this war, have given their lives for their country. These heroes of the sea are:

Lieut. Comdr. W. E. Reno, Lieut. (Jr. Gr.) C. F. Wedderburn, Ensign H. G. Skinner, Jr., S. T. Anthony, electrician, 1st class; radio; H. M. Claggett, Jr., electrician, 1st class; D. B. Crane, machinist's mate, 2d class; J. S. Ewart, machinist's mate, 1st class; C. A. Goodrich, chief machinist's mate; A. H. Guttridge, machinist's mate, 2d class; H. G. Haman, seaman; J. A. Heroux, fireman, 3d class; W. H. Hampel, oiler; Ira Francisco Kopp, gunner's mate, 1st class; C. A. O'Connor, chief yeoman; Francisco Pagtakhan, mess attnd., 3d class; John Rhinehart, chief water tender; J. A. Smith, gunner's mate, 1st class; J. W. Stribling, oiler; O. J. Terkildsen, yeoman, 2d class; Nicholas H. J. Wagner, ship fitter, 1st class; Geo. Wornell, boilermaker.

The destroyer Jacob Jones was torpedoed and sunk on the night of Dec. 6 by a German submarine. This was the first serious disaster to the U. S. Navy since we entered the war. The crew numbered 111 officers and men, of whom 43 were reported as rescued in official advices to the Navy Dept. on Dec. 10. (See index, "Jacob Jones Sunk," for names of missing reported.)

Brooklyn Navy Yard.

The Brooklyn Navy Yard was established Feb. 23, 1801, when the first land, 23 acres, was bought from John Jackson for $40,000. It now comprises 197 acres (land 126, water 71), situated on Wallabout Channel of the East River, and has a water front of nearly 3 miles, protected by a sea wall of granite and concrete.

The frigate Fulton, first steam war vessel, was constructed at this yard in 1815.

Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.

The students of the Naval Academy are styled midshipmen. 4 are allowed for each Senator, Representative and Delegate in Congress, 2 for District of Columbia and 15 each year from United States at large. 100 appointments may be made annually from the enlisted men of the Navy. The appointments from District of Columbia and at large are made by the President. 1 is allowed from Porto Rico. The appointment from Porto Rico is made on recommendation of the Gov. of Porto Rico. Appointees from the Philippines are not to be appointed as commissioned officers upon graduation.

The course for midshipmen is 4 years, at the expiration of which time examination for graduation takes place.

Certificates from colleges and high schools will not be accepted in lieu of the entrance examinations at the Naval Academy; all candidates must take the prescribed mental and physical examination before being admitted.

Midshipmen who pass the examination for graduation are appointed to fill vacancies in the lower grades of the line of the Navy and of the Marine Corps in order of merit.

Candidates allowed for Congressional Districts, for Territories and for the District of Columbia must be actual residents of the Districts or Territories, respectively, from which they are nominated. All candidates must, at the time of their examination for admission be between the ages of 16 and 20 years. A candidate is eligible for examination on the day he becomes 16 and is ineligible on the day he becomes 20 yrs. of age. The pay of a midshipman is $600 a year while at the Academy, pay commencing at admission. Supt., Capt. E. W. Eberle, Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.

ENLISTMENT IN THE UNITED STATES NAVY.

The terms of enlistment of all enlisted men of the Navy is four years and enlistment may be extended for a period of either one, two, three or four years. Minors over the age of 18 may be enlisted without consent of parents or guardians. Only such persons shall be enlisted as can reasonably be expected to remain in the service. Every person, before being enlisted must pass the physical examination prescribed in the medical instructions. Applicants for enlistment must be American citizens, able to read and write English, and when enlisted must take the oath of allegiance. No person under the age of 17 can be enlisted.

Relative Rank in Army and Navy.

Section 1466 of the Revised Statutes of the U. S. Generals rank with Admirals, Lieutenant-Generals rank with Vice-Admirals, Major-Generals rank with Rear-Admirals, Brigadier-Generals rank with Commodores, Colonels rank with Captains, Lieutenant-Colonels rank with Commanders, Majors rank with Lieutenant-Commanders, Captains rank with Lieutenants, First Lieutenants rank with Lieutenants Junior Grade, Second Lieutenants rank with Ensigns, Cadets rank with Midshipmen.

Retirement and Pay.

Officers of the retired list receive three-fourths of the pay (salary and increase) of their rank, except in a few special cases. Any officer on retired list not above the rank of Lieutenant may be ordered to such duty as he may be able to perform, and shall receive pay of an officer of his grade.

Allowances—The monthly commutation allowance for quarters of the Admiral of the Navy is $125. All other commissioned officers of the line and Medical and Pay Corps of the Navy, and officers of Marine Corps receive same allowances, except forage to naval officers, as are or may be provided by law for the officers of corresponding rank in the Army. When quarters in kind are not supplied, commutation is allowed at the rate of $12 per room.

Boatswains, gunners, carpenters, sailmakers, warrant machinists, pharmacists, pay clerks and mates receive the same commutation for quarters as second lieutenants of the Marine Corps.

The pay of officers serving at sea and on shore beyond the continental limits of the United States is increased 10 per cent., and pay of enlisted men of the Marine Corps serving at sea and on foreign shore duty is increased 20 per cent. above regular rates of pay exclusive of longevity additions, to be computed from and including May 26, 1900.

UNITED STATES COAST GUARD.

The U. S. Coast Guard was created by the act of January 28, 1915, which provided that "There is hereby established in lieu of the existing Revenue Cutter Service and the Life Saving Service, to be composed of those 2 existing organizations, the Coast Guard which shall constitute a part of the military forces of the U. S. and which shall operate under the Treasury Dept. in time of peace, and operate as a part of the Navy, subject to the orders of the Sec. of the Navy, in time of war or when the Pres. shall so direct." Upon the declaration of war on April 6, 1917, the Coast Guard accordingly passed from the Treas. Dept. to the Navy Dept. The original Revenue Cutter Service was organized by act of Congress approved Aug. 4, 1790. The Life Saving Service was originally operated under the Revenue Cutter Service, but on June 20, 1874, Congress created it a separate service to operate under the Treasury Dept. The officers of the Coast Guard are on the same footing in rank and pay as officers of the Army and Navy.

Appointments to cadetships are made after competitive examinations conducted by boards of commissioned officers of the Coast Guard. The cadets are educated at the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn. The course covers 3 yrs. and embraces professional and academic subjects. Candidates for cadetships must not be less than 18 nor more than 24 yrs. old, citizens of the U. S., and unmarried. A class of cadets is appointed each year. Appointments as cadet engineers are made after competitive examinations conducted by boards of engineer officers of the Coast Guard. Candidates for cadet engineers must not be less than 20½ yrs. of age and serve a probationary term of not less than 1 yr. before being commissioned 3d lieut. of engrs. No person can be commissioned 3d lieut. of engrs. who is less than 21 or more than 26 yrs. of age.

This branch of the Govt. is under the charge of a capt. commandant and hqtrs. are located in Navy Dept. Captain Comm. E. F. Bertholf is present incumbent; Senior Capt. D. P. Foley is Chief Insp.; Senior Capt. H. M. Broadbent is Supt. of Construction and Repair; C. A. McAllister is Engrn.-in-Chief; G. H. Slaybaugh, Chief of Div. of Material, and O. M. Maxam, Chief of Div. of Operations.

SOLDIERS AND SAILORS INSURANCE.

Under an act of Congress approved Oct. 6, 1917, members of the military and naval forces of the U. S., in addition to other privileges, are given the right to take out insurance with the Govt. This act is being administered by the Sec. of the Treas., through the Bureau of War Risk Insurance of the Treasury Dept.

Any man or woman of any age in the active military or naval service of the U. S. can be insured. For each $1,000 of insurance it costs from 65 cts. a month at age 21 to $1.20 a month at age 51. A $10,000 policy for a person 25 would cost $6.60 a month.

COMMERCIAL FAILURES IN U. S.

For the first 9 months of 1917 commercial failures numbered 10,737 and involved $141,950,038 of defaulted indebtedness, as against 13,250 business reverses for $154,586,707 for the same period in 1916.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, SIXTY-FIFTH CONGRESS.

Congressmen are elected for a term of 2 years by the direct vote of the people. Salary, $7,500 per year and mileage. Salary of Speaker, $12,000. Those marked * served in 64th Congress. Where names have no district number they were elected at large.

There were 2,857 fires in 1916, causing an estimated property damage of $10,000 or over. This compares with 3,152 such fires in 1915 and 3,502 fires of a similar magnitude in 1914. Losses by fire in 1917 up to July 30 reached a total off $169,186,300, as compared with $148,790,220 for the first 7 months of 1916 and $101,297,800 in 1915. 20,000 persons were made homeless by a fire that swept residential dists. of Atlanta, Ga., on May 21, 1917, with a loss est. at more than $2,000,000; 1 death was reported. The commercial quarter of Salonika, Greece, was destroyed by fire Aug. 20, 1917; 80,000 persons were rendered homeless.

EXPLOSION IN HALIFAX HARBOR.

1,800 persons were killed and many injured on Dec. 6, 1917, through the explosion of the French munitions ship, Mont Blanc, in Halifax Harbor, after a collision with the Belgian relief steamer, Imo. The north end of the city was laid in waste and property damage amounted to millions. A part of the town of Dartmouth, across the Halifax Harbor, was also wrecked. A blizzard sweeping Halifax the next day added to the distress of the inhabitants. Red Cross civilian relief units hurried supplies and assistance to the scene of the catastrophe.

MEXICO.

(See 1917 Eagle Almanac and previous vols. for other information on Mexico.)

The dissolution of the American-Mexican Joint Commission, the withdrawal of Gen. Pershing's forces from Mexico, the decision by Pres. Wilson and the Cabinet to send Ambassador H. P. Fletcher to Mexico City, thereby recognizing Carranza as the de jure as well as the de facto govt.; and a severe defeat of Villa at Juarez, were the principal developments of the first months of 1917 in regard to the difficulties with Mexico.

Events in Mexico were overshadowed in February by Carranza's suggestion of a general embargo against all belligerents in the world war by all the neutrals and by the discovery of a German plot to involve the U. S. in a war with Mexico and Japan. The American Expeditionary force completed its withdrawal from Mexico, the death toll, both from battle and disease, showed that 2 officers had been killed and 1 had died; 40 enlisted men had succumbed, battle and disease claiming equal shares.

Border raids began soon after the troops had withdrawn. Armed Mexicans took 3 Mormons, a number of Mexican ranch hands and live stock 60 miles southwest of Hachita, N. M., and held them for ransom. The Villa forces made a determined attempt to capture Chihuahua City, Mar. 30, but were driven back with considerable loss.

In April, Mexico, comparatively quiet, gave repeated assurances of her neutrality. On Apr. 17 Pres. Wilson welcomed the first Mexican Ambassador to present credentials in Washington since the overthrow of Madero on May 1. Venustiano Carranza took the oath of office as the first Constitutional Pres. of Mexico since the assassination of Francisco Madero, Feb. 23, 1913. The condition of the masses of the people remained pitiable throughout the year, and the Villistas and Carranzistas continued at war with each other.

MOTOR VEHICLES IN N. Y. STATE.

The tremendous growth in the use of motor vehicles in N. Y. State is demonstrated by the registration and license figures together with the total receipts since 1901. In the early years, however, annual registration was unnecessary, so that the figures up to 1910 do not show the total number of machines in operation, only those registered in each year. In 1910, there was a re-registration of all machines. Official figures for registration of cars, licensing of chauffeurs, with total receipts are:

Court of Claims.

The Court of Claims, which superseded Bd. of Claims on Mar. 9, 1897, was, by chap. 856 of laws of '11, in turn superseded by a Bd. of Claims with powers and jurisdiction of said court. Chap. 1 of laws of '15 restores the Court of Claims.

The Court of Claims has jurisdiction to hear and determine private claims against the State. It may also hear and determine any claim on part of State against claimant or against his assignor at time of assignment and must render judgment for such sum as should be paid by or to State. But the court has no jurisdiction of a claim submitted by law to any other tribunal or officer for audit or determination except where the claim is founded upon express contract and such claim or some part thereof has been rejected by such tribunal or officer. In no case shall any liability be implied against the State and no award shall be made in any claim against the State except upon such legal evidence as would establish liability against an individual or corp. in a court of law or equity.

The court is regularly composed of 3 judges who are apptd. by Gov. by and with advice and consent of Senate. The 1st appts. under chap. 1 of the laws of '15 restoring Court of Claims were for terms of 3, 6 and 9 yrs. respectively. Hereafter the term of office of each judge will be 9 yrs.

By chap. 1 of the laws of '15 the Gov., in order to relieve congested condition of calendar, was given authority to appoint, by and with advice and consent of Senate, not more than 2 additional judges whose term of office would expire on Jan. 1, '18. By Chap. 255, Laws of 1917, the terms of the additional judges in office, when the act went into effect, were extended to Feb. 1, 1918, and the authority of the Gov. to appt. additional judges, under the restrictions therein named, was continued indefinitely.

Each judge of Court of Claims receives an annual salary of $3,000 and all actual and necessary expenses in discharge of their official duties. Judges, residence and when terms expire: F. M. Ackerson, presiding, Niagara Falls, Dec. 31, '20; W. W. Webb, Rochester, Dec. 31, '23; T. F. Fennell, Elmira, Dec. 31, '17.

Additional judges, appointed under chap. 1 of Laws of '15, and by Chap. 255, Laws 1917. C. R. Paris, Hudson Falls, Feb. 1, '18; W. D. Cunningham, Ellenville, Feb. 1, '18; F. D. Colson, Clk., $3,600.

*Rate of equalization is ratio which assessed values of real property bear to full values thereof, as determined by State Tax Commn. Equalized value of property is equitable assessment of property, based upon these rates of equalization, and upon average rate for State. It is ascertained by multiplying full value of real property at rate of equalization by counties, by average rate of equalization for State. Full value of real property at rate of equalization is found by dividing assessed value of real property, 1914, by counties, by rate of equalization. The tax is computed by State Comptroller upon total equalized value of real property and assessed value of personal property, including assessed value of bank stock. Average rate of equalization for State, 84.80267086+ per cent. †Deducted from assessed value of real property.

SOURCES OF INTERNAL REVENUE.

The sources of internal taxation producing the largest amounts of revenue to the U. S. during the fiscal year ending June, 1917, are distilled spirits, exclusive of special taxes, $187,288,082.49; fermented liquors, exclusive of special taxes, $91,094,677.70; manufactured tobacco, including snuff, cigars and cigarettes, and not including special taxes for the manufacture and sale of same, $102,230,205.36; munitions manufacturers' tax, $27,665,939.63; various special taxes, including tax on capital stock of corporations, and amounting in the aggregate to $23,371,310.39; corporation income tax, $179,539,631.03, and individual income tax, $180,108,340.10.

EAGLE CURRENT EVENTS BEE.

The Eagle Current Events Bee for 1917 was held in the Girls' High School, Bkln., on Apr. 17, Charles Cooperstein of the Boys' High School, Bkln., won first prize and Hannah Shapiro of the Girls' High School, second. The latter was a prize winner in the 1916 contest.

There were 39 contestants, each of whom was presented with an Eagle silver medal as a reward for surviving the elimination contests in their respective schools. W. R. Wilcox, president of the Board of Education, complimented The Eagle for what it was doing to help supplement the work of the schools, encouraging the study of current history and thus creating a better citizenship by making more intelligent citizens.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE, REVIEW OF 1917.

(By Edgar D. Thornburgh, Financial Editor, Brooklyn Daily Eagle.)

The year 1917 was one of the utmost uncertainty and confusion in finance. At the start, the uncertainties of a return of peace, and the consequent readjustment of world finance, were great. The German Chancellor had just made his famous peace proposal and early in the year President Wilson indited his "League of Peace" note to the belligerent Powers. Then, at the end of Jan., came the new German note, declaring an absolute blockade of all Allied coasts and announcing unrestricted submarine warfare.

In Feb., diplomatic relations with Germany were severed and in March the Czar of Russia was overthrown. The railroad labor situation again came to the fore in this month, with its threat of a nation-wide strike, followed by the agreement between railroad executives and the brotherhoods, and then by the Supreme Court's ruling that the Adamson Law was constitutional.

In April war was declared on Germany and immediately Congress started to work to draft war-time legislation, embracing the revenue raising bills, price-fixing and food control acts, etc. The offering of the first Liberty Loan of $2,000,000,000 suspended all private operations in the investment and capital markets, and this loan had hardly been digested by the nation when the second, and larger Liberty Loan came along.

The vicissitudes of war played havoc with the securities markets from time to time, especially when the counter-revolution in Russia occurred and during the prosecution of the great Teutonic offensive into Italy. At home, confusion over Government regulation of the commodities markets, price fixing and tax legislation contributed to instability of prices. Liquidation of seasoned investment stocks and bonds forced many issues in this class to the lowest prices recorded in many years; in some cases to the lowest prices for all time.

As will be shown in greater detail, however, some events of the most interesting and unprecedented character transpired. Our Federal Reserve system grew to unexpected proportions; our people absorbed nearly $6,000,000,000 in bonds, an achievement few believed possible; prices for almost all commodities rose to heights never before approached and, measured in terms of dollars, our national wealth expanded far beyond anything the world had ever before witnessed.

The Federal Reserve System.

The growth of the Federal Reserve System has been one of the outstanding features of the year. As the table below shows, the system has expanded its volume many times. The first big step came in June 1917, when the revised law provided for the counting of gold held by Federal Reserve agents as part of the regular reserve and, at the same time, the system was called upon to bear its part in financing the first Liberty Loan. The next big step was in Oct., when the second Liberty Loan came along. The increase in discounts from Oct. 19 to Nov. 30 was greater than the total of discounts on the earlier date. The steady increase in circulating notes throughout the year has been a feature of unusual interest to bankers. The following table shows the chief items in the consolidated Federal Reserve statement on the year's most important dates:

	Gold.	Discounts.	Circulating Notes.
Jan 5...	$460,770,000	$148,024,000	$272,873,000
April 6.	565,102,000	100,663,000	376,510,000
June 1.	489,834,000	166,954,000	464,865,000
June 22.	1,212,018,000	435,287,000	499,721,000
Oct. 19.	1,471,539,000	458,226,000	815,210,000

The World's Largest Banks.

In the following table is shown, in the order of their size, the largest banks in the world. The figures given for each bank represent gross deposits. The first paragraph includes Gov. and semi-official institutions. Second paragraph is made up of great commercial banks.

Banks and deposits:

Federal Reserve Bank, U. S. $1,960,747,000; Bank of Russia, $1,567,780,000; Bank of Germany, $1,504,985,000; Bank of England, $821,495,000; Bank of France, $579,035,000; Bank of the Argentine $329,850,000; Bank of Japan, $303,050,000; Bank of Italy, $194,845,000; Bank of Spain, $192,940,000; Bank of Switzerland, $100,559,000.

COMMERCIAL BANKS.

Bank and deposits:

London City and Midland, $1,005,994,000; Deutsche, $875,845,000; Lloyds, London, $756,840,000; National City Bank, N. Y., $722,768,000; Russ Bank for Foreign Trade, $651,863,000; London County and Westminster, $585,359,000; Natl. Bank of Commerce, N. Y., $562,566,000; Barclay's London, $525,008,000; Guaranty Trust Co., N. Y., $503,804,000; National Provincial, England, $478,748,000; Dresden, Berlin, $439,955,000; Credit Lyonnais, Paris, $395,323,000.

Figures given above are as reported during 1917, with the exception that the German banks have been computed on their final 1916 reports. No later displays are available in these instances. Throughout the world there are 63 banks having gross deposits of $100,000,000 or more. Of this total, 23 are in the U. S. and 3 in Canada. The U. S. banks are apportioned as follows: N. Y., 15; Chicago, 3; Boston, 3; Philadelphia, 1; Pittsburg, 1.

Liberty Loans of 1917.

During 1917 the U. S. Government floated 2 war loans. The 1st, issued in June, was limited to $2,000,000,000. The country, after a stirring campaign, subscribed $3,035,226,000, but, under its agreement with subscribers, the Gov. issued only the fixed amount of $2,000,000,000. The 2d Liberty Loan was offered on subscription, with the books to close Oct. 27. The Sec. of the Treasury asked for subscriptions to $3,000,000,000, but announced that he would reserve the right to accept 1/2 of the over-subscription. When final returns were counted, it was found that the amount offered totalled $4,617,532,300, thus permitting of the sale of $3,808,766,150. This 2d loan fell a little short of the mark set; $5,000,000,000, but considering the condition of finance at the time of issue, was regarded as a tremendous success.

After closing the books for the 1st loan, the Treasury Dept. announced that individual subscriptions had been received from something more than 4,000,000 subscribers. On the 2d loan the individual subscriptions amounted to about 9,400,000. Prior to the issuance of the 1st loan, it was est. that not more than 300,000 persons in the U. S. owned bonds. After the 2d Liberty Loan it was estimated that fully 11,000,000 people owned bonds.

The total of subscriptions to the 2d Liberty Loan is not the greatest on record. Great Britain's loan of Feb., 1916, brought in subscriptions worth $4,943,500,000, all of which was accepted. Germany's largest loan was for $3,235,000,000, issued in March, 1916; France's largest was for $3,100,000,000, issued in Nov., 1915; that of Russia $1,500,000,000, in April, 1917; Austria-Hungary's largest was for $1,263,000,000, in Nov., 1916, and that for Italy, $720,000,000, floated in Jan., 1917.

LIBERTY LOANS.

Subscriptions to the two Liberty Loans from each of the 12 Federal Reserve Districts were as follows:

	1st Loan.	2d Loan.	Total.
New York	$1,186,788,600	$1,550,433,450	$2,737,242,050

Federal War Tax.

The last session of the 64th Congress, which went out of existence on March 4, 1917, had passed a revenue bill providing for an estimated amount of revenue through taxes of \$1,333,500,000. When the extraordinary session of the 65th Congress was called together the next month, however, it was patent that a considerable additional amount would have to be raised. At that time, Sec. of the Treasury McAdoo estimated that the cost to the U. S. exclusive of advances to Allies, for the 1st year of war would be approximately \$3,600,000,000 and advised that this sum be raised $\frac{1}{2}$ by taxes and $\frac{1}{2}$ by bond issues. The House Ways and Means Comm. accordingly went to work to draft a bill raising the needed \$1,800,000,000, and after several weeks of work had a bill passed by the House calling for an estimated revenue of \$1,868,920,000. This bill was then sent to the Senate and turned over to the Senate Finance Comm.

The bill was in comm. of the Senate for something more than a month, during which time Sec. McAdoo raised his war cost estimates materially, and the Senate finally passed a bill providing for $2,416,670,000. In doing so, it raised estimated receipts on income tax from $598,700,000, as provided by the House bill, to $842,200,000; the excess profits tax from $200,000,000 to $1,060,000,000, but struck out a House provision for a retroactive tax on incomes designed to raise $108,000,000. It made numerous other changes, such as the striking out of extraordinary taxes on domestic power, insurance, automobile tires, musical instruments, motion picture films, jewelry, chewing gum, club dues, inheritance taxes, an item of $200,000,000, which the House proposed to raise by a horizontal increase in tariff, and all extraordinary taxes on mail matter. Taxes on liquors were all raised, but those on tobacco, in all forms, were lowered. Many other items were changed, the most notable being a cut in passenger transportation taxes from $75,000,000 to $37,500,000; a cut in automobile taxes from $68,000,000 to $40,000,000, and a reduction in the House tax on amusements from $60,000,000 to $19,000,000. The net amount, however, was increased by $547,750,000, mainly by the increases in income and excess profits taxes.

After passage by the Senate, the bill went to conference and a number of the items stricken out by the Senate were reinserted. There was also added a tax on the manufacture of munitions, designed to bring to the Natl. Treasury $25,000,000. The bill, which was supplementary to the earlier bill estimated to raise $1,333,500,000 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1918, was finally passed in the following form:

Income tax, $851,000,000; excess profits, $1,000,000,000; distilled spirits, $135,000,000; rectified spirits, $5,000,000; fermented liquors, $46,000,000; wines, $7,000,000; soft drinks, syrups, etc., $13,000,000; cigars, $10,000,000; cigarettes, $21,500,000; tobacco, $30,000,000; snuff, $1,800,000; cigarette paper, tubes, etc., $100,000; freight transportation, $77,500,000; express and parcel post, $10,800,000; passenger transportation, $60,000,000; pipe lines, $4,500,000; Pullman accommodations, $4,500,000; long distance telephone and telegraph, $7,000,000.

Appropriations.

A total of $21,390,730,940 was appropriated by the 2 sessions of Congress during 1917. Of this huge sum, the greatest ever appropriated in a corresponding period, $7,000,000,000, is for loans to the Allies and about $1,000,000,000 for the normal expenses of government. All the rest, or approximately $13,000,000,000, was provided in order that the U. S. might do its part toward defeating Germany. The appropriations were divided as follows:

Second session of 54th Congress, $1,977,210,200; 1st session, 65th Congress, $16,901,966,815. Contract authorizations for fiscal year, 1918, $2,511,553,925. Total, $21,390,730,940; less loans to Allies, $7,000,000,000; total expenses authorized for U. S., $14,390,730,940.

At the outbreak of the war, Congress appropriated the sum of $100,000,000, to be used by the President as an emergency fund and for his personal expenditure. On Dec. 12 President Wilson sent a report to Congress, showing that he had used $31,593,871 of this fund. In the report, the President stated that he had apportioned the sums as follows:

Shipping Board, $18,498,511; Com. on Public Information, $1,350,000; Priorities Shipment Board $25,000; Treasury Dept., $82,500; Food Administration, $340,000; Fuel Administration, $25,000; War Trade Board, $250,000; Secret Service, $2,203,220; War Risk Insurance Bureau, $500,000; Customs Service, $216,081; War Dept., $1,800,000; Navy Dept., $1,368,000; Interior Dept., $150,000; Dept. of Commerce, $575,550; Dept. of Labor, $835,000; Civil Service Comm., $250,000; Federal Trade Comm., $200,000; Food and Fuel Administrations: For bldgs., $400,000; for educational purposes, $2,000,000; Exports Administration Board, $250,000; Council of Natl. Defense, $225,000. Total, $31,593,871.

Recapitulation of Revenue Raising Sources.

By taxes (est.), $3,868,370,000; by long-term bonds, $7,538,945,460; by Treas. certificates, $4,000,000,000; by savings certificates, $2,000,000,000. Total, $17,407,315,460.

War Loans of U. S. and Other Countries.

Following table gives approximately results of the large popular internal war loans floated by the principal belligerents since beginning of the war, exclusive of short-term borrowing, bank advances, and other temporary financing:

Privately Arranged Loans.

America's part in financing the war was an important one long before the U. S. entered the conflict. Between the middle of 1915 and the entrance of the U. S., in April, 1917, private bankers in the U. S. arranged loans for the belligerents amounting to $2,313,575,000. After the entrance of the U. S., Congress authorized the Sec. of the Treasury to grant credits to our European Allies amounting to $7,000,000,000.

Cost of the War to the U. S.

The cost of the war to the U. S. has risen steadily since the beginning. In April, 1917, the net cost was $297,574,401, for a daily average of $9,919,137, while in Dec., it was estimated that the cost was upwards of $1,250,000,000, or a daily average of about $40,000,000. According to Congressional and Treasury Dept. estimates, this latter figure is likely to prevail, at the minimum, throughout 1918. The cost by months, together with the daily average, is shown in the appended table:

Month, net expenditures and daily average.
April, $297,574,401; $9,919,137. May, $529,856,843; $17,092,156. June, $415,593,719; $13,853,124. July, $669,777,896; $21,605,738. Aug., $759,934,991; $24,514,032. Sept., $748,690,383; $24,956,346. Oct., $951,495,497; $30,693,403. Nov. (partly est.), $1,083,000,000; $36,100,000. Dec. (partly est.), $1,240,000,000; $40,000,000.

COIN MINTAGE.

Unprecedented war demand for coins resulted in the mintage of more money during the year ending July 1, 1917, than in any other year in the history of the U. S. A total of 406,000,000 coins, worth $25,445,000, were manufactured at the Phila., San Francisco and Denver mints, or nearly 3 times more than in 1916.

CATSKILL WATER SUPPLY

A noteworthy achievement of 1917 in New York was the completion of the Catskill water supply system, one of the greatest engineering projects and the first of the artificial storage lakes in the Catskill Mountains, Ashokan reservoir on Esopus creek. The system was put in operation Oct. 12, 1917. Night and day the water flows unceasingly from the mountains to Staten Island, 120 miles. Administrative, legal and physical obstacles have been surmounted. To the City's permanent water resources an addition has been made which can be depended upon for at least 250 million gallons daily in the most prolonged series of dry years likely to occur. Development of the second Catskill watershed, that of Schoharie creek, will in a few years round out the system and make the total quantity of new water from the mountains not less than 500 million gallons each day. The City was using in Oct., 1917, from all public and private sources, 615 million gallons daily, and has for the past five years been increasing in population at the rate of approximately 157,000 per year, for each added person needing another hundred gallons of water per day.

New York City's Catskill Mountain water supply system is the greatest of waterworks, modern or ancient, and ranks among the most notable enterprises ever carried out by any city, state or nation. For magnitude and cost and for the variety, complexity and difficulty of physical problems encountered it stands with the great canals, transcontinental railroad systems and New York's own rapid transit railways. The portion of the great project which has been completed constitutes $\frac{3}{4}$ of the whole and embraces the Ashokan reservoir, an artificial lake 12 miles long for storing the waters of Esopus creek, the Catskill aqueduct extending 92 miles from this reservoir to the City's northern boundary and 35 miles within the City limits, including the branch to the Borough of Queens, Kensico storage reservoir near White Plains, Hill View equalizing reservoir at the City line and Silver Lake terminal reservoir on Staten Island.

It is a gravity system, the water flowing without pumping from gathering grounds at a much higher elevation than the city. It is almost a 3-days' journey for the water to flow from the Ashokan reservoir to the Staten Island terminal.

For surveys, real estate, construction, engineering and general supervision, and all other items except interest on the bonds, the total cost of the completed Catskill system will be about $177,000,000, of which $22,000,000 are for the Schoharie works. To Oct., 1917, $139,000,000 had been expended.

Ex-Mayor Geo. B. McClellan, under whose administration the actual work on the Catskill water system was started, in a speech in the City Hall on Oct. 12, 1917, the day of the opening of the system, gave chief credit for the consummation of the administration's plans for the new system to The Brooklyn Daily Eagle and the New York Times.

The building of the Catskill aqueduct is to be appropriately memorialized in a fountain on the site of the Croton Reservoir in Central Park.

(For names of commissioners, engineers and administration staff, see index for Board of Water Supply.)

NEW YORK CONNECTING RAILROAD BRIDGE.

The N. Y. Connecting Railroad cantilever bridge over Hell Gate from the Astoria section of Queens, crossing Ward's and Randall's Islands to the Port Morris region of the Bronx is an important railway connection with Ekin. The Pennsylvania and New Haven Systems share interests. Starting from the yards of the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. Co. at 142d in the Bronx, the line crosses the Bronx Kills by a lift bridge, 490 ft. long, with 2 spans of 175 ft. each. It is then carried along the eastern shore of Randall's Island by a viaduct half a mile in length to Little Hell Gate, which is crossed by a bridge 1,150 ft. long to Ward's Island. Across this island the road runs on a viaduct 2,600 ft. in length to Hell Gate, where has been built the most massive bridge structure of its kind in this country. It has huge granite piers 250 ft. high and a span of 1,107 ft. The clear height above mean high water is 135 ft. The great steel structure, rising in a parabolic arch, has four tracks, two for passenger trains and two for freight. The train floor level is below the crown of the arch and suspended from it. The estimated weight of steel in the viaducts and bridges together about 3 miles long is 90,000 tons. From the Long Island end of the bridge the pass. tracks continue partly on a viaduct and partly on embankment to the Sunnyside yards of the Pennsylvania R. R. in L. I. City. The freight tracks continue through Queens to Fresh Pond and the East New York part of Brooklyn, whence they follow the route of the Manhattan Beach Railroad to Flatbush and then the Bay Ridge branch of that road to the waterfront at 65th st. The passenger connection between the Pennsylvania System and the New Haven is via the tunnels of the former from New Jersey to Long Island, and thence by the Connecting Railroad to Port Morris, where the New Haven road practically begins.

MARKETS IN NEW YORK CITY.

Brooklyn.

Wallabout—For history of this market, see Brooklyn Daily Eagle Almanac for 1896. Revenue to the city from farmers' fees in 1916 was $11,723.50.

Manhattan.

Gansevoort—City property, Washington, Gansevoort, West and Little W. 12th. Used by farmers in sale of vegetables. Revenue, to city from farmers' fees in 1916 was $9,101.

Jefferson—City property, Est. 1832-3. 6th av., Greenwich av. and W. 10th. Revenue to the city in 1916 was $4,480.20.

Washington—City property, Est. 1813. Washington, West, Fulton and Vesey. Re-opened Oct. 15, 1916; rents, 1916, $75,000 per annum.

West Washington—City property, Washington and West, and 13th av., bet. Gansvoort and W. 12th. Revenue to city from rents in 1916 was $12,291.50.

Four free markets were opened in Mhtn. in Aug., 1914, located as follows:

Manhattan Bridge—Division to Madison. Queensboro Bridge—Av. A and E. 59th. Harlem River Bridge—3d av. and 129th. A nominal rental of $1 sq. ft. per year is charged for space.

BROOKLYN WATERFRONT DEVELOPMENT.

During the year 1917 the lease of the 35th St. Pier, Bkln., held by the Luckenbach Steamship Co., was cancelled by the Commr. of Docks and the pier turned over to the uses of the U. S. Navy for the period of the war at a rental of $120,000 per year. The pier at the ft. of 33d, Bkln., formerly held by the Hamburg-Amer. Line, was taken over by the city and given under permit to the Kerr Steamship Co. at a rental of $328,500 per annum. The former rental for this pier was $75,000 per annum. The Govt. is building a large storage warehouse on the upland in the rear of 33d and 35th sts.

There was completed at the ft. of 57th st. by C. Kenyon Co. a pier, 100 ft. wide and 1,400 ft. long, costing $600,000. Plans were prepared by the Dock Dept. for the improvement of the city property in this vicinity.

During the year the demands of commerce were subordinated to the needs of the Govt. Irving T. Bush was made Port Director of New York.

The Barge Canal.

Work on the Barge Canal advanced during the year 1917 to such an extent that in Nov. the State Engineer announced that the waterway would probably be open to traffic for its entire length by May, 1918.

The canal will have its principal terminal at Erie Basin, adjacent to one of the principal yards of the Marginal Railroad. The canal basin has been dredged and bulkheaded and work was started on the 1,200-ft. covered pier.

Plans for enlarging the fleet of boats as a part of the ship building campaign are well under way. The canal will be an important artery for the traffic between the great food, coal and iron producing Lake States and the Northwest and the Port of N. Y.

Marginal Railroad.

Necessities of the war situation and the enormous increase in traffic along the Bkln. waterfront would, in the estimation of officials, likely result in the speedy building of the Bkln. Marginal Railroad and its compulsory operation by the trunk line railroads as a war measure.

One of the important problems considered by the War Board of the Port of N. Y. was the bringing together of the railroads and ships, doing away as far as possible with expensive lighterage systems, and the co-ordinating the railroad terminals and the ships by means of marginal railroads traversing the waterfronts adjacent to the shore end of the piers, and by the building of belt lines traversing sections back from the waterfront.

The N. Y. Connecting Railroad, over which the entire freight traffic of New England railroad system, serving such big manufacturing cities as Boston, Providence, Worcester, New Haven, Bridgeport, New Bedford, Lowell, Hartford, Springfield, Waterbury and New Britain, was brought to the waterfront of N. Y. Harbor at Bay Ridge in Sept., 1917. This line will connect L. I. City's big industrial plants and those of interior Bkln. with the N. Y. Harbor front.

An important war move under consideration at the close of the year was the connecting up of this big terminal with Bush Terminal and the Bkln. Marginal Railroad, giving the entire South Bkln. waterfront direct railroad connection with all parts of the New England and the Pennsylvania systems.

Dock Improvements.

The largest pier in Mhtn. Island was constructed at the ft. of 46th st., N. R., in 1917. This pier is 1,000 ft. long by 150 ft. wide, with a modern 2-story steel freight shed erected thereon. In connection with the construction of the W. 46th St. Pier a portion of the pier at the ft. of 44th st. was also constructed, leaving a slip width between the 2 piers of 360 ft. This improvement provides 3,700 linear ft. of wharfage and 285,000 sq. ft. of deck space.

At Stapleton, S. I., there was completed by private owners a modern pier 40 ft. wide and 250 ft. long, and there is under construction at Clifton a modern pier, 130 ft. wide and 832 ft. long.

Ships are one of the biggest factors in winning the war. A necessary corollary is the prompt loading and unloading of them at the terminals. This calls for enormous dock and pier facilities.

The U. S. Gov. looked to the officials in charge of the Port of N. Y. to bear the brunt of the work in solving the problem of providing quicker transportation for troops and supplies from the U. S. to the Allied armies of Europe.

Over half the exports to Europe from the U. S. are sent through the Port of N. Y., and it is planned by the various Government heads in co-operation with State and city officials of N. Y. to vastly increase the efficiency of this terminal and enlarge the output of provisions, clothing, munitions and other war materials.

No other port in the world has near the natural advantages of N. Y., with its wide, deep harbors and estuaries in which could be safely and conveniently gathered the entire merchant fleets of the world.

N. Y. City has 128 miles of improved waterfront in a straight shore line, and the total berthing space of its pier heads, slips and interior bulkheads is 268 miles, every foot of which is available for the use of vessels in loading and unloading cargoes. Of this total 83 miles is publicly owned and 185 miles is privately owned, principally by the big railroads and terminal corporations. In addition to this are many miles of piers along the N. J. front.

The potentialities of this vast length of improved waterfront, with its hundreds of millions of dollars worth of piers, bulkheads, basins, warehouses and machinery for loading and unloading, greater than that of all the other ports of the U. S. combined, it was intimated by Government officials, have not been half developed.

Jamaica Bay.

Specifications and contract drawings were prepared for continuing the main channel in Jamaica Bay northward to Paerdegat Basin and thence eastward past Canarsie to Fresh Creek. Agreements were entered into with Percy Williams and T. A. Adams, owners of property in the vicinity of Bergen Beach, and also the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Co., owners of property at Mill Island, making certain property adjustments.

(See previous vols. of Eagle Almanac for additional information on Bkln. waterfront, Barge Canal, Marginal Railroad, dock improvements and Jamaica Bay.)

Water Tax.

Payment of bills—Frontage bills are due and payable annually in advance on Jan. 1. Bills for metered water are payable when rendered. Where premises are not metered, $5 a season is charged for hose. Where metered, no special charge is made. When frontage bills are not paid by April 1, 5% penalty is added. On July 1 an additional 10% (making 15% in all) is added on all unpaid rates. (See page 527, 1916 Eagle Almanac, for add. details.)

The annual frontage rates on premises wholly or partly unmetered are based on following schedule:

	1	2	3	4	5
Front, width. Story.	Story.	Story.	Story.	Story.	Story.
16 ft. and under.	$4.00	$5.00	$6.00	$7.00	$8.00

The govt. war risk insurance for soldiers and sailors of the U. S. provides up to $10,000 total insurance against death. The bill was signed by President Wilson, Oct. 6, 1917.

In 1790, when its 1st census of population was taken, the U. S. had but one city with a population of over 30,000; that was N. Y. In 1910 the cities with over 30,000 numbered 184.

CITY OF NEW YORK MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

The Govt. of the City of New York has 3 officials elected by the whole city, the Mayor, the Comptroller and the Pres. of the Bd. of Aldermen. The last is Vice-Mayor. There is a Borough Pres. for each of the 5 boroughs, elected simultaneously with the Mayor, and deputies as executives. The general city depts. are filled by appointees of the Mayor, who also names members of the Bd. of City Magistrates. The legislative branch is the Bd. of Aldermen, elected by districts. Certain constitutional officers of counties are still elected, though they are paid out of the city budget, and the counties are otherwise not considered. The charter of 1901, which went into effect Jan. 1, 1902, defines the functions of all depts.

colors of the United Netherlands—orange, white and blue (blue next to flagstaff)—under which the city was settled, with the design of the municipal seal, under which English authority replaced the Dutch. Founded by the Dutch in 1626, as "New Amsterdam," it was named "New York" in 1664, and a year later, on June 24, 1665, the municipal govt. was formally transferred to the Mayor and Bd. of Aldermen of the City of New York, as successors in office of the burgomasters and schefens of the City of New Amsterdam.

In the flag the colors are Dutch, the arms English, the crest distinctively American. The flag is emblematic of the courage and independence which founded the Dutch Republic and which gave to N. Y. as its birthright free government, free speech, free commerce, free schools and free religion. The flag is a page of history and its colors perpetuate a great tradition.

The design for a city seal represents an effort to perpetuate the seal adopted by the Common Council in 1636. The beavers which appear on the shield preserve the characteristic feature of the coat-of-arms granted to the New Netherlands by the States General of Holland. The windmill and four barrels were added in 1656 as signifying the

CHARTER OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK. (Complete text with 1915 Amendments, Eagle Library, No. 119.)

The charter of the City of New York is a development of the charters of the former cities of New York, Brooklyn and Long Island City, differing from all of them, however, by the introduction of the principle of local control over local affairs. In this feature the charter provides a system of govt. more nearly like that of London and continental cities. For a history of charter making see Introduction to Eagle Library, No. 119, and 1902 Eagle Almanac, page 404.

then prevailing commerce and industry. The costume and head-dress of the Indian conform to early descriptions and drawings of the tribe of the Manhattans, a branch of the Mohicans, living on Manhattan Isl.; and the sailor who appears as a supporter on the left of the shield is in the costume of an English sailor of the period, having in his hand a sounding line, and over his shoulder a "cross-staff," the implement by which the early navigators determined their latitude.

Upon a ribbon encircling lower half of the design are the words of the legend, "Sigillum Civitatis Novi Eboraci," the whole encircled by a laurel wreath. The date 1664 beneath the horizontal laurel branch signifies the year of the capture of New Amsterdam by the English and the first use of the name of the City of New York.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Room 5, City Hall, 9 A.M. to 5 P.M.; Sat. to 12 M.

The executive power of the city is vested in the Mayor, the Presidents of the Boroughs and the officers of the depts. The Mayor is the chief executive officer. His term begins on the 1st day of Jan. after his election and continues for 4 yrs. He is eligible for re-election. The Mayor appoints the heads of depts. and commissioners, except those over which the Presidents of the Boroughs have jurisdiction, and except, also, the head of the Dept. of Finance. He can remove at any time any official appointed by him, except the members of the Bd. of Education, trustees of the Coll. of the City of N. Y., and trustees of some hospitals, and certain judicial officers. He himself can be removed from office by the Governor, after a hearing, upon charges.

The Mayor has the power of veto over all ordinances and resolutions of the Bd. of Aldermen, but if he does not disapprove they become laws after a lapse of 10 days, or the next meeting after 10 days.

An ordinance or resolution can be passed over the Mayor's veto by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to the Bd. of Aldermen, except that when it involves the expenditure of money, the creation of a debt or the laying of an assessment, a three-fourths vote is required. The Mayor countersigns all warrants drawn by the Comptroller upon the Chamberlain for payments on behalf of the corporation. He has also to sign all bonds, together with the Comptroller. In the absence or sickness of the Mayor the Pres. of the Bd. of Aldermen is the Acting Mayor. He shall not appoint to or remove from office any official, unless the absence or sickness of the Mayor continues 30 days, nor shall he approve or disapprove any resolution or ordinance unless such absence or sickness continues 9 days. (For duties of Mayor see N. Y. City Charter.)

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The legislative power of the city is vested in the Bd. of Aldermen, consisting of 67 members elected for 2 yrs., in the Pres. of the Bd. and the Presidents of the Boroughs. The salary of the Aldermen is $2,000 per yr. The Pres. of the Bd. receives $7,500 a yr. He is elected by the city for 4 yrs. Each head of an administrative dept. of the city is entitled to a seat in the Bd. of Aldermen, and shall attend its meetings when required by the board, but has no vote. No member elected to Bd. of Aldermen is eligible to any other office under the city during term for which he is elected. The board is required to meet at least once a month, except during months of Aug. and Sept. Resolutions and ordinances of the board must be passed by vote of majority of members of board. It cannot authorize expenditure of money for any celebration, procession, funeral, reception or entertainment, except by vote of four-fifths of membership. (See City Charter.)

THE LOCAL IMPROVEMENT BOARDS.

The Aldermanic districts are divided into 25 local improvement districts. (See index.) The Pres. of the Borough as chairman and the Aldermen residing in each local improvement district constitute the local board. The local boards are empowered to initiate such improvements as grading and paving streets and constructing sewers, subject to the approval of the Bd. of Estimate, if they involve an assessment. If the improvement involves a cost of more than $500,000, it must be approved by the Bd. of Aldermen. When the cost of flagging sidewalks, grading lots or fencing lots is less than $2,000, the approval of Bd. of Estimate and Apportionment is not necessary, it then becomes the duty of Borough Pres. to execute work. The local boards are authorized to hear complaints and pass resolutions on nuisances in streets or against disorderly houses, drinking saloons conducted without observance of licenses, gambling houses or other matters concerning peace or good govt., and concerning condition of poor within their respective districts. All petitions for local improvements should be addressed to the Pres. of the Borough for presentation to the local board having jurisdiction. (See City Charter.) (See page xxix for Aldermanic Comm.)

BOROUGH GOVERNMENTS.PRESIDENTS AND COMMRs. OF PUBLIC WORKS.

The Presidents of 5 Boroughs are elected at the same time as Mayor, for period of 4 yrs.; their present terms expiring Dec. 31, '21. Borough Presidents, within their respective boroughs, have charge of highway, sewer and topographical work; of care of public bldgs. and offices, and of enforcement of bldg. code; Presidents of Boroughs of Queens and Richmond also have charge of street cleaning. Each Borough Pres. is member of Bd. of Est. and Apportionment which controls city's finances, and in which board their votes have following value: Mhntn., 2; Bkln., 2; Bronx, Queens and Richmond each 1, totaling 7. Total vote of the board is 16; remaining 9 votes are divided equally among Mayor, Comptroller and Pres. of Bd. of Aldermen. The Pres. of each borough is also member of Bd. of Aldermen, and is Ch. of several local improvement boards, composed of aldermen in his borough. The Sec. of Borough is sec. of local boards.

Borough Pres. has power to appoint Commr. of Public Works for his borough, who acts as his deputy, and has supervision over all bureaus except Bldg. Bur. Pres. of Borough has cognizance and control over all matters relating to improvement and repair of public bldgs. in his borough, except bldgs. of Dept. of Police, Fire, Charities, Correction, Education and Bellevue and Allied Hosps., and is responsible for maintenance of those public offices which the city leases. He is also empowered to exercise supervision vested in city over construction and erection of new bldgs., and alteration of existing bldgs. in his borough, except such powers as are directly vested in Tenement House Dept. and for this purpose he is authorized to appoint a Supt. of Bldgs.

Among the miscellaneous powers of Borough Pres. are following: Licensing of sub-surface vault spaces; removal of encumbrances upon the sidewalks and highways; control over projecting signs; granting permission to use and open streets for any purpose; construction and maintenance of all bridges and tunnels, except those crossing navigable streams; care of public baths, comfort stations and placing of street signs. FIRE DEPARTMENT, CITY OF NEW YORK.

Headquarters, Municipal Bldg., Manhattan. Brooklyn Office, 367 Jay st.

The Fire Commr. is the head of the Fire Dept. He is required to appoint 2 depts. The Commr. is treasurer of the dept. and has to give a bond of $20,000. He is also trustee of the Fire Dept. Relief Fund, for which he has to give a bond of $100,000. The Commr. has power to select the heads of bureaus and assist. and as many officers and firemen as may be necessary. A pension bureau is connected with the dept. A tax of 2% is laid on the business of foreign insurance companies, which shall go to this pension fund.

The provisions of Chap. 899 of the Laws of 1911 and of the amendments thereto have added largely to the powers and duties of the Commr. in the matter of fire prevention. This law provides for a Bureau of Fire Extinguishment which under the dir. of the Fire Commr. shall have charge of the extinguishment of fires and necessary and incidental protection of property in connection therewith. The head of this bur. is the Chief, of Dept. It also provides for a Bureau of Fire Prevention, the official in charge of which shall be known as the Chief of the Bureau of Fire Prevention and appointed by the Fire Commr. The former Bur. of Combustibles and Violation and Auxiliary Fire Appliances are now divs. of the Bur. of Fire Prevention. There is also in this bur. a Div. of Places of Public Assembly, an Electrical Div., a Recording Div. and a Stenographic Div.

The Bureau of Fire Prevention has charge of all matters relating to the prevention of fires, including those relating to the storage, sale, transportation or use of combustibles or explosives; to the installation and maintenance of automatic or other fire alarm systems and fire extinguishing equipment; to the means and adequacy of exits from all buildings, structures, vessels, places and premises in which numbers of persons work, live or congregate from time to time for any purpose, except tenement houses and except factories as defined by the Labor Law. On July 1, 1915, the Fire Commr. issued an order detaching the Div. of Fire Marshal of Mhnt., Bronx and Richmond and the Div. of Fire Marshal, Bklyn. and Queens from the Bur. of Fire Prevention, and consolidating them into a new bur. to be known as the Bureau of Fire Investigation. Fire Marshal T. P. Brophy, Bklyn. and Queens, was selected as Chief of the new bur. and Fire Marshal J. P. Priol, Mhnt., Bronx and Richmond, as Dep. Chief thereof. In 1917 the Legislature formally created this bur.

The Fire Commr. is empowered to make inspections and order, in writing, the remedying of any conditions found to exist in violation of any law or ordinance in respect to fires or the prevention of fires, except the tenement house law; but the Fire Commr. shall make no such order respecting the means and adequacy of exit from a factory as defined by the Labor Law; require, in writing, the installation, as prescribed by any law or ordinance, of automatic or other fire alarm systems and the maintenance and repair thereof, or the construction of adequate and safe means of exit, except in tenement houses and except in the case of factories as defined by the Labor Law, to require any building, structure, inclosure, vessel, place or premises which in his opinion, is not adequately protected against fire perils to be vacated or condemned and removed; to cause any vessel moored to or anchored near any dock or pier in the city to be removed and secured at such place in the harbor as he may designate, provided such vessel shall be on fire or in danger of catching fire, or, by reason of its condition, a menace to shipping or to property on the waterfront of the city. He is also authorized to cause any order of his or of the dept. which is not complied with within the time fixed in the order, to be enforced and to take proceedings for the enforcement thereof. Any of the premises specified which shall be found to be perilous to life or property in case of fire therein or adjacent thereto, by reason of the nature or condition of its contents, or its use, or the overcrowding at any time of persons therein, or defects in its construction, or deficiencies in such fire alarm or fire extinguishing equipment as may be required by law or ordinance, is a nuisance within the meaning of the act, the Penal Code and the code of ordinances.

Sec. 775A of the Gr. N. Y. Charter provides that the Fire Commr. in cases where provision is not otherwise made by law or ordinance, is empowered in his discretion to require and compel regular and periodical enforcement of a fire drill, incl. instruction and practice in use of means of exit, alarm systems and fire prevention of extinguishing methods and equipment, in all bldgs., structures, enclosures, vessels, place and premises where numbers of persons work, live or congregate in City of N. Y., except tenement houses. (See Eagle Library No. 119.)

Chap. 495, Laws of 1914 amended Sec., 778c of the Gr. N. Y. Charter, by transferring to and vesting in the Fire Commr. powers and functions of Mnopl. Explosives Commn. These comprised making of regulations for the manufacture, storage, transportation and use of combustibles and explosives. The Fire Commr., accordingly created in lieu of the Commn., an administrative body called Bd. of Hazardous Trades, composed of a Dep. Commr., a Consulting Engr., a Consulting Chemist and Chief of Bur. of Fire Prevention. (See Eagle Library No. 119.)

By Sec. 7 of Chapter 503, Laws of 1916, commonly known as the Lockwood-Ellenbogen Bill, Sec. 774 of Gr. N. Y. Charter, as amended by Chap. 459, Laws of 1914, has been further amended to read as follows:

The Fire Commr. is empowered to enforce all laws and ordinances and rules and regulations of Bd. of Standards and Appeals provided for in said Chap. 503, Laws of 1916, in respect of (1) The prevention of fires and danger to and loss of life and property therefrom. (2) The storage, sale, transportation or use of combustibles, chemicals and explosives. (3) The installation and maintenance of automatic or other fire alarm systems and fire extinguishing equipment. (4) The means and adequacy of exit, in case of fire, as provided in the Labor Law, the Bldg. Code and rules and regulations of Bd. of Standards and Appeals, in and from all bldgs., structures, enclosures, vessels, places and premises in which numbers of persons work, live or congregate from time to time for any purpose except tenement houses. (5) The investigation of cause, circumstances and origin of fires and suppression of arson. (6) The use and occupancy of bldgs. and other structures except tenement houses.

The Fire Commr. shall not vary from, proceed or issue any order contrary to bldg. code, a rule, regulation or decision of bd. of standards and appeals, or of the bd. of appeals.

The powers conferred upon Fire Commr. by this sect. are excl. of Dept. of Labor, and such dept. shall not exercise any of such powers in City of N. Y.

The powers conferred by this sect. shall not, however, extend to the enforcement of any provisions of sanitary code or the regulations of Bd. of Health, nor interfere in any manner with powers or duties of Dept. of Health or of Health Commr.

HIGH PRESSURE FIRE SYSTEM.Manhattan.

The High Pressure Fire Service in Mhnt. now in actual use protects approximately 3,712 acres. There are 2 pumping stations in Mhnt., and the high pressure system without the additions referred to has 128 miles of mains, with 2,750 hydrants.

There are two pumping stations, one at Oliver and South sts., serving the district from Houston to the Battery; the other at Gansevoort and West sts., serving the district from Houston to 34th. Either station can serve either district or both combined at any point. Each station has six electrically driven centrifugal pumps, each pump having a rated capacity which has been exceeded under actual test of 3,000 gals. per minute, at the maximum pressure of 300 lbs. per sq. in., giving a combined capacity of the two stations of 36,000 gals. per minute, or 51,840,000 gals. per day available within two minutes after the alarm sounds at any point within the High Pressure Service District.

OPERATION.—On receipt of fire alarm at pumping station, simultaneously with that of Fire Hdqtrs., a pressure of 125 lbs. is immediately put on the mains, which pressure reaches the entire system before the Fire Dept. can arrive at the fire. High pressure telephone boxes are placed adjacent to or near each fire alarm box, and instant communication with the high pressure pumping stations can thus be had and orders for the increase or decrease of pressure or shut down of the system can be immediately communicated.

BOUNDARY.—Hudson River, to 34th, to Madison, to 24th, to Lexington, to 23d, to Irving pl., to 14th, to 3d av., to Bowery, to Houston, to East River, to Battery, to Hudson River, to 23d.

AREA COVERED.—3,712 acres, including the dry-goods district.

COST, COMPLETE.—$6,749,000.

INSTALLED.—Original system July 6, 1908; additions, Feb., 1911; Nov., 1911, and July, 1913.

THE SYSTEM CONSISTS OF 128 miles of mains 8 to 24 in. in diameter, the 8 in. mains being only used for hydrant branches, 2,750 4-nozzle hydrants; 465 telephone boxes directly connected to pumping stations.

Brooklyn.

The High Pressure Fire Service in Bkln. protects a total acreage in this borough of approximately 3,100 acres, exclusive of Coney Island, which protects approximately 473 acres.

There are two pumping stations. The main station is at Joralemon and Furman and the reserve station at Willoughby and St. Edwards. These stations have the same type of equipment as the Mhnt. stations, the main station having 5 units and the reserve station 3 units, with a capacity of 300 gals. p. m. each against 300 lbs. Coney Island has 1 station, located at Neptune av. and W. 12th. This station's equipment consists of 3 gas engine driven triplex double acting pumps of rated capacity of 1,500 gals. p. m. each against 150 lbs.

COST OF SYSTEM.—Main system, $2,214,000; Coney Island, $183,000.

The main system consists of 39 miles of mains from 8 to 20 ins. in diameter, the 8 in. mains being for hydrant branches, with 1,217 hydrants and 218 telephone boxes connected directly to stations. The Coney Isl. system consists of 6 miles of mains from 8 to 16 ins. in diameter, the 8 in. mains being for hydrant branches, with 150 hydrants and 28 telephone boxes connected directly to stations.

REGISTRATION UNDER THE SELECTIVE DRAFT AND ALIEN ENEMY LAWS.

(From Provost Marshal-General Crowder's Data.)

The registration throughout the Nation, under the Selective Draft Law, which took place on June 5, 1917, and included all men within the ages 21-31 years. Estimates had been made of the number of registrations to be expected and the results showed a discrepancy of less than 4 per cent. The apparent shortage, about 298,000, was considerably less than the number of men 21 to 30 years of age, inclusive, who were estimated by the War Dept. to have been in the various branches of the military and naval services of the U. S. on June 5, and for that reason exempt from the requirement of registration. This number is 600,000. On the face of these figures, therefore, it appears that the number of men between the ages of 21 and 31 in the U. S. is somewhat in excess of the number estimated by the Census Bureau on May 12—10,079,000. The returns of registration available on Sept. 30, 1917, are as follows:

Pat'm. L. S. Rogers, E. 15th St. Sta., Bkln.—Medal of Automobile Club of America.

Pat'm. A. H. Shalow, Adams St. Sta., Bkln.—Brooklyn Citizen Medal.

The medals were formally presented by the Mayor at the reviewing stand for the 1917 parade.

CITY PLANNING.

The zoning movement started by New York City is fast spreading to other cities in the U. S. Zoning commissions to prepare zoning plans have been appointed in Phila., St. Louis and Newark.

One of the greatest single achievements in city planning in America is the comprehensive zoning law put into effect on July 25, 1916, by a virtually unanimous vote of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of N. Y. C. All future bldgs. are restricted as to height, size and use and the restrictions vary in different parts of the city. (See previous vols. of Eagle Almanac for further details on city planning progress).

The Bkln. Comm. on City Plan had hoped that the Public Service Commission would, during the year 1917, recommend the removal of the elevated railroad tracks from lower Fulton st. to Adams st, but it failed to do so notwithstanding the fact that the Board of Estimate had realized public sentiment in regards to the improvement and had appropriated a large sum to bring about realization of the Adams st. relocation and had considered the project one of the essential improvements of the borough.

AMERICAN RAILWAY EXPORTS.

The value of American railway equipment for the fiscal year 1917 shipped abroad reached the grand total of $108,944,187, compared with $35,750,027 in 1914 under normal conditions.

POST OFFICE SURPLUS.

The annual report of Postmaster Gen. Burleson, Dec. 5, '17, showed an audited surplus for the year of $9,836,211, the largest in history of the department.

INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS.

Total receipts of the Bur. of Internal Revenue on Dec. 1, '17, amounted to $809,393,640.44, the largest in the history of the bureau.

The general plan for a cantilever bridge, from 2d av., bet. 59th and 60th, Mhnt., across Blackwell's Island to an intersection with Jane st., L. I. City, was submitted to the Sec. of War, Dec. 2, 1899. Nov. 15, 1900, the ordinance authorizing construction was approved by the Mayor, and on Feb. 21, 1901, the plans were approved by the War Dept. On June 27, 1901, the contract for the construction of the 6 masonry piers was let to Ryan & Parker, for $745,547.

Construction of the piers was commenced July 19, 1901, and was completed June 10, 1904, at a total cost of $858,565.01. The contract for the steel superstructure was let to the Pennsylvania Steel Co., Nov. 20, 1903, and was completed June 15, 1908. Total cost of constr. to Dec. 31, 1915, was $12,872,364.

The total length of this bridge, from the east side of 2d av., Mhnt., to Jackson av., Queens, including the Queens Plaza, is 8,601 ft.

The length of the spans are: Manhattan anchor span, 469.5 ft. West Channel span, 1,182 ft. Island span, 630 ft. East Channel span, 984 ft. Queens anchor span, 459 ft. The clear height over river channels is 135 ft. The plans were approved by the Art Commission Feb. 10, 1903. The bridge was opened for pedestrians and vehicles on March 30, 1909. The celebra-

Statistics of the Structure.

The Manhattan Bridge is the greatest suspension bridge in the world. It extends from Bowery and Canal, Mhtn., to Nassau and Bridge, Bkln. The ordinance authorizing construction was approved by the Mayor Jan. 8, 1900, and Jan. 29, 1900, the Sec. of War approved the plans. The Bkln. tower foundation contract was let to J. C. Rodgers, May 1, 1901, for $471,757, and the foundation was completed in Dec., 1902. The Mhtn. tower foundation contract was let to J. C. Rodgers Dec. 22, 1902, for $482,726.56, and the foundation was completed in April, 1904. On July 9, 1903, the contract for masonry pedestals on top of the tower foundations was let to J. C. Rodgers for $150,000. The Bkln. anchorage contract was let to Kosmos Engineering Co., Jan. 24, 1905, for $1,212,554, and the Mhtn. anchorage contract was let to Williams Engineering and Contracting Co., Feb. 9, 1905, for $1,197,000. Each anchorage is 237 ft. long by 182 ft. wide. The contract for furnishing the metal work for the anchorages and constructing the towers, cables, suspenders and suspended superstructure was awarded to the Ryan-Parker Construction Co. on June 15, 1906, at a price of $6,493,223. The steel towers over which the cables are swung are 335 ft. high. They are constructed on masonry piers which extend 92 ft. below and 32 ft. above mean high water level. The largest steel plates in these towers are 362 in. long, 88½ in. wide, and 2½ in. thick, weighing each 16,460 pounds. The first wire rope for the temporary cables supporting footwalks was strung on June 15, 1908. The first cable wire was strung August 10, 1908; the last one on Dec. 10, 1908. These four cables contain 37,888 galvanized acid steel wires. Diameter of cables, 21¼ in. Length of each wire about 3,224 ft.

The contract for the construction of the masonry piers, surface and sub-surface changes and steel superstructure of the Mhtn. and Bkln. approaches was entered into with J. C. Rodgers on Dec. 20, 1907, for $2,163,304.

On June 18, 1909, a contract was entered into with the Lord Electric Co. for the construction of railings, roadway and footwalk pavements and tracks and electrical equipments, the total cost of which was $394,163. Contract for improvement of Mhtn. plaza with Wm. P. Seaver for $817,380, dated Jan. 18, 1913. Contract for improvement of Bkln. plaza with North-Eastern Construction Co. for $596,400, dated June 23, 1913. The total length of the bridge is 6,855 ft. and the extreme width 122 ft. 6 in. The elevation above mean high water at center is 135 ft. Provision is made for 4 trolley and 4 subway tracks, one 55-ft. roadway and two promenades, each 13 ft. 7 in. wide.

On Dec. 31, 1909, the roadway was opened to the public. On July 18, 1910, the east footwalk was opened to pedestrians. On May 11, 1911, the west footwalk was opened to pedestrians. Local surface car traffic commenced Sept. 4, 1912. Total cost of constr. to Dec. 31, 1915, was $16,698,189.

FINANCES OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

[The Eagle Almanac is indebted to the Div. of Chief Accountant's Office, Dept. of Finance, The City of New York, for courtesies in furnishing the data for this chapter in the Almanac.]

BUDGET OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK FOR 1918.

According to Section 226 of the Charter of the City of New York, the Bd. of Estimate and Apportionment (composed of the Mayor, Comptroller, Pres. of Bd. of Ald., and Presidents of Boros. of Mhnt., Bronx, Bkln., Queens and Richmond), from figures furnished by the heads of all departments not later than Sept. 10, annually between Oct. 1 and Nov. 1, prepares a budget of amounts estimated as requisite for the conduct of the city's business during the ensuing year. Public hearings thereon are mandatory, and within 5 days after budget is made and amounts therein authorized, it must be submitted to the Bd. of Ald. and adopted by said Board within 20 days after being convened by the Mayor in special session. Should the latter Board fail to act within such time, the budget as originally submitted stands. Board of Ald. may reduce, but cannot increase the budget, said reductions, if any, being final. Budget must then be signed by Mayor and Comptroller within 10 days, the former also having power to reduce, but not increase same. Thereafter budget is filed with the City Clerk as a public document.

$211,114,136.82

The total approps. in 1916 for int. on and redemption of City Debt; for Education, Health and Sanitation, Protection of Life and Property and for Charitable Purposes was $164,261,201.21, or 84.24% of City Budget approps. for said year. For 1917 approps. for these purposes aggregate $175,027,036.89, or 84.92% of Budget for City and Co. purposes. In other words, of every $1,000 provided in Budget of 1917, $842.40 is for these 5 functions or purposes.

Notable inc. in the Budget of 1917 over that of 1916 are for Debt Service, $6,531,358.84; Educational Purposes, $1,697,312.31; Protection of Life and Property, $1,154,372.98; Charitable Purposes, $1,375,707.94, and Deficiencies in Taxes, $1,000,000.00. Notable dec. in the Budget of 1917, as compared with 1916, include a reduction of $181,607 in the total for Board of Elections and $145,583.17 in Taxes and Rents. There were no direct State Taxes included in the Budget of 1917. Federal Bur. of the Census est. the city's population for 1916 as 5,602,841, and the Health Dept. gives as its estimate of the population at the mid-period of 1917 as 5,737,492. This est. by Health Dept. is based on the 1916 est. of Federal Census Bureau.

BONDED DEBT, GREATER CITY OF NEW YORK, AS AT JAN. 1, 1898.

Funded debt as at Dec. 31, 1897, or Jan. 1, 1898, of various municipalities now distinguished as Boroughs:

Borough.	Total funded debt.	Less sinking fund holdings.
Manhattan & Bronx.....	$223,082,666.27	$85,654,317.52
Brooklyn.....	81,626,175.53	6,734,055.69
Queens.....	13,709,935.62	330,000.00
Richmond.....	3,486,736.67

Total.....$321,905,514.09$92,718,373.21

Total funded debt as above.....$321,905,514.09

Plus special revenue bonds of former City of New York.....3,067,645.01

Gross funded debt as at Jan. 1, 1898...$324,967,159.10

The statement of bonded debt of The City of New York at consolidation considers and includes all of funded debt of former City of N. Y. and of municipalities in Bkln., Queens and Richmond which was recorded as at date of consolidation, and also such additional amounts as were recoded in subsequent years as being funded obligations of said former municipalities to be assumed by The City of N. Y. The Boroughs of Mhtn. and The Bronx, having composed the former City of N. Y., are treated for the purpose of this table as one political entity. These figures do not include $2,007,600 of rev. bonds issued by former City of N. Y. and outstanding as at Jan. 1, 1898, redeemable from its tax levy of 1897; nor does table include $4,060,000 of rev. bonds or certificates of indebtedness issued by former City of Bkln. and outstanding as at Jan. 1, 1898, but payable from its tax levy of year 1898.

NEW YORK CITY DOCK DEPT. BONDS.

The revenues realized by the City from the operation of the Dock Department are sufficient to meet all administration, operation and maintenance expenses, together with interest and amortization charges on nearly $70,000,000 ($69,943,053) of Dock Bonds, which in consequence have been exempted from the constitutional debt of the City by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in accordance with State constitution.

NATIONAL AND STATE INDEBTEDNESS.

The following is from the latest reports on financial statistics of States and cities issued by the Bureau of the Census:

The total debt of the 48 State Governments on June 30, 1916, amounted to $603,343,226. Of this total, $597,868,191 represented funded debt and $5,475,035, floating and current debt.

As an offsetting item against this total debt the 48 States reported $91,357,950 in sinking fund assets, leaving their gross debt (less sinking fund assets) $511,985,276. The total per capita gross debt for the 48 States amounted to $6.03 on June 30, 1916.

The net debt consists of the fund and floating debt, less sinking fund assets. The net debt of the 48 States amounted to $459,661,269, and the per capita was $4.59. In contrast, the Natl. net debt amounted to $989,219,622 and the per capita was $9.77, for the same year. For the 146 cities having a population of over 30,000 in 1903 and in 1916, the net debt amounted to $2,352,907,832, and the per capita was $79.56.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

The next presidential election will take place on Tuesday, Nov. 2, 1920.

The Pres. and Vice-Pres. of U. S. are chosen by officials (in each State) termed "electors," who are, under existing State laws, chosen by the qualified voters thereof by ballot on a general State ticket on 1st Tu. next succeeding 1st Mon. in Nov. in every 4th year preceding year in which presidential term expires.

The electors equal whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in Congress. (Const., Art. II, Sec. 1.)

The governors of States are required to send certificate as to ascertainment of electors to Sec. of State of U. S., who publishes in such newspaper as he shall designate such certificate in full; and at 1st meeting of Congress thereafter he transmits to the 2 Houses of Congress copies of each and every such certificate received theretofore at the State Dept. (Act of Congress, Feb. 3, 1887.)

The electors of each State meet on 2d Mon. in Jan. next following appointment, at such place as the State Legislature may direct, and cast their votes.

The electors sign 2 certificates of all votes given by them, each of which certificates must contain 2 distinct lists, one of the votes for Pres., the other for Vice-Pres.; lists to be sealed and sent forthwith to Pres. of U. S. Senate, at the seat of Government, 1 by mail and 1 by messenger, accompanied by a certificate (triplicate) duly executed by governor of respective State, which shall set forth names of electors and no. and div. of votes cast. (Const'nal Amend. XII, and Act of Congress, Feb. 3, 1887; also Const., Art. II, Sec. 3.)

Counting of Votes.

Congress shall be in session on 2d Wed. in Feb., succeeding every meeting of electors. The Senate and House of Representatives shall meet in Hall of House at 1 o'clock p.m. on that day and the Pres. of Senate shall be their presiding officer. That at such joint meeting of the 2 Houses seats shall be provided as follows: For Pres. of Senate, the Speaker's chair; for the Speaker, immediately upon left; the Senators in body of Hall upon right of the presiding officer; for Representatives, in the body of Hall not provided for Senators; for tellers, Sec. of Senate, and Clerk of House of Representatives, at Clerk's desk; for other officers of 2 Houses, in front of Clerk's desk and upon each side of Speaker's platform. Such joint meeting shall not be dissolved until count of electoral votes shall be completed and result declared. Two tellers shall be previously appointed on part of Senate and 2 on part of House, to whom shall be handed, as they are opened by Pres. of Senate, all certificates and papers purporting to be certificates of electoral votes, which certificates and papers shall be opened and acted upon in alphabetical order of States; and said tellers, having then read the same in presence of 2 Houses, shall make a list of votes as they shall appear from said certificates; and votes having been ascertained and counted, result of same shall be delivered to Pres. of Senate, who shall thereupon announce state of vote, which announcement shall be deemed a sufficient declaration of persons, if any, elected Pres. and Vice-Pres. of U. S., and, together with list of votes, be entered on journals of 2 Houses; and if no person have such majority, then from persons having highest numbers, not exceeding 3 on list of those voted for as Pres. House of Rep. shall choose immediately, by ballot, the Pres. But in choosing Pres. votes shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having 1 vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of States, and a majority of all States shall be necessary to choice. And if no person have a majority of votes for Vice-Pres., then from 2 highest numbers on list the Senate shall choose Vice-Pres.; a quorum for purpose shall consist of two-thirds of whole number of Senators, and a majority of whole number shall be necessary to a choice. (Act of Congress, Feb. 3, 1887, and Amend. XII, Const. For procedure on objections, incorrect returns, etc., see Secs. 4 to 7, Act of Feb. 3, 1887, and Const'nal Amend. XII.)

Before the 12th amend. to the Const. was declared in force (Sept. 25, 1804), each elector voted (under original clause of Const., Art. II, Sec. 1, Par. 3) for 2 candidates for Pres.; the candidate having greatest number of electoral votes (if a majority of whole) became Pres. and one having next greatest number Vice-Pres.

The acts of Congress executory of electoral system are as follows: The resolve of Congress.

Sept. 13, 1788 (Journals of Congress, Vol. 4, 1823 Ed., 866), provided for appointing electors and fixed day they should assemble in their respective States and vote for a Pres.; act of March 1, 1792 (1 Stat., 239), provided for election of Pres. and Vice-Pres. and temporary filling of vacancies; act of March 26, 1804 (2 Stat., 255), supplementary provision for election of Pres. and Vice-Pres. and temporary filling of vacancies; act of Jan. 23, 1845 (5 Stat., 721), estbl'd. uniform time for electors to vote for Pres. and Vice-Pres.; joint resolution of Feb. 8, 1865 (13 Stat., 567), declaring certain States not entitled to representation in Electoral College; joint resolution of July 20, 1868 (15 Stat., 257), excl'd. from Electoral College votes of States lately in rebellion which shall not have been reorganized; act of May 23, 1873 (17 Stat., 157), fixes uniform time for holding elections for electors of Pres. and Vice-Pres.; act of Jan. 29, 1877 (19 Stat., 227), created an electoral comm'n. for counting votes for Pres. and Vice-Pres. for term commencing March 4, 1877; act of Feb. 3, 1887 (24 Stat., 373), fixes day for meeting of electors, and provides for counting of votes for Pres. and Vice-Pres., and the decision of questions arising thereon; supplementary act of Oct. 19, 1888 (25 Stat., 613), provides for sending special mess. for any certifi. of electoral votes not duly received.

In 1916, while the election was in doubt, Senator Shafroth of Col. introduced a resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution, providing for the election of President and Vice-Pres. without the intervention of the Electoral College. No action was taken, however, and the movement for the abolishment of the Electoral College subsided.

Organization of Political Parties Which Have Elected Presidents.

1. Federal, 1787-1816—Formed from Strong Government, or Const'nal Party.

2. Dem.-Rep., 1792-1828—Formed from Anti-Federal (1787-1793), the Rep., or Jefferson Party (1791-1793), and Dem. or sympathizers with French Revolutionists (1791-1793).

3. Coalition, 1825—Formed from union of supporters of H. Clay, with those of J. Q. Adams.

4. Democratic, 1828—Dem.-Rep. Party divided into 4 parts in campaign of 1824, and never reappeared again in a natl. contest. The Dem. and Natl.-Rep. Parties were constructed out of its ruins and perfected organizations.

5. Whigs, 1834-1854—Formed from union of Natl.-Reps., the Nullifiers, extreme States' Rights men, Anti-Masons and personal opponents of Pres. Jackson.

6. Republican, 1854—Formed from greater part of Northern Whigs, Free-Soilers—both of Dem. and Whig antecedents—Anti-Nebraska Dem. and anti-slavery men of Dem. Party—on issues of slave question.

Organization of Minor Parties Which Have Chosen Electors.

7. Opposition, 1820—One elector in N. H. voted against his party candidate.

8. Natl.-Rep., 1825-1834—Formed from union of Adams and Clay factions.

9. Independent, 1832—So. Carolina chose electors pledged to candidates of her own. In 1872 one "Liberal Rep." elector in Mo. voted for an Indept.—David Davis.

10. Anti-Masonic, 1826-1834—Formed from opponents of Freemasonry.

11. American (Know-Nothing), 1852-1860—Formed from members of other parties dissatisfied with influx and power of foreign element.

12. Breckinridge Democrats, 1860—Formed from Southern Dem. Their platform avowed a purpose to carry slavery into Territories.

13. Const'nal Union, 1860—Formed from relics of Whigs and Know-Nothings and declaring their political principles to be "The Constitution of country, union of States and enforcement of laws."

14. People's (Populist), 1891—Legitimate successor of following parties: Greenback, 1874; became Natl. Greenback, 1878; became Union Labor, 1887. These various elements uniting with "Farmers' Alliance" formed People's, or Populist, Party.

The Electoral College.

ELECTORAL VOTES—1789-1852.

1789—Previous to 1804 each elector voted for 2 candidates for President. The one who received the largest number of votes was declared President, and the one with the next largest number Vice-Pres. The electoral votes for the 1st Pres. of the U. S. were: George Washington, 69; John Adams of Mass., 34; John Jay of N. Y., 9; R. H. Harrison of Md., 6; John Rutledge of S. C., 6; John Hancock of Mass., 4; George Clinton of N. Y., 3; Samuel Huntington of Conn., 2; John Milton of Ga., 2; James Armstrong of Ga., Benjamin Lincoln of Mass. and Edward Telfair of Ga., 1 vote each. Vacancies (votes not cast), 4. George Washington was chosen Pres. and John Adams, Vice-Pres.

1792—George Washington, Federalist, received 132 votes; John Adams, Fed., 77; George Clinton of N. Y., Rep., 50; Thomas Jefferson of Va., Rep., 4; Aaron Burr of N. Y., Rep., 1 vote. Vacancies, 3. George Washington chosen Pres. and John Adams, Vice-P.

1796—John Adams, Fed., 71; Thomas Jefferson, Rep., 68; Thomas Pinckney of S. C., Fed., 59; Aaron Burr of N. Y., Rep., 30; Samuel Adams of Mass., Rep., 15; Oliver Ellsworth of Conn., Ind., 11; George Clinton of N. Y., Rep., 7; John Jay of N. Y., Fed., 5; James Iredell of N. C., Fed., 3; George Washington of Va., John Henry of Md. and S. Johnson of N. C., all Federalists, 2 votes each; C. C. Pinckney of S. C., Fed., 1 vote. John Adams chosen Pres. and Thomas Jefferson, V.-P.

1800—Thomas Jefferson, Rep., 73; Aaron Burr, Rep., 73; John Adams, Fed., 65; C. C. Pinckney, Fed., 64; John Jay, Fed., 1 vote. There being a tie vote for Jefferson and Burr, the choice devolved upon House of Representatives. Jefferson received votes of 10 States, which, being the largest vote cast for a candidate, elected him Pres. Burr received votes of 4 States and was elected V.-P. There were 2 blank votes.

1804—The Constitution of the U. S. having been amended, the electors at this election voted for a Pres. and a V.-P., instead of for 2 candidates for Pres. The result was as follows: For Pres., Thomas Jefferson, Rep., 162; C. C. Pinckney, Fed., 14. For V.-P., George Clinton, Rep., 162; Rufus King of N. Y., Fed., 14. Jefferson chosen Pres. and Clinton, V.-P.

1808—For Pres., James Madison of Va., Rep., 122; C. C. Pinckney of S. C., Fed., 47; George Clinton of N. Y., Rep., 6. For V.-P., George Clinton, Rep., 113; Rufus King of N. ARMY CAMPS AND CANTONMENTS.

Sixteen camps, commonly known as cantonments, were constructed in various parts of the U. S. at points selected by the War Dept. for the training of the selective draft or Natl. Army. The camps were carefully laid out by experienced town planners and engineers to give best results considering all viewpoints.

A typical cantonment city houses 40,000 men, 150 men to each barrack bldg., which provides 500 cubic ft. of air space per man. Such a cantonment complete contains between 1,000 and 1,200 bldgs. and covers about 2,000 acres. In addition, each cantonment has a rifle range, drill, parade and maneuver grounds or about 2,000 acres. In many cases all or a large part of the entire site had to be cleared of woods and stumps. The various military units were located on principal or primary roads—a regiment being treated as a primary unit. About 25 miles of roads were constructed at each cantonment, and sewers, water supply, lighting facilities and other improvements installed.

An infantry regt. requires 22 barrack bldgs., 6 for officers' quarters, 2 storehouses, 1 infirmary bldg., 28 lavatories, with hot and cold shower baths, or a total of 59 bldgs. In addition to the bldgs. necessary for the regimental unit, each cantonment has bldgs. for divisional hqtrs., quartermaster depots, laundry receiving and distributing stations, base hospitals having 1,000 beds, post exchanges and other bldgs. for general use.

At several of the cantonments remount stations have been provided, some of them having a capacity to maintain 12,000 horses.

(See index, "Statistics of Army Camps.")

NEW YORK CITY'S ASSESSMENT BONDS.

If the total interest on the assessment bonds issued by the City payable from assessments levied against property presumably benefited by the improvements made and to finance which these assessment bonds were issued, was payable and the entire principal was redeemable from the proceeds of special assessments laid for that purpose, it would mean that all of these bonds were also fully self-carrying; but as the City in many cases has to assume a certain percentage of the assessments levied for certain improvements made, it follows that only a proportion of these assessment bonds is payable principal and interest from the proceeds of assessments laid for that purpose. A careful estimate of the proportion of assessment bonds on which interest and principal may ultimately require to be provided for by the City would place such as not exceeding 15 per cent. of the total amount thereof.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE IN THE UNITED STATES.

In the United States women now possess suffrage on equal terms with men in 13 States and Territories. They are as follows, with date of inception: Wyoming, 1869; Colorado, 1893; Utah, 1896; Idaho, 1896; Washington, 1910; California, 1911; Oregon, Arizona and Kansas, 1912; Alaska, 1913; Montana and Nevada, 1914; New York, 1917.

Following table gives some data on Suffrage: Eighty yrs. ago women could not vote anywhere, except to a very limited extent in Sweden, and in a few other places in the old world.

1838—Kentucky, school suffrage to widows with children of school age.

1861—Kansas, school suffrage.

1869—Wyoming, full suffrage.

1875—Michigan, Minnesota, school suffrage.

1876—Colorado, school suffrage.

1876—New Hampshire, Oregon, school suffrage.

1879—Massachusetts, school suffrage.

1880—New York, Vermont, school suffrage.

1883—Nebraska, school suffrage.

1887—Kansas, municipal suffrage; North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Arizona and New Jersey, school suffrage; Montana, taxpaying suffrage.

1890—Oklahoma, school suffrage.

1891—Illinois, school suffrage.

1893—Connecticut, school suffrage; Colorado, full suffrage.

1894—Ohio, school suffrage; Iowa, bond suffrage.

1896—Utah, Idaho, full suffrage.

1898—Minnesota, library trustees; Delaware, school suffrage to taxpaying women; Louisiana, taxpaying suffrage.

1900—Wisconsin, school suffrage.

1901—New York, taxpaying suffrage, local taxation in all towns and villages of State.

1903—Kansas, bond suffrage.

1907—Oklahoma, new State continued school suffrage for women.

1908—Michigan women taxpayers to vote on questions of local taxation and granting of franchises.

1909—Ginter Park, Va., taxpaying women, a vote on all municipal questions.

1910—Washington, full suffrage; New Mexico, school suffrage; New York, women in all towns, villages and 3d-class cities vote on bonding propositions.

1911—California, full suffrage.

1912—Oregon, Arizona and Kansas, full suffrage.

1913—Illinois has presidential and municipal woman suffrage.

1914—Missouri, State vote opposed; Nebraska, opposed; Ohio, opposed; Nevada, Montana voted for suffrage.

1915—Woman suffrage amendments were submitted to voters in 1915 in N. J. (Oct. 19), and in Penn., N. Y. and Mass. (Nov. 2). It was defeated in all 4 States. The vote—1st figure against, 2d figure for: N. Y.,* 732,770, 544,457; N. J., 184,390, 133,282; Penn., 441,034, 385,348; Mass., 295,939, 162,492.

1916—June 5, Iowa voted no on woman suffrage amendment. Nov. 7, W. Va. voted about 2 to 1 against suffrage amendment. So. Dak. voted against suffrage 56,351, for 51,687.

1916—After sweeping the State in the primaries in Aug., Miss Jeanette Rankin was elected at the Nov. election as 1 of the 2 congressmen-at-large from State of Montana. She is 1st woman to be elected to Congress. Her term began Mar. 4 '17.

1916—The Dem., Rep., Prog., Soc. and Prohib. national platforms all contained suffrage planks.

1917—New York voted yes on suffrage by more than 100,000 majority.

1917—Maine voted no about 2 to 1.

1917—The legislatures of the States of R. I., Mich., Neb., No. Dak., O. and Ind. gave presidential suffrage to women. In Ind. it was taken away by a court decision. In Ohio it was sent to the voters on a referendum and taken away.

1917—Arkansas legislature gave to women vote in presidential primaries as well as municipal suffrage.

1917—North Dakota and Nebraska gave women municipal suffrage. Ohio, Florida and Tennessee gave municipal suffrage in some cities.

Suffrage Legislation.

When the Congress of the U. S. met on Dec. 6, 1915, the 1st measures introduced were proposed amendments to U. S. Constitution, abolishing sex as a qualification for voting. Representatives Mondell of Wyoming (Rep.), Raker of Calif. (Dem.) and London of N. Y. (Soc.) introduced identical amendments in House on Dec. 6; and on Dec. 7, Senator Sutherland of Utah (Rep.) introduced amendment for the Congressional Union, and was followed by Senator Thomas of Colorado (Dem.), who introduced the measure for the Natl. Amer. Woman Suffrage Assn. The 5 amendments were identical, being the Susan B. Anthony amendment. They were not voted on in either branch. To become law, this amendment must pass House and Senate by a two-thirds vote, and must then be ratified by legislatures of three-fourths of several States. If a State legislature votes "Yes," it cannot change its vote. If it votes "No," it may reconsider and thereafter vote "Yes."

This amendment was voted upon by 1914 Congress, receiving a majority of 1 in Senate, but not requisite two-thirds vote; the vote being, Senate 35 for, 34 against. House 174 for, 204 against.

Favorable report on the resolution providing for the Susan B. Anthony amendment was made formally to the Senate on Sept. 15, 1917, by Senator Jones, of N. M., as ch. of the Woman's Suffrage Comm. In the House of Rules Comm. reported a resolution favoring app. of a Woman Suffrage Comm. and on Sept. 24, 1917, by a vote of 181 to 107 the House voted to establish such a comm.

When the Congress convened in Dec., 1917, an effort was made by opponents of the measure to keep the resolution from the new Woman Suffrage Comm., but on Dec. 18, 1917, by 7 more than a % vote, the House sent the resolution to the comm., and the Rules Comm. agreed to bring it before the House for a vote on Jan. 10, '18.

PROHIBITION.

The Constitutional amendment for national prohibition was submitted on Dec. 18, 1917, by Congress to the States, for ratification or rejection within 7 years. The Senate completed Congressional action by accepting the resolution as passed Dec. 17, by the House, 47 to 8, without a roll call.

The amendment prohibits the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors of every description for beverage purposes, also their importation and exportation.

Gov. and Legislature for prohibition).

THE WORLD WAR IN 1917.

Many momentous changes in the World War took place during 1917 without bringing into sight an end of the conflict that began July 28, 1914. Everywhere, except on the Russian front, the struggle became intensified, while the entrance into the war of other nations, including the U. S., broadened the scope and gave new significance to the greatest of conflicts. In many respects the entrance of the U. S. into the war through the action of Congress on Apr. 6, was the most important event of the year. In its far-reaching effect upon the war and upon European civilization the Revolution in Russia which brought about the overthrow of Czar Nicholas II., on March 11, overshadows other developments and ranks as one of the most important events of the whole war.

Besides the U. S., Brazil, Cuba, Panama, Liberia, China and Siam have joined the Entente nations during the year, while Nicaragua, Hayti, Peru, Bolivia, Honduras, Guatemala, Costa Rica, Ecuador and Uruguay have severed diplomatic relations with the Central Empires. The Central League has gained no new allies. The new enemies of the Teutonic Alliance entered the war or broke relations with Germany as a result of the declaration of unrestricted submarine warfare which forced the U. S. into the fray. Following this declaration the submarine became one of the factors expected by the Central Empires to determine the outcome of the war. The havoc wrought by U-boats in the early months of intensified activity and the efforts to combat the new weapon gave the submarine a place in the year's struggle second only to military operations. There were 3 notable peace moves during the year. President Wilson, in an address to Congress on Jan. 22, outlined what he considered to be the basis for world peace. On Aug. 1, Pope Benedict addressed a peace proposal to all belligerents, which was answered for the Entente by President Wilson. The third peace move was inaugurated by the Russian revolutionists shortly after the overthrow of the Czar, but was not pushed until the Kerensky government was ousted by the Bolsheviks when definite steps were taken which brought about an armistice on the Eastern front on Dec. 3.

Operations on the Western Front.

As in 1916, the past year saw the principal fighting on the Western front. There the Germans have been on the defensive almost continuously and have suffered many serious defeats. After the failure at Verdun Germany lost the offensive in France and Flanders, and during the year the Teutons have been pushed back over most of their western front, losing heavily in men, guns and prisoners. When the Germans were still pounding at Verdun, the French and British launched the offensive which is now called the Battle of the Somme, in the summer of 1916. After great initial success the Anglo-French forces were finally brought to a standstill by the condition of the terrain, rendered impassable by the weather. The fighting ceased in Oct. or Nov., leaving the Germans still in possession of Bapaume and Peronne, the immediate objectives of the British and French, respectively. The Allies had, however, driven their way through the main German defenses before Albert and early in Feb. the Germans began the great retreat that wiped out the famous Noyon salient and restored about 1,200 sq. miles of territory to France. The first withdrawals were on the Ancre brook and Grandcourt was the first village to be evacuated.

The Germans fell back rapidly, giving up their old line from near Arras to Soissons. The retreat was successfully carried out, without serious losses, and the evacuated territory was laid waste in such a manner as to delay the French and British in reaching the new German lines, running from south of Laon to a point near Arras, where they joined the old German defenses. This, however, did not long delay Allied attacks elsewhere, for both the British and the French soon began operations that had for their purpose the turning of the new position, known as the Hindenburg line. The Allies entered Grandcourt on Feb. 6, and Peronne on March 18. On April 9, the Battle of Arras began with the taking of Vimy Ridge by British troops under General E. H. H. Allenby. This was the greatest Allied victory up to that time on the western front. General Allenby, in 4 days, swept over Vimy Ridge from end to end and advanced 4 miles on both sides of the Scarpe River, reaching as far as Monchy. In the first rush the British took 20,000 prisoners and 257 guns.

The purpose of the British in this operation was to break the German line, where the Hindenburg line joined the old line. In this General Allenby succeeded, although he did not succeed in the larger purpose of turning the new enemy positions. In the fighting that followed in this region the Germans developed and employed a new method of defense. Instead of relying on permanent fortified lines, the Teutons organized irregular defenses by placing small detachments in shell holes, farmhouses and behind other scattered obstacles. These forces, armed with machine guns, made poor targets for the artillery and were able to beat off infantry attacks. Similar tactics were later employed in Flanders but with less success. The Battle of Arras was followed by desperate fighting in this section which resulted in slight advances for the British but did not seriously menace the Hindenburg line.

Meanwhile the French, under Gen. Nivelle, had undertaken an offensive on the Aisne river which had an object similar to that of the British. The French purpose was to break the German line at the point near Laon where the new and old lines hinged and created a new salient comparable to that which had existed at Noyon. Gen. Nivelle took 29,000 prisoners and some guns, but his advance was much more limited and his tactics of attacking with infantry without adequate artillery preparation cost him heavily. As a result of the heavy French losses Gen. Nivelle was replaced and Gen. Petain became commander-in-chief of the French armies.

On June 7, Gen. Sir Herbert Charles Onslow Plumer, in command of the British army around Ypres, began the Flanders campaign by blowing up Messines Ridge. This operation, the most successful of its kind, wiped out a dangerous high-ground salient southeast of Ypres, drove the Germans out of Messines and Wytschaete and captured 7,000 prisoners and 25 guns. This was but the beginning of the fighting in Flanders, which extended from Dixmude nearly to Armentieres, and advanced the British along the Passchendaele Ridge, giving them the domination of German lines of communications between Roulers and Menin and threatened to envelope Lille and force a German retirement on the Belgian coast which would cause the loss of the submarine and air bases of Ostend and Zeebrugge. The French, operating on the British left, advanced over the Yser Canal and partly encircled Houthulst Forest. In these operations the Allies took some 25,000 prisoners.

The Flanders campaign was in progress, drawing scores of German divisions into that area, when General Petain, on Oct. 23, struck a quick, effective blow at the Germans on the Allette River, took nearly 10,000 prisoners, forced the Germans across the Allette and completely cleared the Chemin des Dames of the enemy. In several well-directed thrusts the French also recaptured practically all the ground around Verdun remaining in German hands, restoring conditions virtually as they were in this sector before the German offensive against Verdun was begun in Feb. 1916. Except for isolated attacks delivered here and there, the Germans remained on the defensive on the west. The only success scored until the last month of the year was in a brief offensive on the Belgian coast during the summer when an attack was made in the sand dune country between Neuport and the sea which drove the British back to the Yser and netted the Germans 2,000 prisoners.

Hindenburg Line Smashed.

The greatest Allied success, in territory gained, came as the result of an attack launched by Gen. Sir Julian Hedworth George Byng on Nov. 19, against the famous Hindenburg line in front of Cambrai. This attack and the battle that developed were unique. Without the slightest warning in the form of the customary artillery bombardment. Gen. Byng smashed out over a front extending from near St. Quentin to the Scarpe River, a distance of about 32 miles. This part of the Hindenburg line was defended by the 2d German Army of about 135,000 men. Gen. Byng commanded the 3d British Army. The feature of the attack was the extensive use of tanks. Hundreds of these were used in the advance over No Man's Land, where they broke through the barbed wire entanglements and led the way for infantry and cavalry. German front line positions were stormed over the entire line of attack and for a distance of 10 miles immediately before Cambrai the entire Hindenburg line was smashed. Pouring through the opening, the British tanks, cavalry and infantry penetrated the German territory to a depth of 6 miles or more on a 10 mile front, taking numerous towns and fortified positions. Ten thousand prisoners were taken, along with 138 guns of heavy calibre. The situation created by the surprising victory of the British left the Germans no choice but to counter attack so soon as reserves could be brought up for the purpose. It was several days before this could be done and it was not until Nov. 30 that a really formidable counter move was made. Then the Germans delivered their most pretentious effort of the year on the western front. Throwing large bodies of troops against the new British positions at the points where the great gap in the Hindenburg line had been made, they drove back the British line for a distance of a couple of miles, narrowing the salient and endangering the British forces holding the more advanced positions. This compelled a British withdrawal from these positions and cost the British 6,000 prisoners. The Germans also claimed the capture of 100 guns, in the initial counter offensive.

On the Eastern Battle Front.

Germany's campaign against Rumania closed operations on the eastern front in 1916. Except for minor engagements on the Rumanian lines there was little activity in this theater for several months. When the Russian Revolution took place it seemed to be a part of German policy not to attack the Russians, the hope of a separate peace then looming large in the German plans. This unofficial armistice lasted until well into the summer, when the Germans by a sudden stroke surprised the Russians on the Stokhod River and captured 10,000 prisoners. By this time then Minister of War Kerensky had partly reorganized the Russian armies and on July 1, he personally led an attack which served to launch a promising offensive against the Austro-Germans in Galicia. Gen. Brusiloff was then commander-in-chief, and Gen. Korniloff was in command of the attacking force. Within a few weeks the Russians advanced rapidly toward Lemberg. Halicz fell and it seemed for a time that Russia would duplicate the success of Gen. Brusiloff in the great drive of the year before. Nearly 40,000 prisoners were taken in a few weeks. The hope was short-lived, for although the Russians made good progress and had actually broken the enemy line over a wide front, certain units in the armies operating between Tarnopol and Lemberg refused to go on with the offensive and either surrendered or retreated in the face of the enemy. This created a dangerous situation for Gen. Korniloff, advancing toward Lemberg from the southeast, and forced him to abandon his gains. Further demoralization in the Russian ranks forced a confused retreat which caused the surrender of Tarnopol on July 24. Practically all of Bukowina and all of Galicia that had been captured were relinquished and the Russians fell back some 50 miles in Podolia Province. Excepting a brief Rumanian offensive begun on July 28, there was comparatively little activity on the eastern front after the Russian collapse until Aug. 21, when the Germans began an offensive against Riga. They met with but slight resistance and Riga was evacuated by the Russians on Sept. 2. This Russian retreat took them back some hundred miles from the coast of Riga Gulf to the Dvina below Jacobstadt, which was taken by the invaders on Sept. 22. The Russians later pushed back the Germans in the Riga section slightly, but on Oct. 13 the Germans landed troops on Oesel and Dago Islands in the Gulf of Riga, and after a short campaign, carried on by large naval forces and marines, occupied the whole of these islands as well as Moon Island. A part of the Russian fleet was trapped in Moon Sound but escaped. The battleship Slava and a Russian torpedo boat were sunk and 2 German torpedo boats were reported sunk and 2 damaged in these operations. The Germans later attempted to cross to the mainland of Esthonia, but were frustrated although the civilian population evacuated Revel and the Russian government decided to move to Moscow in the face of what appeared to be a determined offensive against Petrograd. It soon became clear that the Germans had no such intention, for all aggressive moves were abandoned against Russia and with the overthrow of the Kerensky Provisional Government all effort was directed toward securing an armistice and peace from the radicals in power.

Italian Victories and Defeat.

Meanwhile German troops, in conjunction with those of Austria-Hungary, began one of the most dramatic and successful campaigns of the war on the Italian front. At the beginning of 1917, Italy held 1,200 sq. miles of Austrian territory, had taken 85,000 prisoners, held Gorizia and seemed stronger than when she entered the war. In May the Italians launched a drive in the Plava section which netted them over 23,000 prisoners. In counter attacks before the month was out the Austrians claimed 16,000 prisoners. In June the Italians again took the offensive, first in the Trentino and then on the Isonzo. Fighting was almost continuous, and by Aug. 20, the Italians claimed more than 20,000 additional prisoners and 60 guns. The Austrians claimed another 16,000 in prisoners. Much more determined fighting followed, the Italians first advancing across the Carso Plateau, where they came within 12 miles of Trieste. One Austrian stronghold after another fell to the armies of Gen. Cadorna and a decisive victory seemed assured. While the Austrians were retreating on the Carso, the Italians stormed Monte Santo and reached the top of Monte San Gabriele, finally advancing to the Bainsizza Plateau, when the road to Laibach and Vienna seemed open to them. By Oct. 9, the Italians were announcing that they were ready to go on with their victorious campaign if the Allies would furnish them with certain necessary supplies. The Italians were justified in their assumption that they were confronting an all but beaten Austria, but they reckoned without Germany. Realizing Austria's plight, Germany laid plans to join in a campaign calculated to save Austria from defeat and, if possible, put Italy out of the war. With Austrian troops drawn from the now inactive Russian front, and picked German divisions from the west, a terrific attack was launched against the Isonzo lines of General Cadorna.

The Austro-German offensive began on Oct. 21 with a heavy bombardment of the Italian lines in the Plezzo-Tolmino sector. Heavy German guns and quantities of gas were used, and the Teutons broke through the lines they had smashed, crossed the Isonzo around Monte Santa Maria and Monte Santa Lucia and converged in a movement toward Caporetto. This cut off the Italians in the Monte Nero region and opened a passage down the Natisone and Judrio valleys, threatening in turn the Italian Second Army on the Bainsizza Plateau, and around Gorizia, and the Third Army, operating on the Carso. To save these forces a general Italian retreat began. Gorizia was given up and on Oct. 28 the invaders took Cividale. A strong resistance on the part of the Italians along the Vippacco saved the Third Italian Army from the Carso and the Italians reached the Tagliamento River, after losing 130,000 men and 1,500 guns. Meantime the Fourth Italian Army, occupying positions in the Carnic Alps, became exposed by the Teuton advance and had to give way, first at Ploeken Pass and then all along the mountainous line. By Nov. 8, the invaders claimed over 200,000 prisoners and 2,300 guns, and were beginning to cross the Tagliamento. The Italians fell back rapidly, first to the Livenza which offered little resistance, and then to the Piave River. Here they organized their forces and prepared to make a stand. A first move was the cutting of the dykes in the lowlands of Venetia which flooded the whole area between the Piave and the Sile and put a watery barrier between the invaders and Venice. Farther north, the Teutons were held on the east bank of the Piave except for small forces that crossed and were pinned to the banks of the river. Meanwhile, the Teutons began what amounted almost to a new offensive. This time they came down through the Trentino, in an effort to break through the Italian positions defending the Asiago Plateau and reach the plains which would put them on the flank of the Piave line and many miles behind the Italians. Here the Italian resistance began to stiffen. An inter-allied council was hastily assembled, and French and British troops began to arrive in Italy. General Cadorna was relieved of command of the Italian forces and became Italy's representative on an inter-allied general war staff that included General Foch, of France, and General Sir Henry Hughes Wilson of the British General Staff. General Diaz became commander-in-chief of the Italian forces. General Plumer was placed in command of the British forces in Italy and General Fayolle commanded the French army, said to be the Eleventh, which went to this front. General Foch was later recalled by Premier Clemenceau and his place on the inter-allied staff was taken by Gen. Maxime Weygand. The fighting on the Asiago front, between the Piave and the Brenta, continued to grow in intensity, the Italians offering stubborn resistance. With French and British veterans in the front lines, the Italian morale showed marked improvement and despite the utmost efforts the way was barred to the invaders up to the last week of 1917, although the attacks continued.

The Austro-German offensive was accompanied by a great peace campaign calculated to weaken Italian resistance. All manner of propaganda was employed, and it was charged by the Italian officials that certain units on the Plezzo front surrendered without fighting. It was also charged that the Socialists and Catholic influences were responsible for undermining the fighting strength of the Italians. The Vatican officially denied that Catholic influence was so used. Many blunders were also charged to the Italian high command. However, with the actual invasion of Italy a new government was formed and all parties rallied to its support, while the prompt help of France and Great Britain and the declaration of war against Austria-Hungary by the United States greatly strengthened the military and civil forces in Italy and led to a magnificent defense against the invaders.

Bagdad and Jerusalem Captured.

Two notable events of the year were the capture by the British of Bagdad and Jerusalem in campaigns of striking similarity. After the surrender of Gen. Townshend at Kut-el-Amara in April, 1916, after a disastrous attempt to take Bagdad, the British organized a new Mesopotamian expedition, headed by Gen. Sir Frederick Stanley Maude, which began operations with an advance up the Tigris on Dec. 13, 1916. The new force consisted of 120,000 men with a large number of Indian workers, and numerous craft to navigate the Tigris. Every phase of the campaign was thoroughly organized. A railroad was built on the banks of the Tigris from the Persian Gulf to near Kut-el-Amara, and later run up to Bagdad itself. The British first established themselves at the Shatt-al-Bai Canal, near Kut. Gen. Maude then cleared the right bank of the Tigris of Turks. On Feb. 23 the British launched a frontal attack against the enemy positions at Sanna-i-Yat, 15 miles below Kut on the left bank of the river, and while the Turks were defending themselves there, other British detachments crossed the river at the Shumran bend, about 6 miles above Kut, thus putting themselves in the Turkish rear. This forced the Turks to retreat along the river, giving up Kut and falling back on Bagdad. Then followed a rapid advance by the British, who reached the Diala river, 8 miles from Bagdad, on March 7. All Turkish resistance was overcome, and by forced marching infantry came up and defeated the enemy, forced a crossing of the Tigris and entered Bagdad on March 11. Four days later British cavalry was 30 miles above Bagdad. After the victory below Kut, General Maude pursued the Turks 110 miles in 15 days, over most difficult country and crossed the Tigris three times. Turkish losses were estimated at 20,000 in killed and wounded and 7,000 prisoners, while half of the Turkish artillery was captured or destroyed. The British gunboat Firefly was recovered and large stores of supplies of various kind taken. The British then pushed on up the Tigris to Samarra, finally reaching Tekrit, 100 miles north of Bagdad.

The collapse of the Russian campaign in Asia Minor after the Russian revolution, brought to a halt a campaign that promised to clear the whole of Mesopotamia of Turks by a converging movement against Mosul from south, north and east. When the Russian columns from Persia and from Armenia halted, Gen. Maude was forced to abandon his aggressive operations and prepare for a defense of his gains. He did not, however, wait for enemy attacks. Striking out up the Diala River he drove the Turks back to safe distances and by surprise attacks on advanced positions frustrated all attempts to reach his main lines. In the same way, General Maude surprised a Turkish force of 4,000, concentrating for an attack from Ramadiah, on the Euphrates, captured the whole army, including the General and his staff. The tremendous military and moral effect of the loss of Bagdad led the Turks to call on Germany for help and for the last 6 months of the year Field Marshal von Falkenhayn was reported at Aleppo organizing a campaign to retake the city. Gen. Maude, hero of Bagdad, died in Nov. He was succeeded by Gen. Maxwell.

The Palestine Campaign.

While the British were moving up the Tigris, another British force was carrying on a parallel campaign on the Mediterranean coast, first retrieving ground lost to the German-led Turks, then pushing up the coast from Egypt into Palestine. This campaign, which resulted in the capture of Jerusalem on Dec. 10, began with a defense of the Suez Canal. An attempt to reach the canal and invade Egypt was defeated in 1914, and in the fall of 1915. The Turks were driven back to El-Arish, on the coast, about 85 miles east of Suez. In Dec., 1916, the British stormed El-Arish and followed up this success by inflicting a serious defeat on the Turks at Maghdabah, 60 miles inland. This cleared Egypt of the enemy and carried the British into Palestine. On March 7, 1917, the British had taken El Khulil (ancient Hebron), 15 miles south of Jerusalem, but were subsequently forced to fall back and adopt different tactics. An advance up the coast was halted before Gaza. There the British received a serious setback. In two engagements they lost heavily and were thrown back. Gen. Murray, who had taken command, succeeded Gen. Maxwell, was recalled to London, and Gen. Sir Edmund Henry Allenby, formerly commander of the British Third Army in the Battle of Arras, was made head of the expedition. Early in Nov. Beer-sheba was taken, with 1,800 prisoners. Within a few weeks Gaza had fallen and in a swift advance up the coast Jaffa was captured. This was followed by a gradual encircling movement that finally surrounded the Holy City and caused its surrender. The Turks lost 10,000 men in the fighting that immediately preceded the fall of Jerusalem. At the close of the year, the British were resuming their advance toward Damascus.

In Macedonia and Other Fields.

There has been comparatively little activity in Macedonia during the year. After the capture of Monastir, the later part of 1916, fighting was sporadic. French troops occupied Ojani and reached Vestini on Feb. 8, and the Teutons started a short-lived offensive at Cerna bend 5 days later. On Feb. 22 the Italians cut Teutonic communications with Greece by completing the line across Albania, which was maintained. During March and April the French and British made slight advances and took prisoners north of Monastir and east of Lake Doiran. Teuton troops made minor gains west of Vardar Heights early in May, while the British advanced on the Struma front. There was another lull during the mid-summer, and on Oct. 22 the Teutons took high positions from the French, and the British took four towns from the Bulgarians on the northeastern shore of Lake Tchinov.

The most important development in the Balkans during the year was the abdication of King Constantine of Greece, on June 12. This ended a long period during which Pro-German influences in Greece aided the Teutons and menaced Allied forces at Saloniki. With the forced abdication of Constantine, Eleutherios Venezelos returned to power in Athens, and Greece became formally associated with the Entente in the war against the Central Powers. A reorganization of the Greek army was begun and certain Venezelos forces took their places on the Allied front in Macedonia and began fighting for the Allies. Constantine went to Switzerland, and the throne passed to his second son, Alexander, who took office with the understanding that henceforth Greece is to be in fact a Constitutional Monarchy. In December Gen. Sarrail was succeeded by Gen. Guillaumat as head of the Allied forces in Macedonia.

During the latter part of 1917, British forces completed the clearing of the last German colonies in South Africa of Germans, the single isolated force of Germans still fighting being driven over the border into Portuguese territory.

Only minor naval engagements took place during the year, although there were many clashes between small naval forces. The most important action in which the German Fleet took part was the land and sea campaign against the Russian islands in the Gulf of Riga (see eastern front). In Jan. a German raider sank or captured 25 allied ships, including the Yarrowdale, whose crew was taken to Germany and figured in a controversy over the release of American members. The British battleship Cornwallis, the Italian battleship Regina Margherita, and the British auxiliary cruiser Laurentic were sunk during Jan. The French warship Danton was sunk in the Mediterranean on March 19 by submarine. The German raider Moewe returned to Germany after a second cruise on March 22, claiming that she captured 27 vessels. The British light cruiser Dartmouth was torpedoed and an Italian destroyer and fourteen mine sweepers were lost in a raid in the Adriatic during May. There were many raids in which small ships were lost. Two German raiders sank 9 Scandinavian vessels and two British convoying destroyers on Oct. 17, in the North Sea, killing 150 persons, most of them neutral seamen. This feat was duplicated, except in the wanton destruction of neutral lives, by British light forces in the Cattagat on Nov. 3, when the German auxiliary cruiser Marie of Flensburg and ten German patrol vessels were sent to the bottom. In other engagements in the war zone, Germany lost several torpedo boats, as did the British. The first naval loss of the United States was the Jacob Jones, a U. S. destroyer, sunk by submarine on Dec. 6, with the loss of 69 officers and men. British naval forces have repeatedly bombarded Ostend and Zeebrugge, on the Belgian coast, and with other Allied vessels took part in shelling Austrian positions on the Carso during the Italian advance. Naval forces also participated in the shelling of Austrians on the Piave river, where Venice was threatened. During the summer mutinies of a serious nature were reported in both the German and Austrian navies, but the full story was never published. Japan, during the year, joined the Allies in patrolling the Mediterranean and did effective work.

Submarine Warfare.

Submarine warfare, besides causing this country to enter the war, played a most important part in the year's conflict. The operations of Germany's submarine fleet date back to the early days of the war when three British cruisers were sunk in a single attack. With the declaration of war zones, Germany began U-boat warfare against merchant shipping in earnest. In Dec., 1916, some 400,000 tons of shipping were destroyed. Germany was, however, pledged to respect American ships and gave some consideration to other neutral vessels. On Jan. 31, Germany announced her intention to prosecute unrestricted submarine warfare against all vessels entering waters surrounding enemy countries. She immediately began what amounted to ruthless warfare against the shipping of the world. Submarines have sunk, all told, some 1,000 neutral vessels. The campaign of frightfulness was extended to include hospital and Belgian relief ships, and the slaughter of non-combatants increased so far as possible. Records are not available, giving actual figures for all ships sunk. Many have been sent down, without warning and "without leaving a trace." The only figures that give the approximate losses are those issued by the British Admiralty from week to week. These figures are as follows:

As the table shows, April was by far the worst month of the year. The figures fluctuated greatly but never again reached such a plane. The best single week was that of Nov. 1, when only one large vessel and six smaller craft were destroyed. Losses were heavier in Dec., but not so great as the year before. With the inauguration of unrestricted U-boat warfare, counter measures were adopted. The entrance of the U. S. into the war made it possible for the Entente Allies to do more effective patrol work, and a system of convoys placed 90 per cent. of the Allied shipping under the protection of naval vessels. The arming of merchantmen also played a part in fighting undersea craft, forcing them to rely upon torpedoes fired from below the surface. Depth bombs, nets and other devices were employed, but the most effective weapon used during the year was the destroyer. No accurate estimate can be made of the submarines destroyed or captured, but that Germany lost a large percentage of her fleet of U-boats is certain. In summarizing the results of Germany's submarine warfare it is necessary to recall that Germany's avowed purpose in establishing a submarine "blockade" was to end the war quickly by forcing the economic collapse of England. It was stated by German authorities that 6 months would suffice to end the war. After a year the submarine, with all its destruction and frightfulness, brought no such end in sight. On the contrary, unrestricted submarine warfare brought the United States and several other powerful nations into the war against Germany. A large number of nations severed diplomatic relations with her, and all the nations in Europe remaining neutral made protests of one kind or another. The policy of forcing sailors into submarine service is said to have caused mutinies in the German Navy, and indirectly the consequences of submarine warfare forced a change of chancellors in Germany.

America's losses through submarines were comparatively light. Many small ships were sunk, but in transporting a large body of troops to Europe not a man was lost and only one transport, the Antilles, was sunk. The Antilles was torpedoed on Oct. 17, while homeward bound, with the loss of 67 men, including 16 soldiers. The patrol boat Alcedo was sunk on Nov. 6, and 21 men were killed. With the declaration of war against Germany all the German and Austrian ships interned in American ports were seized by this government. In all there were 94 German vessels aggregating 605,783 tons. When Austria-Hungary broke off relations with the U. S. on April 8, 14 Austrian vessels were seized, adding 67,817 to the total tonnage. In addition the Teuton tonnage in Brazilian, Cuban, Chinese and other ports has since been taken over and much of it is now in the service of the Allies. All of the ships taken in this country had been damaged to some extent. Many of them were so badly damaged by their crews that it took months to repair them, but it was announced officially that all the ships had been made seaworthy and were in service before the end of the year.

War in the Air.

Air craft played an ever increasingly important part in the war in 1917. With the marvelous development in flying machines and fighting tactics, the war in the air developed along many new lines. From observation work and patrol duty, battle planes became more valuable as fighting units in all important operations. They were used, particularly by the Allies, in low-flying attacks upon infantry, creating havoc behind the lines by the effective use of machine guns. They were also used extensively for bombing enemy positions and bases far behind the lines. Hundreds of machines were lost by both sides during the year. In the main, the Allies had a superiority in the air, although the German machines, by adopting defensive tactics, inflicted heavy damage on Allied air craft. During the year the Zeppelin gave way to squadrons of Gotha airplanes as a German form of air attack upon England. The use of Zeppelins declined for a long period after the fall of 1916, but in the autumn of 1917 a great Zeppelin air raid was carried out. It ended in the worst disaster on record, with the loss of at least 5 of the monsters of the air. It is definitely stated that Germany has lost 45 Zeppelins since 1914, or the bulk of the Zeppelin forces. The airplane raids over England proved much more effective than the Zeppelin raids and hundreds of lives and considerable damage was done in the numerous raids over the British Isles. Greater vigilance and defensive measures reduced the losses in life after the practice became common.

The Status of Neutral States.

All remaining neutrals were affected by the war as never before during 1917. By the embargo on foodstuffs and other exports, put into effect by the U. S., Scandinavia, Holland and Switzerland were especially affected and negotiations have been carried on with these countries. An agreement was reached with Switzerland in Dec. by which certain foodstuffs were to go to that country. Other negotiations were pending at the end of the year. Sweden had to face a political crisis growing out of the revelations of the State Dept. showing that Swedish legations in Argentina and Mexico had been transmitting information to Berlin in violation of neutral practices. This was stopped and a new coalition government was formed. Norway found herself involved in further controversies with Germany growing out of submarine outrages and conspiracies similar to those perpetrated in this country. This led to covert threats against Denmark and resulted in a meeting of the Scandinavian rulers at Christiania where the agreement to stand together as neutrals was renewed. Holland was almost continuously engaged in controversies with both groups of belligerents. Restrictions on her importations caused protests to the Allies, while she suffered further losses in ships on account of German submarines. Spain also suffered from submarine outrages and made several protests to Germany but did not depart in any way from her neutral attitude. Spain, during the year, saw many revolutionary disturbances and political crises, and after the revolution in Portugal, in December, new outbreaks were threatened. The Portuguese revolution overthrew the old government and set up another, which immediately declared its adherence to the alliance with the Allies, assuring support to Portuguese forces on the firing line in Europe, which reached the western front on June 17 and took part in the fighting in Flanders later in the year. In Argentina, both houses of Congress declared for a break in relations with Germany but President Irigoyen refused to carry out the mandate. The dismissal of Count Luxburg was followed by great public demonstrations against Germany, and much disorder, while German agents were charged with instigating trouble in connection with a serious railroad strike that followed the Luxburg scandal.

The United States and the War.

The entrance of the U. S. into the world war, on April 6, was the result of German violations of American rights, in defiance of repeated enunciations of policy on the part of this government. At the outbreak of war and following a futile effort to have all belligerents recognize the Declarations of London, the U. S. announced that all belligerents would be held responsible for infringement upon American rights. Germany's submarine policy early produced a clash, and the controversy that ended when we declared war raged for more than 2 years before. It became acute following the sinking of the Lusitania and other vessels, with the loss of American lives. Certain assurances were given this government at the time, but the Imperial Government was told that it would be held to strict account for future violations of American rights. There were repeated violations after that, and President Wilson delivered an ultimatum to Germany after the sinking of the Sussex, which brought a pledge from Germany on May 4, 1916, to so conduct her submarine warfare that American lives and property would not be endangered. The pledge was conditional, but was partly observed for a period, although Germany, as it was later learned, was all the while preparing for unrestricted warfare in defiance of all neutrals.

Realizing that Germany had some such purpose, President Wilson, on Dec. 18, addressed a note to all belligerents, asking them to state their terms for a durable peace. Germany and her allies replied at once, proposing a conference, but ignoring the request for a statement of peace terms. On Jan. 10, 1917, the Entente Allies replied, stating in general terms their war and peace aims. This led the President to address the Senate on Jan. 22, when he restated the American position and outlined this country's attitude toward peace. This address was interpreted as a last final effort to bring about peace, or failing that, to indicate the American position in relation to the belligerents. On Jan. 31, without previous notice, Germany announced her new submarine policy. In disregard of her pledges to this government Germany declared that after Feb. 1, she would sink without warning all vessels appearing in a widely designated zone surrounding enemy countries. The only exception to the general policy was the offer to "allow" 1 American ship to pass over a given course to Falmouth, Eng., every week if it were conspicuously marked. President Wilson acted promptly. On Feb. 3, diplomatic relations with Germany were severed and Ambassador Count von Bernstorff was given his passports. Ambassador Gerard was recalled from Berlin and in an address to Congress President Wilson asked for power to arm American merchant ships and take other steps to meet the U-boat menace and combat German machinations here. Many things then happened in quick succession. Several American ships were sunk; a demand was made upon Germany for the release of American captives of the Yarrowdale; an attempt to reopen the controversy by Germany met with flat refusal. On Feb. 28, the contents of a note signed by German Foreign Secretary Zimmermann were given out showing that Germany was seeking to incite Mexico to join with Japan in an attack upon the U. S., being promised a return of her "lost provinces" as a reward. Realizing that a policy of "armed neutrality" was impractical in the face of continued attacks by Germany upon this country, President Wilson, on April 2, addressed Congress, asking that the state of war be formally recognized and that full power be given him to use the naval and military forces of the U. S. in prosecuting war. The declaration of war was voted on April 6, by the House, 373 to 50, having passed the Senate on April 4, by 82 to 6.

Work of the War Congress.

The extraordinary session of the 65th Congress, convened for the purpose of declaring a state of war to exist with Germany, and to pass the necessary legislation to carry on the war, soon became known as the War Congress. This session, which covered a period of 183 days, was the most notable in the history of this country, in the character and the amount of legislation which it considered and passed. The appropriations surpassed all known records. The Executive was vested with powers that were never dreamed of. An Army and Navy of more than 2,000,000 men was authorized and approximately 1,500,000 men called into service. The traditional volunteer system by which all American armies of the past have been chiefly recruited was overturned and now all men between the ages of 21 and 31 are liable to military service. Construction of a merchant marine fleet to swell American tonnage on the high seas from less than 3,000,000 to more than 9,000,000 before the end of 1918 was authorized. The whole industrial resources of the nation were placed at the disposal of the Government. Railroads and boat lines were brought under Government control; shipyards and munition plants were brought under Government regulation little less complete; the price of wheat, sugar, coal, steel and copper was fixed by the Government for the first time in the history, all by authority given by Congress.

The pension system in vogue since the Revolution was overturned and a modern system of compensation for loss of life and disability was established. A system of State insurance of soldiers and sailors and of merchant ships and their crews, which may easily be made general in future, was brought into being. In the 1st war appropriation bill loans to allied nations of $3,000,000,000 were authorized. Later, $4,000,000,000 was provided for the same purpose. For American expense in the war Congress authorized the expenditure of approximately $14,000,000,000 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1918, which of itself was 3 times more than has ever been approximated in any 1 year of American history. The grand total of appropriations by the War Congress was $21,389,104,849. To raise this money Congress passed a war revenue tax law, which in addition to taxation laws then in existence was expected to produce $4,000,000,000 annually. As the tax bill was finally passed, it was estimated to take $1,924,000,000 from taxes on business and excess income; $339,555,000 by taxation of luxuries and $274,000,000 in taxes to be paid by the purchasers of necessities. The 1st session of the 65th Congress passed a total of 50 bills and 2 resolutions. Not a single bill, entirely unrelated to the war, passed both Houses except some bridge construction bills and other like minor matters, which were enacted by unanimous consent. Prohibition of the manufacture of spirituous liquors was adopted, predicated on the need of conservation of grain during the war. A woman suffrage constitutional amendment passed the Senate, but it was not considered by the House.

Following the ship seizure bill came the urgency deficient bill hailed as the greatest appropriation measure ever considered by a legislative body in all history. It carried more than $3,000,000,000, which it was assumed at the time would meet American war expense for the current year. Congress was quickly disillusioned on this point, however, and since that time added a total of approximately $11,000,000,000 to the 1st war budget. Then came the 1st bond bill, authorizing the issuance of $2,000,000,000 of bonds to cover American war expense;

$3,000,000,000 for loans to the Allies; $2,000,000,000 of short term notes to carry through until the special war taxes were collected. In this particular also the estimate fell short of the needs. Instead of $250,000,000 a month, then allotted, the demand of the Allies for American money has exceeded $600,000,000 a month and a total of $7,000,000,000 of American bonds were authorized to meet foreign loans until next July.

The soldiers' and sailors' insurance bill was the last important measure to be passed by Congress. In addition to providing a scale of compensation for injury of a soldier or sailor and financial aid for soldiers' and sailors' families, the bill creates a system of State insurance under which the Government will insure the life of any sailor or soldier applying up to the amount of $10,000 at peace-term insurance rates, averaging about $8 per $1,000 per year. Other matters relating to the work of Congress are given in the "World War" review, "Finance Review" and Army and Navy chapters of this book.

On April 24, President Wilson signed the 1st war revenue bill, authorizing the expenditure of $7,000,000,000. On May 18, he signed the Selective Draft Law, calling for the registration on June 5 of all male citizens between the ages of 21 and 31. On that day over 9,000,000 men registered. (For details of the Draft law see "Draft for Natl. Army," p. 363.) Measures were passed increasing the Regular Army to nearly 470,185 men and 18,033 officers, the navy was authorized to expand its personnel to over 300,000 men, and steps were taken to bring the National Guard into the Federal service with an authorized strength of 456,800 men and 13,377 officers. On May 19, the Senate passed the $3,342,300,000 war budget, the largest in our history. The 1st Liberty Loan of $2,000,000,000 was greatly oversubscribed. (See "Liberty Loans.") On July 20, the drawing for the 1st draft took place, providing for the calling of 1,000,000 men into the Natl. Army, in two units of 500,000 each. A bill appropriating an additional $640,000,000 for air craft was passed on July 21. A Council for National Defense was created and various other agencies, including a railroad war board; a priorities board and numerous subsidiary committees were appointed. Herbert C. Hoover was made Food Administrator, and Dr. Harry A. Garfield became Fuel Administrator. (See "Food and Fuel Admin.," page 351.) Meanwhile the Army and Navy began actual participation in the war. An American destroyer flotilla early sailed for European waters and began co-operation with Allied navies in combatting submarines. Maj.-Gen. J. J. Pershing was made commander of American forces in Europe and arrived in London on June 8. By special act of Congress Gen. Pershing and Gen. Bliss, chief of staff, were made full generals. The 1st American regulars landed in France on June 26. American soldiers actually took their place in the firing line in October. Several hundred thousand American troops landed in France before the end of the year, the actual number being withheld. Army-two divisional camps were established for the Regular Army and Natl. Guard (see page 362 for "Statistics of U. S. Army Camps").

With the entrance of the U. S. into the war full co-operation with the Allies was effected. Missions from all the principal Entente nations came here (see Allied War Missions), and arrangements were made for co-ordinating military, naval, economic and other efforts. Money in large amounts was advanced to the Allies, the total contemplated up to the first of 1918 being $7,000,000,000. Arrangements for pooling buying and shipping were made. This country also took steps to make the economic blockade of the Central Powers more effective by placing an embargo on American shipping. This led to negotiations with belligerent and neutral nations. Arrangements with Japan, looking to fuller use of Japanese ships in exchange for steel, were held up, but the Japanese mission to this country reached an agreement with the State Dept. on the question of interests in China of great importance. Through the Trading with the Enemy and Espionage acts the government secured control of enemy commerce in such a way as to prevent any economic advantage accruing to the enemy from the activity of agents in neutral countries. Power was also given the Pres. to circumscribe the activities of alien enemies by prescribing zones in which they could not move about. Large numbers of enemy nationals were interned. A more lenient attitude was taken toward the subjects of Austria-Hungary, after the declaration of war against the Dual Monarchy which followed the delivery of Pres. Wilson's address on the reconvening of the 66th Congress on Dec. 3. The declaration of war was approved on Dec. 7. This action came at a time when Italy was hard pressed by Austro-German forces, and an inter-allied council was formed to direct operations on all fronts. Pres. Wilson played a leading part in bringing about a permanent inter-allied military council, to meet at stated intervals to co-ordinate allied efforts. Col. E. M. House landed in England on Nov. 7, with an American mission including Rear Admiral Benson, Gen. Tasker H. Bliss and other representatives of various branches of the government, to take part in the first Supreme War Council, held at Versailles. The American mission returned on Dec. 16. Shortly after Congress reassembled on Dec. 3, several investigations were opened, which continued through the holidays and into the new year.

While the War Dept. was being investigated Sec. Baker announced the creation of a War Council, with the following members: Secretary of War and Asst. Sec. of War; Gen. T. H. Bliss, Chief of Staff; Maj. Gen. Henry C. Sharpe, Quartermaster Gen.; Maj. Gen. E. M. Weaver, Chief of Artillery; Maj. Gen. Crozier, Chief of Ordnance, and Maj. Gen. E. H. Crowder, Judge Advocate Gen., and Col. P. E. Pierce.

On Dec. 26, President Wilson issued a proclamation announcing that on Dec. 28 all the railroads of the country would be taken over to be operated for the duration of the war under the supreme control of the gov. Sec. of Treas. Wm. G. McAdoo was appointed Dir. Gen. of Railroads to administer the property.

Oct. 5, following the receipt by Senators of many inquiries and allegations concerning the loyalty of Senator La Follette, a Senate comm. of 5 members were authorized to inquire into a speech he delivered before a special session of the Non-Partisan League in St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 20, and to report its findings to the regular session to convene on Dec. 3, 1917.

Peace Moves in 1917.

There were several official peace moves during the year. Pres. Wilson received replies to his peace proposal of Dec., 1916, in a short time, and in Jan. addressed the Senate outlining this country's attitude toward peace. With the declaration of unrestricted submarine warfare and our entrance into the war this government ceased to discuss peace. The first important proposal for a general peace came from Pope Benedict on Aug. 1. The concrete proposals of the Pope were for disarmament and arbitration; reparation for damages, except in unnamed instances, to be reciprocal; evacuation of Belgium and complete restoration of Belgian independence; evacuation of Northern France by Germany; restitution of German colonies; territorial questions between Italy and Austria and France and Germany to be settled by negotiation in accord with the aspirations of the populations of the territories affected. Serbia, Armenia, Poland and other countries to be disposed of in a spirit of equity and justice. Germany and Austria-Hungary replied to this note in general terms, agreeing to the propositions regarding disarmament, but leaving their attitude toward other questions undefined. Pres. Wilson, in his reply, declined to open negotiations with the present German Government on the ground that we could not take the word of the present rulers of Germany as a guarantee of anything in the way of a permanent peace, unless explicitly supported by conclusive evidence of the will and purpose of the German people as other peoples of the world would be justified in accepting. Pres. Wilson's reply was allowed to stand as representing the attitude of the Entente Allies. Shortly after the Russian Revolution the new government proposed consideration of the question of a general peace on the basis of "no annexations and no indemnities." In May, Prof. Milukoff, Foreign Minister, was forced out of office because he declined to use his influence to have the Allies accept the Russian program. Radicals in Petrograd exercised continuous pressure upon Premier Kerensky to put forth such efforts as would compel the Allies to make peace. A division of opinion over this question was largely responsible for the fall of the Kerensky government. (See Russian Revolution.) When the Bolshevik government came into power, immediate steps toward peace were taken. While at first declaring only in favor of a general peace, the radicals began negotiations for a truce and an armistice was arranged in Dec. to last until Jan. 14, Russian calendar. The Russian representatives were empowered to begin negotiations for peace with Germany and Austria. Rumania was also forced into the truce and peace negotiations.

Russia formulated a peace plan and submitted it to the conference. On Dec. 26 Count Czernin, Austrian Foreign Minister, gave out a statement to the effect that the Central Powers were willing to accept the Russian formula of no annexations and no indemnities if the Allied nations would join in the negotiations. This proposal was being considered at the close of the year.

There were other peace moves of minor importance. On Dec. 11 Foreign Minister Balfour told the House of Commons that in Sept. a communication had been received through neutral channels, suggesting that Germany would be glad to get into communication with Great Britain in regard to peace. The British government replied that it would be glad to receive any communication the German government might make and to discuss it with Great Britain's Allies. Germany returned no reply, according to Mr. Balfour. Another peace "feeler" from Germany was reported in France. It was supposed to have been carried to Premier Ribot by former Premier Briand, and was denounced by M. Ribot as an enemy "trap." There were two unofficial socialistic peace conferences in Stockholm, to which French, British and American delegates were denied passports by their governments.

Political Changes in Europe.

Not since the beginning of the World War have there been so many political changes in belligerent countries as during 1917. Even Germany, which went through the 1st 3 years of war without changing the personnel of the government, finally dropped Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg who resigned on July 14. Von Bethmann-Hollweg's resignation came as the result of a political dissension in Germany following the Russian Revolution, which split the Reichstag into 2 factions and greatly disturbed the government. After the Stockholm peace conference, which was a fiasco, Herr Scheidemann, leader of the Majority Socialists, was instrumental in popularizing the Russian peace formula of "no annexations and no indemnities." Unable, alone, to commit the Reichstag to such a programme, Scheidemann found support in an unexpected quarter. Mathias Erzberger, a leader of the Centre, or Catholic, party in the Reichstag, first voiced the demands of the Centrists for "peace without annexation" at a meeting of the main comm. of the Reichstag on July 7. Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg declared that this programme was unacceptable to the government. For a time there was a sharp clash between the extremists of both sides, with the Chancellor maintaining a well balanced attitude. Finally, however, by a combination of Centrists and Socialists, the Reichstag adopted the "no annexations" resolution. When this became apparent von Bethmann-Hollweg was forced out. He was succeeded by Dr. Georg Michaelis, a bureaucrat, who had been Prussian Under Secretary of Finance and Food Controller, but a man without political prestige or party support. The developments were variously appraised at the time, subsequent judgment indicating that while the Reichstag had forced the resignation of Von Bethmann-Hollweg, Dr. Michaelis' appointment was made without considering the Reichstag and the real power in Germany remained in the same hands. Foreign Sec. Zimmermann was succeeded by Baron Richard von Kuehlmann, an astute diplomat of wide experience. Dr. Michaelis attempted to continue the non-committal course of his predecessor, and was satisfactory only to those who appointed him. He placed an ambiguous interpretation upon the Reichstag peace resolution and otherwise avoided leaning either toward the annexationists or the moderates. His fall was foreshadowed soon after his appointment, but he held office until Oct. 30, when he was succeeded by Count George von Hertling, a Bavarian, who was formerly leader of the Centrist Party, and later was premier of Bavaria. His appointment was commonly attributed to his strength as a leader of the strong Catholic party and his close relations with the Vatican, since his appointment coincided with the Pope's peace proposal and a peace campaign launched by Germany that was based upon the Vatican's move.

Government Changes in France.

France has had 3 different cabinets during 1917. Premier Briand's government succeeded that of Viviani, in Oct., 1915, and was reorganized in Dec., 1916. Briand's ministry fell on Mar. 18, after many bitter attacks, but directly as a result of the circumstances under which Gen. Lyautey, Minister of War, resigned after a confused session of the Chamber of Deputies. Briand was succeeded by M. Ribot, who had been Minister of Finance. The Ribot Ministry represented all the republican groups in France and succeeded for a while in holding the confidence of the chamber. Discontent eventually made itself felt, however, and the cabinet resigned on Sept. 7. Prof. Paul Painlevé, who had been Minister of War in the Ribot Ministry, was then asked to form a cabinet. The Painlevé government lacked several elements essential to success. The Unified Socialists refused to enter the cabinet, partly because M. Ribot remained as Foreign Minister, and the supporters of Caillaux also withheld support. Under the Ribot regime there were many public scandals involving members of the government and creating an atmosphere of suspicion and distrust, which the Painlevé government failed to dispel. M. Ribot was finally forced out of the cabinet, but the storm of opposition continued and on Oct. 25 the French Chamber clearly showed its lack of confidence. Premier Painlevé offered to resign but was asked to form another ministry. This he found to be impossible and he resigned. Georges Clemenceau, former premier, and one of the outstanding figures in French political and journalistic life for half a century, was then asked to form a ministry. His cabinet follows: Premier and Minister of War, Georges Clemenceau; Minister of Foreign Affairs, Stephen Pichon; Minister of Justice, Louis Nail; Minister of Interior, Jules Pams; Minister of Finance, Louis Klotz; Minister of Marine, Georges Leygues; Minister of Commerce, Etienne Clementel; Minister of Public Works, Albert Clavelle; Minister of Munitions, Louis Loucheur; Minister of Instruction, Louis Lafferre; Minister of Colonies, Henry Simon. The other offices were not filled at once.

Great Britain's Government.

Premier David Lloyd-George's government, while undergoing certain changes, remained in power in Great Britain at the close of 1917. The most important changes were in the Admiralty and in Ministers of Munitions. Sir Edward Carson, as First Lord of the Admiralty, was replaced by Sir Eric Campbell Geddes, and Winston Churchill re-entered the government as Minister of Munitions, succeeding Dr. Christopher Addison. The resignation of Arthur Henderson, Minister of Labor without portfolio, as a result of a controversy over the Stockholm peace conference, created less of a political sensation. Baron Rothermere, a brother of Viscount Northcliffe, was appointed Air Minister, succeeding Viscount Cowdray, who resigned after Lord Northcliffe's letter declining the post, was made public. Lord Rhondda, formerly president of the Local Government Bd., was made Food Controller. On Dec. 26, Vice Admiral Sir Rosslyn Wemyss succeeded Admiral Sir John K. Jellicoe as First Sea Lord of the British Navy.

Italian Cabinet.

While the Italian retreat was at its full, on Oct. 26, the cabinet headed by Premier Boselli resigned. A new cabinet, made up of all political factions was immediately formed. It is as follows: Premier and Minister of Interior, Vittorio Orlando; Minister of Foreign Affairs, Baron Sonnino; Minister of Colonies, Sig. Colasimo; Minister of Justice, Sig. Sacchi; Minister of Finance, Sig. Meda; Minister of Treasury, Francesco Nitti; Minister of War, General Alfieri; Minister of Navy, Vice Admiral Delbeno; Minister of Munitions, Alfredo Daddio; Minister of Military Aid and Pensions, Sig. Dissolad; Minister of Education, Sig. Barenni; Minister of Public Works, Sig. Bari; Minister of Agriculture, Sig. Miliani; Minister of Commerce and Labor, Sig. Giuffelli; Minister of Posts, Sig. Fara; Minister of Transports, Sig. Bianchi.

Portugal.

After a revolution in Portugal, which overthrew the government and drove Pres. Bernardino Machado into exile in Spain in Dec., Dr. Sidonio Paes, leader of the revolution, became premier and foreign minister, and Machaido Santos, leader of the uprising in 1916, was appointed Minister of the Interior.

All unarmored warships of more than 1,500 tons are classed as cruisers. Scouts are considered as cruisers, in which battery and protection have been sacrificed to secure extreme speed. The word, "protected," is omitted because all cruisers, except the smallest and oldest, now have protective decks.

STRENGTH OF ARMIES.

According to War Dept. figures, made public Oct. 22, 1917, the Allies have approximately 18,500,000 men; the Central Powers, 10,600,000. Russia is not included in the compilation. Figures as follows: World Allies—France, 6,000,000; Great Britain, 3,000,000; Italy, 3,000,000; Japan, 1,400,000; U. WORLD'S CHAMPIONS.

Heavyweight, Jess Willard, Chic., Ill.; middleweight, Mike O'Dowd, St. Paul, Minn.; welterweight, Ted (Kid) Lewis, London, Eng.; lightweight, Benny Leonard, N. Y. C.; featherweight, Johnny Kilbane, Cleveland, O.; bantamweight, Pete Herman, New Orleans, La.; flyweight, Johnny Wilde, England.

1917 BOUTS.

The year 1917 was featured by the Herman-Williams, Leonard-Welsh, O'Dowd-McCoy and Lewis-Britton bouts, in which the various titles changed hands. Herman won the bantamweight championship by getting the referee's decision over Kid Williams in a 20-round bout at New Orleans on Jan. 9. He successfully defended the title against Frankie Burns in 20 rounds, Nov. 5.

Leonard knocked out Freddie Welsh for the lightweight crown in Mhnt. on May 28 in the 9th round.

Lewis won the welterweight title from Jack Britton on referee's decision in a 12-round bout at Dayton, O., June 25.

Members of winning team and their scores were: H. E. Leede, 3—0; E. F. Korkus, 2—1; C. E. Isaacson and S. A. Clapp, each 1½ to 1½. The record: Columbia, 12 wins; Harvard, 9; Yale, 2; Princeton, 1. 1909, Harvard and Yale tied.

TRIANGULAR COLLEGE CHESS LEAGUE

—18th meeting, N. Y., Mhnt. Chess Club, Dec. 26, 27 and 28, 1916. Pennsylvania won with totals of 5—3. City College 2d with 4—4, and Cornell 3d with 3—5. The winning team: H. Kline, 2; R. A. Horner, 2; M. Schimsewitz, 1; E. S. Jackson, 0. The record: Pennsylvania, 10; Cornell, 6. Penn. also tied once with Brown and once with Cornell.

TARRASCH-MIESES MATCH—Berlin, bet. Dr. S. Tarrasch and Jacques Mieses, resulting in score of 7—2 in favor of Dr. Tarrasch, with 4 draws.

NEW SIMULTANEOUS RECORD—F. J. Marshall, U. S. champion, established new record for simultaneous chess playing on Dec. 26, 1916, by playing against 129 opponents in auditorium of Curtis Bldg., in Phila., where he made a score of 97 wins, 23 draws and 9 losses. Marshall thus surpassed his previous world's record of 105 made at Washington. On March 8, in the auditorium of the Buffalo Consistory, Buffalo, N. Y., Marshall made another record by meeting a total of 144 players in 2 sessions, afternoon and evening.

METROPOLITAN CHESS LEAGUE—Won by L. L. Rice, Progressive Chess Club, of Mhnt., with score of 6 straight matches. The Mhnt. C. C. was placed 2d, and Staten Isl. 3d.

The cricket season of 1917 was especially noteworthy because of the success of the N. Y. eleven on which Bkln. clubs were prominently represented, in winning the Halifax Cup—the 1st time it has ever been won outside of Phila. The record is appended:

MISCELLANEOUS SPORTS.

Arthur Staff, Norwegian Turners Soc. of Chicago, winner of the 1917 International outdoor skating championship at Saranac Lake, broke 2 world's records on Mar. 8, at the opening meeting of the Intl. indoor championship ice skating races. In the $\frac{1}{2}$ -mile Staff set a new record of 1:13, the former mark of 1:16 having been made by John Nilsson at Montreal in 1897. Staff skated the mile in 2:26 1-5, breaking the record of 2:35 set by himself at Chicago in 1916.

A new world's record for motorboats was established on Aug. 26 by the Miss Detroit II, driven by Garwood, in the 2d of a series of 30-mile races for the gold challenge cup of the Amer. Powerboat Assn. She covered the distance with an average speed of 56.3 miles an hour. Her record average was 50.7 miles an hour.

Miss Detroit II. won the series. Miss Minneapolis, 1916 champion, averaged a speed of 49 miles an hour.

The Univ. of Chicago won the annual intercollegiate gymnastic meet at Yale on Mar. 30, scoring a total of 14 $\frac{1}{2}$ points.

In swimming Yale beat Columbia in swim-off. Princeton's water polo team won the intercollegiate water polo championship, scoring 150 points more than Penn., the nearest competitor. This was the 6th year Princeton won the title.

Cornell Univ. wrestling team won the intercollegiate championship from Penn., Lehigh, Princeton and Columbia at Ithaca, on Mar. 15.

The Yale 'Varsity and Jr. 'Varsity crews defeated the Univ. of Penn. eights on Ap. 7, over the 15-16-mile Henley course on the Schuylkill River. The 'varsity race was rowed in 6 min. 52 sec. and the junior race in 6 min. 41 sec.

FACTS ABOUT THE DRAFT QUESTIONNAIRE

Local draft boards throughout the U. S. were engaged in Dec., '17, and Jan., '18, in sending out questionnaires to nearly 9,000,000 draft registrants (540,000 in N. Y. C.).

Without any charge, local law boards assist registrants to fill out the questionnaires and administer the required oaths.

On the basis of the answers to these questions the local boards classify every man who registered on June 5, except deserters and those already in the National Army, according to their availability for military service in forthcoming drafts.

There are 5 classes, namely:

Class I—Single men without dependents, married men not usefully engaged, who fail to support their families, and unskilled laborers.

Class II—Married men usefully engaged, whose families have other means of support, and necessary skilled laborers.

Class III—Necessary government employees, necessary technical experts and associate managers in necessary industries and men with dependents other than wife and children.

Class IV—Men with dependent wife and children, heads of necessary agricultural and industrial enterprises and mariners.

Class V—The absolute exempts.

All exemptions granted in the 1st draft have been revoked.

Those finally placed in Class I are physically examined, and, if fit, top the list of those eligible to be called to the colors. The date for the 2d draft had not been announced up to Jan. 5, '18. (See page 363 for draft for National Army.)

U. S. ARMY AVIATION SERVICE APPROPRIATIONS.

Sec. of War Baker, in submitting his estimates to Congress for the fiscal year 1919, asked that $1,032,294,260 be appropriated for the Army Aviation Service. In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1917, this branch of the service spent only $14,159,352. The estimated apportionment of Secretary Baker's request for 1919, compares with the actual expenditures during 1917 as follows:

	Estimates, 1919.	Expenditures, 1917.
Airplanes and hydroplanes....	$235,566,000	$6,240,634
Spare parts and accessories....	47,173,200	752,930

Machine guns for airplanes....	77,475,000
"Lighter-than-air" equipment....	8,171,000	279,383
Maintenance of squadrons....	20,950,000	1,249,120
Maintenance of stations, U. S.	20,400,000
Maintenance stas., Panama....	5,400,000
Maintenance of stas., Hawaii....	4,420,000
Purchase of land.....	16,700,000
Warehouse and supply depots....	5,595,000
Aviation clothing	1,353,440
Schools and aeronautics	8,050,000
Development of new types (planes-engines)	2,000,000	70,462
Miscellaneous	25,426,500	4,199,708

Total

Losses by fire in the U. S. and Canada for 11 months of 1917 reached a total of $241,200,340, which compares with $209,379,670 for the same period of 1916, and $161,959,100 for 1915.

VOLCANOES AND EARTHQUAKES.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society.)

Guatemala City, Central America, was destroyed by a series of earthquakes that began on Christmas Day, 1917, and culminated on the night of Dec. 30. Several were killed and thousands rendered homeless.

A series of earthquakes have 6 times wholly or partly wrecked San Salvador, the capital of Salvador, the neighboring republic to Guatemala, the last one being in the 1st part of June, 1917. Previous to that one, other quakes had occurred in 1594, 1658, 1719, 1854 and 1873, showing a gradually increasing recurrence.

A severe and disastrous eruption of the volcano San Salvador occurred in June, 1917. Slight preliminary shocks were felt for several days, but were not regarded as unusual. The 1st heavy quake came on the evening of June 7. During the night the shocks continued, as well as heavy detonations and bursts of flame from the volcano. These conditions abated very gradually during five days. Practically every building in San Salvador was damaged or destroyed entirely, while the neighboring towns of Nejapa, Armenia and Quetzaltepeque were practically wiped out. Financial losses were tremendous, as well as the loss of crops scorched by hot ashes in the Santa Tecla Valley. The town of Santa Tecla was seriously damaged. The earthquake shocks on the night of June 7 appeared to run from southwest to northeast; the almost continuous shocks of the next few days in exactly the opposite direction.

Slight quakes were reported in the States of Rio Janeiro and Espirito Santo, Brazil, May 5, 1917.

On May 19 several houses were wrecked at Richfield, Cal. On May 27 a rather severe quake was felt in the southern part of the State, particularly at Brawley.

The War Office at Petrograd reported that a severe quake had been felt on the Caucasian front at Tirak, 6.7 miles west of Kalkit, in February.

A despatch from Tokio of Jan. 6, 1917, reported many killed and injured by an earthquake in central Formosa. The city of Nanto was extensively damaged.

A destructive earthquake accompanied by landslides occurred on the island of Bali in Jan., 1917. Bali has a population of about 700,000, and is one of the Dutch possessions in the Malay Archipelago. Nearly 600 casualties were reported.

That the crater of Mt. Katmai, Alaska, is the largest in the world was established by the Natl. Geographic Society's expedition of 1917, under the leadership of Dr. R. F. Griggs, to this great volcanic region. It is more than 9 miles in circumference and 3,600 ft. deep. The "Valley of 10,000 Smokes" was discovered to have literally millions of vents in the space of a hundred sq. miles, and will take its place with the 1st wonders of the earth. The expedition also discovered a mud river 17 miles long and mapped 1,600 miles of hitherto uncharted territory. Gases were collected from the vents in the "Valley of 10,000 Smokes" for chemical analysis, beside which numerous geological, botanical and zoological specimens were secured. This expedition sailed from Seattle on May 28, 1917, to complete the work of the society's earlier expeditions, in 1913, 1915 and 1916, to the great Alaskan volcanic area which was practically unknown before the terrific explosion of Katmai in 1912. That explosion, one of the most terrific in the world's history, threw out of the Katmai crater a vastly greater quantity of material than that which resulted in the projection of the island of Krakatoa out of the bed of the Pacific ocean.

THE RUSSIAN REVOLUTION.

In many respects the Russian Revolution was the most notable development of the war and the most remarkable event of the century. The dramatic coup d'état of March 11, which overthrew Czar Nicholas II. and ended the reign of the Romanoff dynasty, was the climax of long years of cumulative revolutionary fermentation, but it also marked the beginning of a new era of conflict in Russia, which makes it incorrect to call the revolt in Petrograd in March a revolution. It is better to say that the Russian revolution began years before this revolt, and that the revolution, still in progress, seems destined to continue for a long time. The growth of liberalism in Russia dates back a hundred years or more, when, following the Napoleonic wars, the influence of the French revolution was felt in the empire of the Romanoffs. The Crimean war was followed by a similar development, one result or cause being the freeing of the serfs. The Russo-Japanese war led to a veritable revolution, which though counted a failure at the time nevertheless paved the way for the final uprising that threw off the yoke of czarism. One result of the revolutionary outbreaks of 1905 was the forcing of the Czar to establish a semblance of constitutional government and parliamentarism by creating the Duma and Council of Empire. The first Dumas were promptly overridden by the Czar who dissolved the bodies at will and persecuted the delegates. By greatly restricting the elective franchise other Dumas were tolerated, but attained to little real power and were never in any sense representative of the people. Nevertheless, certain liberal elements managed to so use the Duma that it was an important instrument in preparing the country for the revolution.

The Constitutional Democrats, or Cadets, used the Duma chiefly to propagate liberal ideas, and gradually the influence upon the masses of the people gave the Duma an authority in the government the bureaucracy never intended it should possess. Economically and socially Russia was ready for revolution before 1914. Immediately before the outbreak of the war, general strikes, disorders and widespread discontent had created a situation strikingly like that which preceded the revolution in 1905. Reaction in high places and the most drastic repressive measures had inspired bitter hatred among the masses against the government, while more conservative elements representing forces that had been foremost in the really remarkable industrial development of Russia during the past 10 years, were turned against the bureaucracy by its scandalous incapacity and corruption. One factor of importance, in turning the better elements in Russia against the government was the outrageous persecution of Jews, which became very pronounced following the celebrated Beilis trial, when an attempt was made to stir up more hatred against Jews by representing them as requiring the sacrificing of Christian children as a part of the religious rite of the Jewish faith. There was an outbreak of popular indignation over this trial, just before the war began, and coupled with the industrial and social unrest, the government was facing a revolt that threatened to engulf it.

In the circumstances, it is easy to understand that the old regime welcomed the war as a means of quieting disturbances at home and an excuse for using drastic military measures to control the country. However, at the outbreak of war, practically all elements in Russia rallied to the government and gave it full support in prosecuting the war. This was especially true of the Duma, which saw clearly that Russia's salvation depended upon the defeat of German autocracy. It was not long before certain members of the Duma and other leading men in Russia realized that sinister forces were at work. Early in the war, traitors babbled about the great Russian defeat at Tannenberg, where a whole army was destroyed through the work of spies and traitors in the governmental depts. Again in 1915, criminal incompetence brought a great defeat. Furthermore, it early became apparent that the government, through incompetency or worse, was utterly unable adequately to support the armies in the field. It could neither feed nor clothe the soldiers and the care of the wounded became a revolting tragedy. Through the organization of Zemstvos and Town Unions the Russian people asserted themselves and gradually took over the essential war work of the government. Through these agencies the Russian military forces found support and managed to carry on the war in spite of the government. At the same time the spirit of democracy spread through the country and it became aroused and united as never before. Almost unconsciously, the more intelligent elements saw in the war against the Central Empires hope for the salvation of Russia from tyranny at home, and the people as a whole threw themselves into the struggle with limitless vigor. This development, apparently, had been unforeseen by the bureaucracy, and was to it very alarming. Treachery in high places was augmented by a weakening on the part of the government in its determination to go on with the war. Together, these forces worked at cross purposes with the army and the country. They began by hampering the activities of the Zemstvos, actually forbidding the meeting of the national organization of which Prince Lvoff was the head, and ended by attempting to conclude a separate peace with Germany, contrary to the national will.

Progressive Bloc Formed.

The first move of consequence in opposition to the bureaucracy came in the summer of 1915, when there was formed in the Duma a coalition of the more liberal parties which was called the Progressive Bloc. This cross-section of the parliamentary body had a majority in the Duma, the first time the government ever had a majority against it under the specially devised electoral franchise intended to prevent such opposition. The Progressive Bloc immediately undertook to force reforms in the conduct of the war and root out the sinister influences that were undermining Russia in the field. The first daring move that foreshadowed the final overthrow of the old regime came in Nov., 1916, when Prof. P. N. Miliukoff, leader of the Constitutional Democrats and of the Progressive coalition, delivered a sensational speech in which he charged that Premier Sturmer was pro-German and a traitor and intimated that he was trying to betray Russia and her allies by negotiating a separate peace with Germany. Although the speech was suppressed, the facts leaked out and the Duma won its first victory over the Czar's government by forcing Sturmer out of office. Premier Trepoff, who succeeded Sturmer, was supposed to be a liberal, but Minister of the Interior Protopopoff, remained in office and soon revealed himself to be the real power in the bureaucracy. Protopopoff, more than any other man, was responsible for the fall of the Czar. He had acted as Sturmer's agent in dealing with Germany, and was a reactionary of the worst type. Realizing that a storm was brewing, he attempted to put down all revolt by the familiar methods of the Black Hundred. It has been shown that Protopopoff actually staged a revolt in Petrograd, intending to deal with it with murderous severity and thus re-establish the authority of the government. Strikes were fomented by Protopopoff's agents, which the trades unions tried to prevent; supplies of food were withheld from distribution, and machine guns were mounted on roofs at important street corners and centers in order to crush out disorder when it had been forced by the intolerable conditions.

The first manifestations of revolt came with the gathering of crowds around bakeries and butcher shops, where no food was to be had. The small crowds became audible and began to grow. Gen. Chavachoff, commander of the Petrograd district, issued a proclamation forbidding all assemblages on March 10. The next day the Czar himself started the revolt by issuing two ukases suspending sittings of the Duma and the Council of the Empire, at a time when both bodies were debating the terrible food situation and military measures. Pres. M. V. Rodzianko, of the Duma, telegraphed the Czar urging him to recall his ukase and support the Duma against the bureaucracy. The Duma voted to ignore the dissolution order and remained in session, the Council of Empire also urging the Czar to heed the demands of the people for relief. Nicholas started back to the capital, but before he reached Pskoff he was told that it was too late; that the government had been overthrown and his abdication demanded. When the Duma refused to dissolve, soldiers appeared on the streets and took up positions. Crowds of working people gathered, but there was little disorder, soldiery and workers exchanging friendly banter. Troops were ordered to fire on certain marchers in Nevsky Prospect on Saturday, March 10, but refused to do so. They were replaced by the notorious police, who fired machine guns and rifles into the crowds. This started desultory street fighting, which continued until Monday, March 12. Up to that time government troops had control of the city, but certain regiments had gone over to the side of the people. These opposing forces faced each other in Liteiny Prospect, where they engaged in arguments. Only a few shots were fired, and about 3 o'clock in the afternoon the government troops marched over and joined the revolutionary forces. Similar scenes took place all over Petrograd, and by midnight with the capitulation of Imperial forces guarding the Admiralty, the War Office, the Astoria Hotel and St. Isaac's Sq., where the hottest fighting took place, the city passed into the hands of the revolutionists.

With the overthrow of the police and the winning over of the soldiers, including the Cossacks, the people turned to the Duma for guidance. An Executive Com. of the Duma, of which Pres. Rodzianko was the head, took over the reins of government. On March 15, Nicholas abdicated his throne and renounced the claim of his son, in favor of his brother, Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch. The next day Michael renounced the throne, unless his succession should have the sanction of the people. A Provisional Government was formed, with the following Cabinet members: Premier, Pres. of the Council and Minister of the Interior, Prince G. E. Lvoff; Foreign Minister, Prof. E. N. Miliukoff; Minister of Public Instruction, Prof. Manuiloff; Minister of War and Marine, ad Interim, A. J. Guchkoff; Minister of Agriculture, M. Shingareff; Minister of Finance, M. Tereschenko; Minister of Justice, A. F. Kerensky; Minister of Communications, N. V. Nekrasoff; Controller of State, M. Godneff; Minister of Trade and Commerce, A. I. Konovalloff; Procurator of the Holy Synod, M. Lvoff. When this government came into being the coup d'etat was complete. The old regime simply passed away. The Czar and his family were held prisoners, first at Tsarskoe Selo, then transferred to Siberia. Members of the old government were imprisoned in the Fortress of Sts. Peter and Paul. In Moscow and throughout the empire the transference of power was carried out with little or no disorder.

New Democracy.

All these things had been accomplished before the world knew what was happening. Four days after the revolt the curtain was lifted and Russia was a democracy, with a new government. Foreign Minister Miliukoff announced that Russia would continue the war as a member of the Entente and it was stated that a Constituent Assembly would be convened forthwith to determine the permanent form of government. While the Duma comm. succeeded to the power of the Czar and then transferred its authority to the Provisional government, the soldiers and the workers who "made the revolution," remained the real power. Following the precedent of the Revolution of 1905, the workers and soldiers formed committees to represent them. This Council of Workmen and Soldiers' Delegates did not at first demand representation in the government, but insisted that certain things should be done. The move to create a Constitutional Monarchy, with Michael as Czar, favored by most of the Duma members, was blocked by the Soviet, or Council, which insisted upon a republican form of government and a long program of radical reforms. Clashes occurred in the first days of the new order, but a compromise was effected, largely through the untiring energy of Kerensky, the former Socialistic deputy from Saratoff, who became Minister of Justice. Kerensky was soon looked upon as the representative of the Soviet in the Cabinet. In a short time the Soviet began to make trouble. Radical leaders began agitation for all manner of "fantastic reforms." Exorbitant wages, ridiculously short hours and other things were demanded for the workers, while the soldiers demanded the discarding of practically all discipline in the army. The most serious trouble, however, developed early in May when the Soviet, led by radical Socialists, demanded that Foreign Minister Miliukoff renounce all foreign treaties and agreements and force the Allies to agree to immediate peace on the basis of "no indemnities and no annexations." This Prof. Miliukoff refused to do and he was forced out of office. Guchkoff, another Cadet, soon followed, and it was not long before Premier Lvoff, Prof. Manuiloff and the other conservatives found their position impossible. A coalition cabinet was formed, but it did not last long and they resigned. Kerensky then became premier, and head of a new "coalition" government that was more socialistic than anything else, but still far from the radicalism of certain elements. Kerensky, in his turn, had to face the demand for a revision of war aims and was expected to force the Entente to accept the Russian formula of peace. Kerensky, always a compromiser, had insufficient courage either to defy the radicals or adopt their program. He made many changes in the cabinet, but never satisfied either conservatives or extremists and ended by wrecking the provisional government. Within the Soviet itself a conflict took place between the Bolsheviks and the Maximalists, in which the latter won. The Bolsheviks are merely a subdivision of the Russian Socialists who demand extreme measures for bringing about a social revolution. Led by Nikolai Lenine, a Russian revolutionist, who returned from Switzerland via Germany, this element gradually secured power in Petrograd through its hold upon the soldiers garrisoned there. The Bolsheviks launched a revolt that led to serious bloodshed in July, and forced Kerensky to cast about for stronger support. He called a conference in Moscow, which brought out all the conservative elements, and expressed confidence in Gen. Korniloff, Kerensky's commander in chief. Korniloff insisted upon a restoration of the death penalty in the army, and a crushing out of the insubordination that came into existence with the Kerensky regime. Kerensky, according to authentic reports, planned joint action with Korniloff, to put down the Bolsheviks and restore army discipline. Korniloff actually moved on Petrograd, but Kerensky lost his nerve, it is said, and wavered. He denounced Korniloff as a usurper and caused his arrest, but did not go so far as to inflict punishment upon him. This caused dissension in the Kerensky cabinet and started the trouble that culminated in the overthrow of Kerensky. The actual break came during the sessions of the Preliminary Parliament, convened by Kerensky to tide over his government until the Constituent Assembly met. The Bolsheviks made every effort to control th's body, but it is doubtful if it could have carried the day had it not been for the defection of Kerensky's own cabinet members and party supporters. Peshekhonoff, leader of the Revolutionary Socialists, to which party Kerensky belonged, assailed the latter's foreign policy. He wanted a statement from all Russia's Allies to the effect that they were fighting a defensive war. This with the idea of forcing admissions from the enemy and paving the way to peace negotiations. M. Skobeleff, spokesman for the radically controlled Soviets, demanded steps to immediate peace. This left Kerensky without support in either Socialistic camp and was quickly followed by an uprising systematically conducted, which put the Bolsheviks in power, with Lenine as premier and Leon Trotzky as Foreign Minister. The Bolshevik program was to call for an armistice on all fronts as a preliminary to a general peace. A truce was arranged and a meeting with German and Austrian representatives took place on Dec. 2, at Brest-Litovsk. Nothing definite resulted and a second meeting was arranged for a week later. Meanwhile, a limited armistice was agreed to. Gen. Dukhoulin, head of the Russian forces, refused to recognize the Bolsheviks and was murdered. Gen. Korniloff, who had been imprisoned, escaped, and with Gen. Kaledines, head of the Don Cossacks, and Gen. Dutoff, head of the Ural Cossacks, began an armed resistance to the Bolshevik regime. The year ended with civil war in progress in many parts of Russia and the Bolshevik government tottering.

ALLIED WAR MISSIONS.

In April, 1917, the British and French War Missions visited the U. S. to discuss the conduct of the war with our govt. officials. The British left England on Apr. 11 and reached Washington on Apr. 22. The mission comprised: Arthur James Balfour, Foreign Minister; Sir Eric Drummond, Ian Malcolm, Member Parliament; C. F. Dormer, G. Butler, personal staff; Rear-Admiral Sir Dudley, R. S. de Chair, Fleet Paymaster Vincent Lawford, Maj.-Gen. G. T. M. Bridges, Capt. H. H. Spender-Clay; Lord Cunliffe, Gov. of Bank of England; Maj. L. W. B. Rees, Maj. C. E. Dansey, Col. Goodwin, Col. Langhorne.

The French Mission reached here on Apr. 24 and comprised the following: M. Viviani, ex-Premier and Minister of Justice; Marshal Joffre, Vice-Admiral Chocheprat, Marquis de Chambrun, Member of Chamber of Deputies, and following attaches: M. Simon, Inspector of Finances; M. Havelacque, Insp.-Gen. Public Instruction; Lieut.-Col. Fabry, Lieut.-Col. Remond, Commandant Requin, Lieut. de Tessan and Maj. Dreyfus, staff of Marshal Joffre.

Unveiling of Lafayette Statue.

The commissions were received with unprecedented tributes in various cities where they visited. The French Mission were greeted by great crowds in New York on their arrival on May 10, Brooklyn's patriotism was attested in a triumphant reception to the delegation. Marshal Joffre unveiled the memorial statue to Marquis de Lafayette at the 9th st. entrance to Prospect Park, and with other members of the commission acknowledged France's appreciation of America's sympathy in the war. The trip of the commission through Bklyn. was an inspiring sight. Thousands of school children took part in the parade and exercises incident to the unveiling of the Lafayette Monument.

R. V. Ingersoll, Commr. of Parks, in charge of Bklyn., presided at the Park exercises. The presentation speech was made by G. V. Brower, former Park Commr., and counsel for the late Henry Harteau, who provided for the statue in his will. Marshal Joffre unveiled the statue. The "Mar-seillaise" was sung by M. August Bouille, baritone of the Theatre de la Monnaie, Brussels. Mayor Mitchel accepted the statue on behalf of the city. Rene Viviani made the dedication address. Marquis de Chambrun also spoke and the "Star-Spangled Banner" was sung by Mme. Louise Homer of the Metropolitan Opera House. The exercises closed with the presentation by President Pounds of gifts to the commission—a sword to Marshal Joffre, a traveling clock to Vice-Admiral Chocheprat and an album to Marquis de Chambrun. The album contained autographs and photographs of noted Americans as well as photographic souvenirs of Brooklyn's tribute to Lafayette, scenes in Prospect Park and of Brooklyn Bridges. The material for the book was furnished by H. F. Gunnison, business mgr. of The Eagle, who directed its compilation. Through The Eagle the people of Brooklyn presented the French envoys with a sum to aid French orphans. The Lafayette Memorial Comm. included Borough President Lewis H. Pounds, honorary ch.: Alfred T. White, ch.; Edward M. Bassett, George V. Brower, William H. Childs, J. Monroe Hewlett, Raymond V. Ingersoll, Thomas L. Leeming, Willis L. Ogden, Frederic B. Pratt, Arthur M. Howe.

British Commission in New York.

On May 11 and 12 the British Commission were entertained in N. Y. C. and escorted and greeted with the same state as attended the reception to the French. The city's official reception to both missions ended with a banquet on the night of May 11. Lord Northcliffe accepted on June 6 the position of head of the British War Mission in succession to A. J. Balfour. He arrived in the U. S. on June 11.

Italian Mission.

New York, on June 22, welcomed the third war commission from an allied country—envoys from Italy, headed by Ferdinand of Savoy, Prince of Udine. The crowds that greeted them were quite as numerous and no less enthusiastic than those which received the other commissions. The mission comprised besides the Prince of Udine, Senator Guglielmo Marconi, Marquis Luigi Borsarelli di Refredodo, Under Sec. of Foreign Affairs; Deputy Ciuffelli, Member of Council of State; Deputy Vittl, ex-Minister of Agriculture; Enrico Ariotta, Minister of Marine and Ry. Transportation; Gen. Gugliemotti, Commander Van-nutelli, Alvise Bragadoni, C. G. Pardo and C. G. Pietra.

Russian Mission.

Headed by Ambassador Boris Bakmetieff, the Russian Extraordinary Mission arrived in Washington on June 19 and came to N. Y. C. on July 6, where they were received by the Mayor's Citizens Com. and a delegation representing Russian citizens of the city. The commission received an enthusiastic greeting and were entertained two days. The commission comprised Adjutant Doubassoff, Attaches Omeltchenko and Karpovitch, Sec. Souttine, From the War Office, Gen. Roop, Capt. Chutt and Lieut. Martinoff. From Ry. Office, Engr. Lomonosoff, Messrs. Lebedeff, Balkoff, Postnikoff, Volkenau, Kuprianoff, Sak, Dolinoff. Representative of Press, Mr. Milarsky. Telegraph Agency, Mr. Sergievsky.

From Office of Agriculture, Prof. Boradine. From Dept. of Finance, Baron Ginsberg, Messrs. Novitzky, Pertzoff, Pushareff. From the Artillery, Col. Oranovsky, Capt. Visotzky. A number of women, holding minor places in the commission, and wives of the members, also made up the party.

Belgians Welcomed.

Members of the Belgian Commission were welcomed in N. Y. by cheering throngs on Aug. 21. The party were taken for a motor trip through Bklyn. to Coney Island. Members of this mission were: Baron Moncheur, ex-Minister to the U. S.; Maj.-Gen. M. G. A. Leclercq, Count Louis D'Ursele, Maj. Leon Osterlieth and Hector Carlier.

In greeting the mission on June 18, Pres. Wilson expressed America's "solemn determination that on the inevitable day of victory Belgium shall be restored to the place she has so richly won among the self-respecting and respected nations of the earth."

Crowds Greet Japanese.

The Japanese War Commission visited N. Y. C. on Sept. 23 and great throngs greeted them. At the City Hall Mayor Mitchel, in behalf of the city and the commissioners, exchanged pledges of international friendship. Viscount Kikujiro Ishii, ex-Foreign Minister, was chief envoy of the commission, which included Admiral Isam Takashita, Maj.-Gen. Shioichi Sugano, Matsuzo Nagai, Sec. to Foreign Dept.; Capt. Shokyo Ando, Maj. Seiji Tamakawa and Tadanao Imai, Sec.

Allied Purchasing Commission.

Official announcement was made, Aug. 24, that an agreement had been reached between the U. S., Gt. Britain, France and Russia, by which all purchases in the U. S. for these allied govts. would be made by an American commission composed of B. M. Baruch, R. S. Lovett and R. S. Brookings.

American Commission to Russia.

Elihu Root headed a special diplomatic mission to the new Russian Republican Govt. and were greeted by a large delegation of Russians and Americans on its arrival in Petrograd, June 13. The functions of the mission were to devise, in accord with the Russian Govt., effective means to aid Russia in her efforts to defeat Germany and to elucidate to Russia the aims followed by America. The commission comprised C. R. Crane, J. R. Mott, Cyrus McCormick, S. R. Bertron, J. S. Duncan, C. E. Russell, Maj.-Gen. H. L. Scott and Rear-Admiral J. H. Glennon.

The commission returned to Washington on Aug. 8 and expressed confidence in the ultimate victory of the Russian democracy.

WILSON'S WORLD PEACE PLAN.

The terms upon which Germany may obtain peace were given to the American Congress for the benefit of the whole world by President Wilson on Jan. 8, 1918. It was generally received as the clearest and most vigorous war document which up to this date had come from any of the nations engaged in the war.

Following is the program for world peace as proclaimed by the President:

We entered this war because violations of right had occurred which touched us to the quick and made the life of our own people impossible unless they were corrected and the world secured once for all against their recurrence. What we demand in this war, therefore, is nothing peculiar to ourselves. It is that the world be made fit and safe to live in; and particularly that it be made safe for every peace-loving nation which, like our own, wishes to live its own life, determine its own institutions, be assured of justice and fair dealings by the other peoples of the world, as against force and selfish aggression. All the peoples of the world are in effect partners in this interest and for our own part we see very clearly that unless justice be done to others it will not be done to us.

The program of the world's peace, therefore, is our program, and that program, the only possible program, as we see it, is this:

I.—Open covenants of peace, openly arrived at, after which there shall be no private international understandings of any kind, but diplomacy shall proceed always frankly and in the public view.

II.—Absolute freedom of navigation upon the seas, outside territorial waters, alike in peace and in war, except as the seas may be closed in whole or in part by international action for the enforcement of international covenants.

III.—The removal, so far as possible, of all economic barriers and the establishment of an equality of trade conditions among all the nations consenting to the peace and associating themselves for its maintenance.

IV.—Adequate guarantees given and taken that national armaments will reduce to the lowest point consistent with domestic safety.

V.—Free, open-minded, and absolutely impartial adjustment of all colonial claims, based upon a strict observance of the principle that in determining all such questions of sovereignty the interests of the population concerned must have equal weight with the equitable claims of the government whose title is to be determined.

VI.—The evacuation of all Russian territory and such a settlement of all questions affecting Russia as will secure the best and freest co-operation of the other nations of the world in obtaining for her an unhampered and unembarrassed opportunity for the independent determination of her own political development and national policy, and assure her of a sincere welcome into the society of free nations under institutions of her own choosing; and, more than a welcome, assistance also of every kind that she may need and may herself desire. The treatment accorded Russia by her sister nations in the months to come will be the acid test of their good will, of their comprehension of her needs as distinguished from their own interests, and of their intelligent and unselfish sympathy.

VII.—Belgium, the whole world will agree, must be evacuated and restored, without any attempt to limit the sovereignty which she enjoys in common with all other free nations. No other single act will serve as this will serve to restore confidence among the nations in the laws which they have themselves set and determined for the government of their relations with one another. Without this healing act the whole structure and validity of international law is forever impaired.

VIII.—All French territory should be freed and the invaded portions restored, and the wrong done to France by Prussia in 1871 in the matter of Alsace-Lorraine, which has unsettled the peace of the world for nearly fifty years, should be righted, in order that peace may once more be made secure in the interest of all.

IX.—A readjustment of the frontiers of Italy should be effected along clearly recognizable lines of nationality.

X.—The peoples of Austria-Hungary, whose place among the nations we wish to see safeguarded and assured, should be accorded the freest opportunity of autonomous development.

XI.—Rumania, Serbia and Montenegro should be evacuated; occupied territories restored; Serbia accorded free and secure access to the sea; and the relations of the several Balkan States to one another determined by friendly counsel along historically established lines of allegiance and nationality; and international guarantees of the political and economic independence and territorial integrity of the several Balkan States should be entered into.

XII.—The Turkish portions of the present Ottoman Empire should be assured a secure sovereignty, but the other nationalities which are now under Turkish rule should be assured an undoubted security of life and an absolutely unmolested opportunity of autonomous development, and the Dardanelles should be permanently opened as a free passage to the ships and commerce of all nations under international guarantees.

XIII.—An independent Polish State should be erected which should include the territories inhabited by indisputably Polish populations, which should be assured a free and secure access to the sea, and whose political and economic independence and territorial integrity should be guaranteed by international covenant.

XIV.—A general association of nations must be formed under specific covenants for the purpose of affording mutual guarantees of political independence and territorial integrity to great and small States alike.

In regard to these essential rectifications of wrong and assertions of right, we feel ourselves to be intimate partners of all the governments and peoples associated together against the imperialists. We cannot be separated in interest or divided in purpose. We stand together until the end.

Man's Health Fortified

By living a healthful, active life and assisting nature in obviating the strains due to severe physical exercises and with the assistance of a celebrated "Schnoter's" Army and Navy Suspensory, which will give and keep you in better bodily vigor than all the patent medicines that were ever introduced to the public. Ask your physician about this.

A SCHNOTER'S SUSPENSORY is the only safe guard against Varicose, Rupture, etc. In use by all prominent Athletes, Professional Men, Business Men, Policemen, Firemen, Farmers, Letter Carriers, and used in the United States Army and Navy.

Indorsed by prominent physicians and surgeons since 1870. Also by Authorities on Hygiene and Physical Culture.

We are specialists in Suspensory making and we will cheerfully give you any information regarding Varicose and Rupture.

Ask your Druggist for the "Genuine Schnoter's Suspensory Bandages." (Look for the above trade mark.) If he has not our make in stock, and refuses to get it for you, send direct to us and we will mail to you in plain wrapper on receipt of price.

Plain style. Cotton, 30c. and 40c.; Linen, 50c.; Silk, 50c., 60c. and 75c.; A. and N. Style, no elastic, 30c.; Army and Navy Style, with lisle elastic belt and straps. Cotton, 65c.; Linen, 75c.; Best Silk, $1. By the Pioneers in Suspensory Making.

KEEP YOUNG

AND ATTRACTIVE

Use a Few Boxes of

Dr. Campbell's Safe Arsenic

Complexion Wafers

they produce a firm glowing skin of wondrous youthful beauty. All pimples, wrinkles, blackheads, sallowness and all facial blemishes disappear in a short time as if by magic. You may have little or no success with other things you have tried—but no matter how skeptical you may be, try Campbell's Wafers, you will not be disappointed. It is remarkable, but true, Campbell's wafers have been universally successful as thousands of users testify. Physicians recognize there is but one way to beautify the skin and complexion, that is by purifying the blood, that is exactly what Campbell's Wafers do—impure blood is the real cause of all skin troubles. 50 cents and $1.00 per

Eagle-Eyed

The attribute of the roaming Indian—the pioneer frontiersman—the mariner of the deep.

Stone-built houses and the printed word have changed mankind from eagle-eyed to mole-eyed. But science has taught us to see as sharp—as accurately—as far as did our eagle-eyed forefathers. If you doubt it try a pair of glasses

Through Glasses

IMPORTANT

A word to those in Army and Navy affairs: Avoid strains, by using the celebrated Schnoter's Army and Navy Supporters, which prevents Varicocele and

Rupture. Also protects the muscles of the back and abdomen. Highly endorsed and used by Officers and Surgeons connected with the U. S. Army and Navy.

Beware of all inferior so called Army and Navy Suspensories. Insist upon the Original Schnoter Goods. Note the illustration of box. Accept no substitute. All genuine Schnoter goods must bear our Trade Mark.

Schnoter's Athletic Supporters or Jock Straps are universally used by Military and all Athletic people in general. Order from your dealer or will send by mail on receipt of price.

The Sign of a Reliable Dealer and the World's Best Gasoline

It means a safe haven for motorists who know the importance of getting gasoline of uniformly high quality. The "Standard gasoline," which careful drivers have always insisted upon, is now known as

SOCONY MOTOR GASOLINE

It's the same gasoline—the best that can be made. SOCONY Motor Gasoline is a clean, straight-distilled product. It is absolutely uniform in quality. It costs no more by the gallon than others—and it costs considerably less by the mile. SOCONY Motor Gasoline is sold wherever you see the RED, WHITE AND BLUE SOCONY sign. Look for it. It's a quality sign in motordom. Use SOCONY POLARINE OIL as a Lubricant—carbon-proof, friction-proof and heat-proof.
